

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE.

RULES.

I.

ORGANIZATION—ELECTIONS.

1. At the elections in the House the voting shall be viva voce, unless otherwise expressly provided ; and only one person shall be chosen at a time. If on the first voting no one receives a majority, the person having the smallest number of votes shall not be voted for on the next trial ; and so on until some one shall receive a majority of the whole vote. If the election be by joint vote of the two houses, messages shall be exchanged before each voting, announcing the names of the persons in nomination. A committee of three from each house shall compare the votes, and ascertain and report the result.

THE SPEAKER.

2. "The House of Delegates shall choose its own Speaker." The Speaker may call any member to the chair, who shall exercise its functions for the time ; but no member by virtue of such appointment shall preside for a longer time than three days. During such substitution the Speaker may participate in the debates. If the Speaker be absent, and have named no one to act in his stead, the duties shall be performed by the chairman of one of the standing committees, taking precedence in the order in which the committees are named in Rule 16.

3. The Speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day : shall immediately call the House to order ; and a quorum being present, shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read. Any mistake in the entries shall, upon motion, then be corrected.

4. The Speaker shall have power to supervise and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall, with power, in case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in such part thereof as may be appropriated to spectators, to have the same cleared. Stenographers and reporters for the press, wishing to take down the proceedings of the House, may be admitted by the Speaker, who shall assign them to such places on the floor as shall not interfere with the convenience of members.

5. All acts, addresses and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker ; and all writs and warrants issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

THE CLERK.

6. A clerk shall be elected by the House, and shall be deemed to continue in office until another is chosen. He may employ an assistant clerk, and shall submit to the approval of the Speaker, appoint the six committee clerks provided for by law. He shall be charged with the whole clerical business of the House and of its committees, and shall see that the committee clerks discharge properly the duties required of them by the several committees to which they are assigned, and that, when not so employed, they render such assistance as may be required to other committees and in the business of the House. The committee clerks may be removed by the clerk, with the approval of the Speaker ; and they shall be so removed upon the request of the committees to which they are severally assigned.

7. The clerk shall perform all the duties of his office under the direction of the Speaker. He shall keep a Journal of the proceedings of the House, and shall submit it daily to the Speaker in time to be examined before the next assembling of the House. He shall keep at the clerk's table, during the sittings of the House, a calendar or docket so arranged as to show the condition and progress of the business of the House.

8. He shall keep accounts of the compensation of the members and officers of the House, and shall from time to time certify the same to the auditor. He shall provide the stationery required for the business of his office and of the House, and for the use of the members during the session; but the amount furnished to each member shall not exceed in value five dollars a session. The claim of the clerk for such supplies, when approved by the committee on House expenses, shall be certified by the Speaker to the auditor. He shall keep detailed accounts of all these transactions in a book to be provided for the purpose, which shall be at all times open to inspection by members of the House.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

9. A sergeant-at arms shall be elected by the House, and shall continue in office during its pleasure. He shall have as his assistants two doorkeepers, who shall be elected by the House, and six pages, to be appointed by the Speaker, who shall receive as compensation one-half the amount provided by law for a doorkeeper.

10. He shall, with his assistants, attend upon the House during its sitting, and shall execute its commands, together with all such process, issued by its authority, as shall be directed to him by the Speaker.

11. He shall, under the direction of the Speaker, have charge of the police of the hall, and shall prevent any interruption of the business of the House by disorder, within or without. He shall distribute among the members all papers printed for their use, and shall give such attendance upon them during the sittings of the House as will promote their comfort and facilitate the business of the House.

12. He shall procure for the members, when required, certificates for pay and mileage, and, at their request and upon their endorsement, shall collect and pay over to those entitled to the money due upon such certificates.

13. He shall attend to receiving and dispatching all mail or telegraphic matter intended for or sent by members, and shall make such arrangements therefor as to promote the convenience of the members.

OATHS OF OFFICERS.

14. The oaths which the officers of the House are required by law to take shall be administered and certified by a justice of the peace or notary public, and be filed with the clerk of the House.

COMMITTEES.

15. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially directed by the House, in which case they shall be appointed by ballot, and a plurality of votes shall prevail. The first named member of any committee shall be the chairman, and if he be absent, or be excused by the House, the next-named member, and so on, unless the committee elect a chairman.

16. At the beginning of each regular session there shall be appointed standing committees, to consist of not less than nine nor more than thirteen members (except the finance committee, which shall consist of fifteen members), as follows:

- 1st. Privileges and elections.
- 2d. Courts of justice.
- 3d. Schools and colleges.
- 4th. Propositions and grievances.
- 5th. Roads and Internal navigation.
- 6th. Finance.
- 7th. Claims.
- 8th. Militia and police.
- 9th. Asylums and prisons.
- 10th. Labor and the poor.
- 11th. Public property.
- 12th. Banks, currency, and commerce.
- 13th. Agriculture and mining.
- 14th. Manufactures and Mechanic arts.
- 15th. Counties, cities and towns.

- 16th. Officers and offices at the capitol.
- 17th. Executive expenditures.
- 18th. Retrenchment and economy.
- 19th. Federal relations and resolutions.
- 20th. Enrolled bills.
- 21st. Immigration.
- 22d. Chesapeake and its tributaries.

17. Also a standing committee, to consist of five members, to be called the committee on House expenses. It shall be the duty of this committee to examine from time to time the accounts kept by the clerk with the members and officers of the House, and to decide all questions arising in relation thereto, subject to an appeal to the House. No account for printing, stationery, or any other expenses of the House, shall be certified for payment without the previous approval of this committee.

18. Also a standing committee on rules, to consist of five members, including the Speaker, who shall be chairman of the committee.

19. Also a standing committee on the library, to consist of five members; and one on printing, to consist of three members. These committees, when acting with like committees of the Senate, shall constitute the "library committee" and the "committee on printing" provided for by law; but in all other respects shall act as committees of the House.

20. Any committee of the House may at their discretion confer with a committee of the Senate having under consideration the same subject; but no joint committee shall be appointed. Nor shall any select committee be appointed to consider any subject falling properly within the province of a standing committee.

21. After the minimum number required for any committee has been appointed, the Speaker may, from time to time, at his discretion, fill it up to the maximum allowed by the rules, which shall in no case be exceeded.

22. Five members of any committee, or a majority, if less than five, shall constitute a quorum. Each committee shall appoint its own regular meetings; and it shall be the duty of a committee to meet on a call of any two of its members if the chairman be absent or decline to appoint such meeting; but no committee shall sit during the sitting of the House without special leave.

23. The several standing committees shall not only consider and report upon the matters specially referred to them, but shall, whenever practicable, suggest such legislation as will provide upon general principles for all similar cases. And it shall be the duty of each committee to enquire into the condition and administration of the laws relating to the subjects which they have in charge; to investigate the conduct and look to the responsibility of all public officers and agents concerned, and to suggest such measures as will correct abuses, protect the public interests, and promote the public welfare.

24. Committees shall in all cases report by bill or resolution, in such form that if passed or agreed to, it will carry into effect their recommendations. Every such bill or resolution shall be printed, unless the committee recommend that the same be not printed; but no papers returned therewith shall be printed unless the committee shall so recommend.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

25. When the House shall go into the committee of the whole, the Speaker may vacate the chair, and call some member to preside in committee; the other officers shall attend, and the rules of the House shall be observed and enforced in committee as far as applicable, except that the previous question shall not be ordered.

26. If the committee rise before the consideration of the subject referred is concluded, the same shall be reported back, and have its place in order, as unfinished business of the House. When it shall be again reached in order, unless it be otherwise disposed of, the House, after making such orders as it may deem proper in relation to the business before the committee, shall stand again resolved into the committee of the whole, and so on, until the business therein be disposed of.

27. Nothing shall be in order in the committee of the whole, except such matters as may be specially referred to it by the House.

28. Whenever the committee of the whole shall find itself without a quorum, the chairman shall cause the roll to be called, and thereupon the committee shall rise, and the chairman shall report the fact and the names of the absentees, which shall be entered upon the Journal of the House.

29. The motion to go into committee of the whole, and the motion to discharge the committee, shall not be debated.

II.

ATTENDANCE AND ADJOURNMENT.

30. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he have leave, or be sick or unable to attend.

31. Any ten members or more (including the Speaker, if there be one, and he be present) shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, by a call of the House.

32. Upon the roll of the House the names of the members shall, in all cases, be arranged and called in alphabetical order, except that the Speaker shall be called last.

33. Upon a call of the House, the names of the members shall be first called over by the clerk, and the absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall be again called over; the doors shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse, or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, if ten in number, be taken in custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody, wherever to be found, by the sergeant-at-arms or his assistants, or by special messengers to be appointed for that purpose.

34. When a member shall be discharged from custody, and admitted to his seat, the House shall determine whether such discharge shall be with or without payment of fees and expenses.

35. Any member or members may adjourn from day to day. A motion to adjourn and a motion to fix the time to which the House will adjourn, shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

III.

INTRODUCTION OF BUSINESS.

36. Messages from the governor, and reports and communications (except petitions and memorials) from any other public officer or agent, may be received at any time; and if, in the judgment of the Speaker, they require immediate action, may be brought at once to the attention of the House—otherwise they shall lie upon the Speaker's table and be disposed of in the morning hour. The same rule shall be observed with regard to messages from the Senate.

37. Members having petitions, memorials, resolutions or bills to present, may, at any time, hand them to the clerk, endorsed with their names and the reference or disposition desired. The clerk shall, under the direction of the Speaker, refer all such papers to the proper committees, and enter the fact, with the names of the members presenting them, upon the Journal.

38. No petition, memorial, bill, joint resolution, proposition to change a rule of the House, or resolution calling for information from the governor or other public officer or agent, shall be introduced, considered, or acted upon otherwise than is provided by the preceding rule, until it shall have been examined and reported upon by a committee.

39. Any other resolution or motion upon which a member may desire the judgment of the House, or any action other than a reference to a standing committee, may be presented to the House in the morning hour after the business on the Speaker's table is disposed of.

40. Reports of committees may be handed to the clerk at any time. He shall endorse upon them the time at which they are received, and place them upon the Speaker's table, to be disposed of in the morning hour. If, in the judgment of the Speaker, any report of a committee requires immediate action, he may bring it to the attention of the House at any time.

IV.

ORDER OF BUSINESS—THE MORNING HOUR.

41. After the reading of the Journal, one hour, to be called the "morning hour," shall be devoted to the dispatch of business upon the Speaker's table, and to resolutions presented under Rule 39. The business on the Speaker's table shall be disposed of in such order as the Speaker shall deem best, except as may be herein otherwise provided, or as the House may at any time order.

42. The annual message of the governor shall be laid before the House as soon as it is received. It shall be printed for the use of the House, and shall be considered by the several standing committees without any special order therefor.

43. All other messages from the governor shall, unless the House otherwise order, be referred by the Speaker to the proper committees. And the same rule shall be observed as to reports and communications from other public officers.

44. Bills and joint resolutions sent from the Senate shall be referred by the Speaker to the proper committees; those originating in the Senate being previously twice read. All other messages from the Senate shall, unless the House otherwise order, be referred by the Speaker to the proper committees.

45. All bills and joint resolutions reported from committees, and which have been previously read in the House, shall be transferred at once to the calendar, in the order in which they are reported. All those reported for the first time shall be numbered in the order in which they were handed to the clerk, and shall be read the first time and transferred to the calendar.

46. All other reports from committees shall be considered and disposed of in the order in which the Speaker shall present them, unless the House shall in any case otherwise direct.

47. A member presenting a resolution, under Rule 39, shall be allowed five minutes in which to explain his wishes in relation to it; after which the question on referring to a standing committee shall be taken without debate. If the House refuses to refer, the resolution shall be considered disposed of.

48. Printing recommended by committees, under Rule 24, shall be ordered by the Speaker, unless the House shall otherwise direct. Under such order no more copies of any document shall be printed than is provided by law; nor shall more than two hundred and thirty copies be printed of any bill, resolution, petition or memorial, without the special order of the House.

THE CALENDAR.

49. At the expiration of the morning hour, or sooner if the business of the morning hour has been disposed of, the House shall proceed to consider bills and joint resolutions upon the calendar, in the following order:

1st. Pending motions to reconsider, relating to business proper for the calendar.

2d. The unfinished business of the preceding day.

3d. House bills, &c., returned from the Senate with amendments, in the order to which they were transferred to the calendar.

4th. Senate bills, &c., in the same order.

5th. Engrossed House bills, &c., in the order in which they passed to their engrossment.

6th. House bills, &c., on their second reading, in the order in which they are numbered.

50. It shall be the duty of the clerk to see that the printing and engrossing, when ordered, shall be done in such time that the bills, &c., may be acted upon according to their priorities upon the calendar. If, however, any bill, &c., shall not be ready when it is reached upon the calendar, it shall be passed by, and be allowed to retain its place upon the calendar.

51. When the calendar has been called through, it may be called again, in order to dispose of any business that may be ready, and if there be none such, the business of the morning hour shall be resumed and disposed of; but the business of the calendar shall in no case be allowed to interfere with that of the morning hour without the unanimous consent of the members present.

52. The regular order of business herein established shall not be changed, nor shall any special order be made, except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present; but a majority may postpone the calendar, not exceeding one day at a time, or may pass by any subject coming up in order, without changing its place, or may agree to a joint order with the Senate, or may postpone or discharge any special order.

V.

CONDUCT OF BUSINESS—ORDER AND DECORUM.

53. The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum; may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order without debate, subject to an appeal to the House. If the decision relate to a question of decorum or propriety of conduct, it shall not be debatable; if it relate to the priority of business, or the relevancy or applicability of propositions, the appeal may be debated, but no member shall speak on it more than once, except by leave of the House.

54. When a member rises to speak, he shall respectfully address "Mr. SPEAKER," standing in his place: he shall confine himself strictly to the question before the House, and when he has finished he shall sit down.

55. When two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the person to speak; but in all cases the member who shall first rise and address the chair shall speak first.

56. Every motion or proposition shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the Speaker or any member, and shall be delivered in at the clerk's table, to be there read; and the question shall be stated by the chair before the same shall be debated. When the reading of any paper in possession of the House, and not being the precise matter upon which the House is acting, is called for, and objection is made by any member, the question shall be determined by a vote of the House without debate. Any motion or proposition may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before a decision, amendment, or other action of the body upon it, except a motion to reconsider, which shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.

57. No member shall in debate use any language or gesture calculated to wound, offend or insult another member.

58. If any member in speaking transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; in which case the member called to order, shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted to explain. If there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall not proceed, except by leave of the House. For flagrant or repeated violations of order, especially if persisted in after the admonition of the Speaker, a member shall be liable to the censure of the House.

59. If any member be called to order by another member for words spoken, the words excepted to shall be immediately taken down in writing, in order that the Speaker and House may be better able to judge the matter.

60. No member shall, while the House is sitting, interrupt or hinder its business by standing up, leaving his place, moving about the hall, engaging in conversation, expressing approval or disapproval of any of the proceedings, or by any other conduct tending to disorder and confusion.

61. In any one debate on the same question, no member shall speak more than once till all others have spoken who desire to do so, nor more than twice, without the consent of a majority of the members present.

ASCERTAINING THE QUESTION.

62. If the question for decision include several distinct propositions, any member may have the same divided; but a motion to strike out and insert shall not be so divided, nor shall a motion to strike out, being lost, preclude either amendment or a motion to strike out and insert. In filling blanks, the question shall be put first upon the largest sum and the longest time. No motion or proposition, or a subject different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment.

63. When a question is before the House, no motion shall be received, unless specially provided for, except to adjourn, to pass by, to lay upon the table, to postpone for a specified time or purpose, to commit or amend, to dismiss; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. If the motion to pass by, or to lay upon the table, or to postpone, shall prevail, a motion to print shall be in order before proceeding to the consideration of another subject; but shall be decided without debate.

64. Upon the motion to pass by, the mover shall be allowed two minutes to state the reason for his motion, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to object. The motion to pass by, to lay upon the table, for the previous question, and for the pending question, shall not be debated; nor shall debate be allowed on a motion to take up a subject from the table, or to reconsider any question which was not debatable. When a question not debatable is before the House, all incidental questions arising after it is stated to the House, shall be decided and settled, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate; and the same rule shall apply to incidental questions arising after any question is put to the House.

PENDING AND PREVIOUS QUESTIONS.

65. Pending a debate, any member who obtains the floor for that purpose only, and submits no other motion or remark, may move for "the previous question," or "the pending question;" and in either case the motion shall be forthwith put to the House. Two-thirds of the members present shall be required to order the main question; but a majority may require an immediate vote upon the pending question, whatever it may be.

66. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question now be put?" If carried, its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if pending, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then upon pending amendments; and then upon the main question. If upon the motion for the previous question the main question be not ordered, debate may continue as if the motion had not been made.

TAKING THE VOTE.

67. The Speaker shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting. Questions shall be distinctly put in the following form, viz: "As many as agree that, &c. (as the question may be), say AYE;" and after the affirmative vote is given, "Those opposed, say No." If the Speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the House shall divide—those in the affirmative of the question rising first from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative. If required, the Speaker shall cause the result to be ascertained by a count.

68. The yeas and nays on any question may be called for at any time before proceeding to another question or proposition, but being once refused, they shall not be again demanded on the same question; and any member shall have a right to vote at any time before the decision is announced by the Chair.

69. Upon a division of the House on any question, a member who is present and fails to vote shall, on the demand of any other member, be counted on the negative of the question; and when the yeas and nays are taken, shall, in addition, be entered upon the Journal as present and not voting. But no member who has an immediate and special personal interest in the result of the question shall either vote or be counted upon it.

RECONSIDERATION.

70. When a question has been decided, it may be reconsidered on the motion of any member who voted with the prevailing side: provided it be made on the same day or within the next two days of actual session. The motion may be entered as a matter of privilege, and shall take precedence of everything except special orders and other questions of privilege, and be disposed of in the morning hour or with the calendar, as the case may be. All motions to reconsider shall be decided by a majority of the votes of the members present.

BILLS, &C.

71. Every bill shall receive three several readings in the House previous to its being passed, and it shall be distinctly announced at each reading, whether it is the first, second, or third time.

72. The first reading of a bill shall be for information merely, and it shall go to second reading without a question.

73. Upon the second reading of a bill, it shall be open to amendment or commitment, or to any of the motions provided for in Rule 83; and the final question shall be, "Whether it shall be engrossed and read a third time?"

74. A bill ordered to be engrossed shall not have its third reading until the engrossment is actually and properly done; but, in the case of a Senate bill, the engrossment shall only apply to such amendments as may have been made in the House.

75. No amendment to a bill shall be received upon its third reading, by way of rider or otherwise; and no amendment, involving an additional appropriation shall be added to the general appropriation bill, unless to carry into effect an existing law, or unless it receives the vote required to pass the bill itself. But a bill may, at any time before its passage, be committed or recommitted, and when reported back shall be placed on the calendar, and if amended shall, whether on its second or third reading, be engrossed, as may be necessary.

76. On the third reading of a bill, the question shall be, "Shall the bill pass?"

77. The title of a bill, and such parts thereof only as shall be affected by the proposed amendments, shall be entered upon the Journal

78. Joint resolutions intended to have the force and effect of law, or to express the opinions, wishes, or purposes of the General Assembly upon any matter not connected with the preparation, direction, or conduct of its business, shall be introduced, considered, and disposed of in all respects as provided in regard to bills.

PETITIONS.

79. Petitions of private nature once rejected, shall not be heard again unless upon new evidence, and not oftener than once under any circumstances.

80. If a petition or memorial relate to a subject of local interest, as the division of a county, the establishment of a ferry, or the like, it shall not be allowed until it shall appear that the intention to present such a petition or memorial has been duly and fairly made known to the community to be affected.

81. If it relate to a matter of private right or interest, it shall appear that the parties to be affected have had notice at least equal to that required by law in regard to matters to be transacted in a court of justice.

82. No petition shall be allowed claiming a sum of money or praying the settlement of unliquidated accounts alleged to be due from the State, unless it be accompanied by a certificate of the executive or auditor, stating why the claim has not been allowed and paid.

83. The same objections shall apply to acting upon such matters by bill or resolution without petition or memorial; and the several committees of the House will be charged with the duty of reporting specially on these points in connection with any action proposed to be taken on such subjects.

84. Original papers filed as exhibits with any petition may be withdrawn by the petitioner, or upon his order, or his leaving attested copies, for which he shall pay the clerk at the rate provided by law for other copies made by him.

MESSAGES.

85. It shall be the duty of the clerk, without any special order therefor, to communicate to the Senate any action of the House upon business coming from the Senate, or upon matters requiring the concurrence of that body; but no such communication shall be made in relation to any action of the House while it remains open for consideration.

MANUAL AND RULES.

86. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual, shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the rules of the House, and such joint rules as are or may from time to time be established by the two houses of the General Assembly.

87. The rules of the House shall not be changed or suspended, except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by an actual division of the House; and upon a motion to suspend a rule of the House, the mover shall be allowed two minutes to state the reasons for his motion, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to object.

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

88. During the session of the legislature the hall of the House of Delegates shall be used for no other purpose than the regular sessions of the House, and for meetings of the committees and members of the legislature on public affairs.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the clerk of the House of Delegates, transmitting an abstract of reports made to him by clerks of courts. (Document No. 1.)

Ordered that Mr. DABNEY inform the Senate that the House is ready to proceed to business.

A message was received from the Senate by Mr. Jones, who informed the House that the Senate is organized and ready to proceed to business.

Mr. HAY offered the following concurrent resolution:

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That a committee of five on the part of the House and three on the part of the Senate, be appointed to inform the Governor that the General Assembly is now organized and ready to receive any communications he may desire to make; in which they respectfully request the concurrence of the Senate.

Ordered that Mr. HAY carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate by Mr. STUBBS, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the resolution.

The SPEAKER appointed Messrs. HAY, POLLARD, BUFORD, STARKE and ELAM the committee on the part of the House.

The committee subsequently, by its chairman, reported that they had waited upon the Governor, and that he would communicate at once to the General Assembly in writing.

A message was received from the Governor by his Secretary, as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, VA., December 7, 1887.

To the General Assembly:

As required by law, I have the honor to communicate to you the condition of the Commonwealth, and to recommend such measures as will, in my opinion, promote the prosperity of the State. The Legislature convenes at a propitious period in the history of Virginia; a prosperous future points to peace and progress within her limits, and wise decrees and economic laws will be expected and demanded by the people of their representatives.

My executive duties began on the 1st day of January, 1886. The Legislature of 1885-'86 was already in session. The vexatious sore on the body politic was the public debt, and it was an ulcer tender to the touch of citizens within and without the limits of the State. Political parties were weary with its pain, and a jaded Commonwealth lamented its duration. With the belief that from a sound state of public health would freely flow multiplied blessings, my attention was at once directed to such sanitary measures as would produce results so much to be desired. It was clearly the initial point upon which executive work should begin.

After careful reflection, I was convinced that a conference between the State and the representatives of her creditors would not be injurious to either, and might be beneficial to both. In a message communicated to the General Assembly February 18th, 1886, I therefore recommended that a committee be appointed, whose duties should be plainly defined; whose powers should be carefully prescribed, guarded and limited; and whose mission should be to meet a commission from the creditors; and, while urging them to accede to a settlement, whose obligations the State could meet without increasing the burdens of her people, to point out at the same time the vast untried and unexpended power which always resides with a resolute and united people, and caution them against arousing a public sentiment which, forgetful of justice, and taking counsel from passion, might destroy the interest which we were then striving to protect.

The propriety of the proposed course was not received by the Legislature with that unanimity so essential to a successful solution of the problem, and resulted in no action being taken by that body.

A desire to promote the public welfare decided me to call an extra session of the same body to meet in this city on the 16th of March, 1887.

The recommendation which I made to them the previous year for the appointment of a commission was renewed, and this time was adopted by a vote in the Senate of 22 ayes to 10 noes; and in the House by 55 ayes to 6 noes. A joint committee of four members from the Senate and six from the House, inclusive of the presiding officers of each body, accordingly met in this city on the 29th of April last.

After a laborious session of several weeks I regret to say this joint commission adjourned without reaching a settlement.

To the final report of the legislative committee, known as Senate Document No. 18, you are referred for information regarding their conference with the bondholders' commission. If the final proposal of the English representatives had been accepted by our committee and the outstanding obligations of the State funded under the terms proposed, it would have resulted in the State having to make provision for the redemption of a principal of a debt of $24,909,919, and the payment of an annual interest of $922,508.

A careful estimate of the available revenue for that purpose demonstrated her inability to meet this demand. In any settlement embracing annual payments greater than the State could meet with her present income, a default in the payment of the interest would arise, carrying with it hope removed, a repetition of the experience derived from the State's "pandora box," the funding bill of 1871.

As far as could be ascertained the English commission represented about 80 per cent. of the consol bonds and some 30 per cent. of the tent-forties; the remaining bonds of the last denomination being held in this country. It was therefore thought that if a settlement could be made with the English holders it would probably have extended to bonds held by others. No disposition was manifested by Sir Edward Thornton and his associates to make a settlement which would involve any increase of taxes. They professed to be willing to settle upon the amount which would be left of the State's revenue after all other necessary expenses had been defrayed.

They would not accept the State's figures as to that amount, nor could we accept their estimate.

The conference, though unsuccessful, was in some respects beneficial. It located with greater certainty than ever before the obligations of the State. A desire upon the part of the Commonwealth to make a settlement within her ability to pay was manifested, while she declared positively that the benefit the children of her citizens were receiving in the public schools should not be decreased. She insisted, too, that her fostering care should be extended over the insane, and proclaimed that her protecting arm should be thrown around the disabled soldier and sailor, whose wounds so eloquently certified his devotion to his State. The action of the Legislature in the appointment of the joint committee, and the proceedings of that committee, received the endorsement of the people at the polls; for in the recent election for members of the Legislature no word of dissent came from the lips of the candidates of either party, and so far as I know, the mode of the settlement of the public debt was not a matter of discussion between them. From such premises, the conclusion is reached that both parties are united in maintaining the act approved February 14, 1882. Can the State still meet the obligation of that measure without an increase of taxation? In my message to the extra session of the last Legislature will be found a carefully prepared estimate of annual expenses of the government, based upon present annual appropriations to public free schools, eleemosynary institutions, and institutions of learning, which does not include anything for construction of new buildings or enlargement of those now owned by the State; that table is applicable now, and I respectfully call your attention to it in the appendix to this message, marked Table No. 1. An examination of it demonstrates that exclusive of interest on the debt, except to institutions of learning, which is now paid on the unfunded bonds held by them, the average annual expenditure of the State to be $2,057,119.64.

In a communication from the Auditor of Public Accounts transmitting an estimate of the annual receipts of the Commonwealth from all sources, based upon the assessments of 1886, in response to a resolution of the Senate adopted the 15th of March, 1887, the annual revenue of the State is set down at $2,521,875.84. A copy of this table is also appended, marked Table No. 2.

From these statements it is ascertained that the revenue of the State applicable to payment of interest other than that upon bonds held by institutions of learning, is $464,756.20.

The annual interest to be provided for, if all outstanding obligations were funded into bonds, under the act approved February 14, 1882, except those held by institutions of learning, would be $658,342.04. In order, therefore, to carry out the provisions of that act, the sum of $193,585.84 would have to be annually raised in addition to the present revenues.

But whilst this deficiency is shown, it will be borne in mind that the Riddleberger bonds held by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund are the property of the State, and can be cancelled; that the stock held by the State in the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company can be sold, and the proceeds used in the purchase of Riddleberger bonds, or the dividends upon said stock, now going into the hands of the Sinking Fund Commissioners, can be used in the payment of interest upon State stock, held by the United States; which interest, funded into Riddleberger bonds, is $16,457.81 per annum, because the State holds a claim against the United States in excess of value of such bonds.

The balance on hand in the Treasury October 1, 1887, was . . .	$352,181 22
The receipts during the past fiscal year ending September 30, 1887, amounted to . . .	2,569,338 73
During the same period the disbursements amounted to . . .	2,637,138 25
Being . . .	67,799 52
More than the revenue, but included in the expenditures for the past fiscal year is . . .	143,079 84

Which was advanced, under the act approved April 6, 1887, to the treasurers of the counties, for the support of the public schools until the taxes could be collected for that purpose. Of that amount, $107,015.83 has been already returned. These disbursements also embrace special appropriations to the building funds of the Eastern, Western, Southwestern and Central Lunatic Asylums, and to the Colored Normal School. It also includes $52,200, paid to the Washington and Lee University, being the last arrears of interest due on bonds held by it; and $25,000 used by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund in purchase of Riddleberger bonds. It also comprises the interest paid on Riddleberger bonds and coupons forced into the treasury, which, being redeemed, represent paid interest on the public debt; on the other hand, all calculations as to the amount of revenue in the future. It must be remembered that the revenue may be reduced in proportion to the adoption of local option by the several cities and counties. The whole sum the State now derives from license tax on liquors is about $300,000 per annum. It must also be remembered that the law [Twelfth Article of the Constitution] provides that next year the vote must be taken whether a convention shall meet in 1889 to revise the Constitution, and in case such convention shall be called, financial provisions will have to be made for its expenses.

The number of tax-receivable coupons outstanding at the end of the last fiscal year, namely, the 30th of September, 1887, was $4,278,-696.50.

The number of tax-receivable coupons which found their way into the treasury on judgments for taxes during the last fiscal year was $81,620.50.

In this connection your attention is called to the extract from the report of the Second Auditor for the fiscal year ending September 30th, 1887, in reference to the public debt, in a table marked No. 3, appended to this message.

From the facts and figures given I draw these conclusions :

FIRST. Both political parties agree that the act approved February 14th, 1882, shall be maintained.

One of these parties has held no convention recently, but the other, and now the governing party of the State, in the platform erected at Roanoke as late as August 4th, 1887, and upon which their members of the General Assembly stood and received their certificate of election, stated through their representatives there assembled that it approved the action of the Legislative committee at the debt conference and pledged over again its support to the act of 1882.

SECOND. That the number of coupons coming into the Treasury in proportion to the cash revenues upon which the State depends to carry on the Government, is not yet crippling her schools or her eleemosynary and educational institutions, or blocking the wheels of her State government.

THIRD. That the Commonwealth can still carry out, in good faith, the act of 1882, because the obligations incurred are within her ability to meet without default of interest and without increasing the taxes of her citizens.

DEBT LEGISLATION.

I had the honor to recommend, and the General Assembly passed at the special session of 1887, an act entitled, "An act to provide for the recovery by motion of taxes and certain debts due the Commonwealth for the payment of which papers purporting to be genuine coupons of the Commonwealth have been tendered," under which it was believed the State would be enabled to proceed against delinquent tax-payers who had tendered coupons in payment of taxes, but had not paid their taxes in coupons or money. It was believed the State in this way could lawfully compel the tax-payer to either prove his coupons to be genuine and deliver them to her officer, or pay in money. Many tax-payers had tendered coupons in payment of their taxes and then immediately disposed of the coupons to other tax-payers, whereby the State neither received money or coupons. In other instances the tax-payer whose property had been levied upon and sold after tender of coupons, sued the Treasurer and recovered the money paid without delivering the coupons tendered, and the State received nothing for the taxes.

Immediately after the adjournment of the General Assembly, Mr. J. P. Cooper and other English citizens procured from the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia an injunction restraining the Auditor of Public Accounts, the Attorney-General and all the attorneys for the Commonwealth and treasurers in the State from doing any act to put the law in force.

With the view of testing the legality of such proceedings on the part of the Federal judge, the Attorney-General and all the attorneys for the Commonwealth for several counties nevertheless instituted the suits required, and proceeded to obtain judgments against the delinquent tax-payers.

For this the Attorney-General and attorneys for the Commonwealth for Fauquier and Loudoun counties were found guilty of contempt by the Circuit Court of the United States, and each were fined and imprisoned until the fine should be paid and they should have dismissed all pending suits and entered the judgments which had been paid, satisfied.

The officers positively refused to obey the orders, and were imprisoned. The State at once employed counsel and obtained writs of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court of the United States, under which the officers were released upon their recognizance to await the decision of the court. The cases were fully argued on the 14th of November by counsel employed by the State, and decided on the 5th inst. The full text of the court has not yet reached me, but the act approved May 12th, 1887, is recognized as valid, and the proceedings of the Circuit Court of the United States restraining the officers of the State from enforcing the act, and imprisoning them for conforming thereto are condemned and reversed as without authority and against the 11th amendment to the constitution of the United States.

In view of the recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, it may be reasonable to suppose that the bondholders, as soon as they consider that decision, will be disposed to make a debt settlement, whose obligations can be faithfully carried out without an increase of taxation. I would suggest to the General Assembly the passage of a joint resolution suspending, for a reasonable time, the institution of all legal proceedings under the act of May 12th, 1887.

I have assurances, which I deem entitled to confidence, that the course I have suggested, if adopted, will be attended with results satisfactory to all concerned.

THE CODE.

Since the adjournment of the extra session of the last Legislature, I am informed that the revisors of the Code have been at work earnestly and faithfully in preparing a suitable index and a proper digest and caption of the different sections, and references to the statutes and adjudged cases. This could not be done until after the General Assembly had adopted the Code. Some inevitable delays have occurred in making contracts, and for the printing and getting ready for the work; the printing, however, is rapidly being done, and will be completed by the 15th of January.

The completion of this important and useful work, in which the whole State is so much interested, should be the subject of congratulation to the Legislature and to the State. Clear laws, drawn in indisputable language, cannot always be enacted; their terms, however, should be closely searched at the time of passage in order that their future construction may be simplified, while the interests of the State demand that they be grouped and placed before her citizens in the most apparent and accessible shape. The time for the new Code to go into effect should be extended, because there is not interval enough after the printing is completed to distribute it before the date now designated for the laws therein to be operative.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

Your attention is specially invited to the important department of education.

Our public school system, as shown by official records for the school year closing July 31, 1887, exhibits substantial and healthy progress. The efficacy and general success of a system of popular education depends upon the amount of funds provided by law for its support, the judicious and economical expenditure of such funds, the ability and skill and fidelity of those charged with the immediate supervision of its operations, and on the encouragement and moral support accorded it by the people. During the past year the amount of money raised and applied to the public schools, the number of schools opened and teachers employed, and the number of pupils enrolled and in average attendance are all greater than during any year since the system was inaugurated. Information in detail and special recommendations will be contained in the forthcoming annual report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The importance of such further, judicious and friendly legislation as will not only maintain, but also increase the efficiency and usefulness of the system, earnestly commends itself to the attention of the General Assembly. Reports from State institutions for technical and higher education exhibit an encouraging degree of prosperity.

The financial condition of some of them has undergone decided improvement, while the patronage of all of them has been well sustained, and in nearly every instance has materially increased. The present scholastic year is marked by a decided increase in the number of matriculates in almost all these institutions, while in some this increase is exceptionally large. In addition to the facilities afforded by the State for the education of her people, there are a number of excellent schools and colleges conducted by private individuals and by the different churches. While these have no connection with the State government they are to be recognized as among the effective educational forces of the Commonwealth. It is a matter of special gratification that an unusual degree of prosperity is attending them during the current year. The increase in the number of scholars at schools of this class is proof of the growing prosperity of those who send them there. As an evidence of the prosperous condition of our educational institutions it may be mentioned that on the 1st of December, 1886, there were 287 students registered at the University of Virginia. On the same date of this year there were registered 361. At the Virginia Military Institute on the 1st of December, 1886, there were 135 cadets. On the same date this year there were 166 cadets. At the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College on the 1st of December, 1886, there were 87 students. At the corresponding date this year there were 136. The State Female Normal School at Farmville in its management, efficiency, and results is highly satisfactory. There are in the school of practice and observation and Normal school proper 215 students. At the Virginia Normal and Collegiate Institute December 1, 1886, there were 162 academic students. On December 1, 1887, the number of academic students was 187.

These institutions all deserve, and should receive, the hearty support of the representatives of the people. Their work is closely interwoven with our entire educational system. The higher round of the educational ladder may not be reached by all classes, but is within the reach of all who climb boldly and successfully the lower rounds of the same ladder. Indeed, Mr. Jefferson, the founder of our great University, expressed this view when he said: "We should always keep an eye steadily on the whole system" of education; while the great German publicist, Dr. Lieber, represented the same idea when he tells us that "The university and the common schools are the two buttresses of the arch of public education." It is essential to the prosperity of both that each should be kept strong, sound and firm.

In reference to the public schools I would recommend that by further legislation the General Assembly endeavor to improve the system in sparsely settled districts in the different counties.

In these districts the facilities for public school education are susceptible of improvement. I would also recommend that some legislative action be taken which would authorize the beginning of elementary industrial education or manual training in the common and graded schools. Great technical schools, with large endowments, are not within the reach of all, but by a moderate expenditure by the local authorities elementary industrial teaching can be introduced effectively in a large number of schools. I consider this a matter of great importance for the future as bringing about a more rapid development of the products of our State and making useful members in their respective communities of her citizens. The Miller Manual Labor School of Albemarle county would be able to furnish many teachers in this line for the white classes, while the Hampton Normal and Industrial Institute could furnish teachers for the colored classes.

The splendid work the two institutions I have named are doing within the limits of the Commonwealth cannot be overestimated, and their accomplished superintendents could doubtless give valuable suggestions as to the feasibility of introducing manual and industrial training into our public school system. The rapid development of the industrial interests of Virginia points directly to the importance of giving special attention to these subjects.

The Virginia Military Institute is doing its accustomed good work in annually returning to us educated men equipped for civil or military purposes, ready and prepared for either. The drawing department of the Institute should be extended to cover the important changes constantly going on in its department of applied sciences, and an appropriation should be made which would enable the Institute to embrace the application of photography now so necessary in engineering and mining service.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College at Blacksburg is in a flourishing condition, with every prospect of a large increase in its usefulness. In order that it may continue in its prosperous course, and be productive of great benefit to our State, it should receive liberal encouragement from the Legislature. The State has appropriated nothing for this institution since 1878. The barrack-room is only capable of containing eighty-four men, while the State is pledged to furnish quarters for two hundred, so that rooms for quarters have to be rented outside, a system prejudicial to good order and military discipline. A proper building for machine-shops is also necessary. The present small wooden building is entirely inadequate to the necessities of this great branch of instruction which is made a specialty at this College. I append to this report a letter from the President of the College in reference to the details of the recommendations I here make.

The Virginia Normal and Collegiate Institute is also in a good condition. The attendance of teachers at the summer session 1887 was 131, and of that number 129 were granted certificates. In 1886 there were eight graduates from the Normal Department. At the commencement of this year there were eighteen, all of whom are now engaged in teaching colored schools of the State. The work of this Institute has been somewhat obstructed by want of accommodations. The additional building, however, is nearing completion, and when finished the Institute will have, it is reported, accommodations for at least 700 students. From a personal inspection of this Institute, I believe it is fulfilling its mission and carrying out the objects for which it was established.

ELEEMOSYNARY INSTITUTIONS.

An examination of the interesting reports of the boards of directors and superintendents of the four insane asylums, and the institution for the education of the deaf, dumb and blind, will show that the trusts reposed therein have been faithfully executed; beneficial sanitive measures have been adopted; proper regulations have been put in force, and excellent care and attention bestowed upon the inmates and pupils.

The recommendations contained in these reports, in regard to insurance and other matters, will receive your careful consideration. The State has no higher or more sacred duty than the maintenance of this unfortunate class of her citizens.

During the past fiscal year ending September 30, 1887, four hundred and twenty applications were received at the Eastern, Western and Southwestern asylums for admission, and three hundred and seventeen were admitted. All the colored insane can be provided for as soon as the additions to the Central asylum are completed.

In the Eastern asylum the average number of patients for the past fiscal year was four hundred and one; in the Western asylum on October 1st, there were five hundred and eighty-nine; in the Southwestern one hundred and thirty-nine; the present capacity of this asylum is two hundred and fifty; in the Central asylum, the daily average for the year was four hundred and seventy.

The number of pupils at the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institute is three hundred and thirty-four.

The additional building to the Central asylum, for which the Legislature of 1886 appropriated $22,500, will be ready for use by the first of January next; two hundred more patients can then be provided for; this will not only take all of the colored insane out of the jails, but relieves the asylum of its over-crowded condition. The superintendent reports that "the increase of insanity amongst the colored race is amazing;" and he fears "that in two years hence there will be from one hundred and fifty to two hundred colored insane unprovided for."

There seems to have been a most injudicious use made of the $202,000 appropriated for the erection of the main building to the asylum. In a statement embodying the result of a recent examination of the building, made by a competent architect, at the request of the president of the board of directors, its condition and manner of construction is fully set forth, and the fact disclosed that the State is not in possession of such a building as her liberal appropriation for it would seem to justify. The foundation walls in many places are cracked already, and the bricks are of such inferior make and material, that they are being crushed by the weight above.

AGRICULTURE.

There is no question which can be brought before the Legislature of more importance to Virginia than the promotion of her agricultural interests.

It has been well said that a plea for the farmers is a plea for the State, and the great number of our citizens who are engaged in providing for themselves and their families a support from the soil should incline their representatives to the passage of all laws which will advance the interests of the farmers. The whole State will at once feel any vigorous increase in its agricultural prosperity. The career for stock raising and sheep farming in the future is broad, but the development of the smaller industries and grain-growing has not been attended in some parts of the State with gratifying results.

The present faithful and efficient commissioner of agriculture is diligently striving to bring about a better condition of things in his department, but the means of accomplishing that end are very limited. I recommend an increased appropriation for the department of agriculture, to be provided for either by tax upon fertilizers or in such other way as the General Assembly may determine to be best. I would also recommend that the commissioner of agriculture be made a member ex officio of the Board of Visitors of the Virginia

Agricultural and Mechanical College at Blacksburg, and bear the same relation to that college as the adjutant-general will do to the Virginia Military Institute after 1st January next. I would also recommend in this connection that a bureau of immigration, labor, and statistics be established as a part of the department of agriculture; for the commissioner of agriculture well says, "An active bureau of immigration enlisting the co-operation of railroad authorities and all organizations having for their object the introduction of immigrants into Virginia, can do so much for promoting the settlement of her waste lands, fostering manufactures, and creating markets."

STATE PENITENTIARY.

The State penitentiary, under the management of its board of directors and its capable superintendent, serves well its purpose. The number of convicts on the first of this month was 960; 190 being white and 770 colored, or 185 white males and 706 colored males; 5 white females and 64 colored females; 807 of them are in prison, 115 on the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad, and 38 in Russell county.

There has not been much demand for convicts to work the public roads of the Commonwealth under laws already passed. Applications are now and then made for them to work on the railroads, but in consequence of such projected roads not being completed, and for other reasons in many cases, such applications are not further insisted upon.

In this connection I have the honor to recommend that a reformatory or industrial school be established, either separate and detached from the penitentiary or in connection therewith, where youthful criminals can be confined without coming in contact with the older and more hardened class of offenders. There should be a wide discrimination in the treatment of a boy, who is convicted perhaps of his first offence against the law, and a man who has probed to the bottom the depths of crime. The punishment of criminal youths should have a reformatory as well as punitive object, but it is impossible to put into practice reformatory measures where the two classes of criminals come in daily contact with each other. In the penitentiary at this time there are 197 criminals under the age of 21 years.

I would recommend that a law be passed placing in this reformatory school all criminals under 18 years of age, and that the governor be empowered to transfer from the penitentiary to that reformatory school any other criminals between the ages of 18 and 21 where hope is held out that such indulgence would not be misused and there was a reasonable hope of reclamation. A system of this sort has worked satisfactorily in several of the States.

During Governor Hoadly's administration in Ohio, of 80 boys thus released from the penitentiary and transferred to the reformatory school, one became insane, six went back to crime, and 73 proved worthy of the indulgence granted them. To reclaim from a life of crime even one young soul would be a satisfactory work. With the growing population of the State the number of criminals increase and an enlargement of the present penitentiary is already demanded. By the proposed separate arrangement for youthful criminals additional room would be gained for the other classes of malefactors.

I have the honor also to recommend that a system of monthly inspection of all jails in the State be made by the Commonwealth's attorney, or such local officer as the judge of the city or county in which said jail may be located, shall designate, and a written report to be made to said judge after each inspection, and such report be spread upon the records.

The penal and charitable institutions of the State will be inspected by the governor, or some officer designated by him, as often as he may think proper and practicable. I have already personally inspected most of these institutions, and found their condition in every respect most creditable to their management.

VOLUNTEER TROOPS.

Since the 1st of January last the following volunteer troops have been called out by the civil authorities to assist their officers in preserving the peace in their respective localities, namely: On January 11th, Companies A and B, First regiment, under command Major Bidgood, and the State Guard of colored troops—the whole being under direction of Brigadier-General Charles Anderson, were called to Newport News at the request of the judge of Warwick county. On August 30th, the mayor of Petersburg called upon R. E. Lee Battery, the Petersburg Grays, and the Petersburg Guards, the first two being white and the last a colored company, to be in readiness to assist him in preserving the peace there; and on the 11th of November, the mayor of Pocahontas, Tazewell county, with the co-operation of the civil officers of that county, requested troops to preserve the peace in the mines. The Fitz Lee Troop, the Lynchburg Artillery, and Lynchburg Home Guards, were accordingly sent to that point. The prompt arrival of the troops at these points, and the soldierly conduct of both officers and men, in a large degree prevented a disturbance of a peace their only mission was to preserve. "A well-regulated militia" is "necessary to the security of a free State," and the Commonwealth should be ready to promote the efficiency and discipline of her volunteer soldiery, who in turn are ever prompt with their services in preserving law, peace and order within her borders.

The volunteer militia, numbering about 3,000 men, are better equipped, better armed, disciplined and drilled than ever before in the history of the State, and can be depended upon in any emergency. It is seen that I availed myself of the services of the colored as well as the white soldiers, and my confidence in the performance of their duty was not misplaced.

At Newport News, in the midst of threatened disturbance of the peace by their own race, the company sent there was resolute and firm, whether on the sentinel post or in company front, and was ever ready to obey with alacrity any order from the officer commanding.

At the national drill and encampment, in Washington, in May, or in Philadelphia, at the celebration of the centennial of the Federal Constitution, in September last, or whether in the procession at the laying of the corner-stone of the Lee monument in October last, the good conduct and soldierly behavior and military appearance of the State troops won universal commendation and reflected credit upon Virginia. The clear and comprehensive report of the adjutant general gives in detail the necessary information about our volunteer troops.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

When Virginia called on her sons to rally to her defense in 1861, from highest mountain top to lowermost valley the cry was heard, filling her ranks with brave men, upon whose daily labor helpless women and little children leaned for livelihood. Twenty-six years have passed since then, and the boy who rushed to battle as to a banquet is the maimed veteran of to-day, in many instances, helpless and houseless.

Upon the suburbs of this city a beautiful "Home" for homeless Confederate soldiers, has been established by private donations, solicited by the "R. E. Lee Camp" and which will probably ultimately become the property of the State. The time has come when the State should call together and support there, for the few remaining years of their lives, the soldier and sailor who, maintaining Virginia's flag upon many a hard fought field, can no longer maintain himself. I recommend a generous annual contribution for this purpose.

JUDGE HUSTINGS COURT CITY OF STAUNTON.

I have the honor to state that the resignation of J. W. Green Smith, judge of the hustings court of the city of Staunton, was accepted at his request, to take effect on the 31st of October last. His term of office would not expire by limitation until the first of January, 1889. The interval between the date of the acceptance of the resignation and the meeting of the Legislature was brief, and I therefore declined to make an appointment to fill the vacancy lest it might in some way embarrass the action of this Legislature, whose duty it is to elect his successor.

DIVIDING THE STATE INTO GRAND DIVISIONS.

Another subject I think of sufficient importance to call your attention is the separation of the State into geographical divisions whose limits shall be clearly defined. Indeed, I would recommend that the counties by name be placed in the respective divisions, so that the execution of the laws, particularly as regards boards of visitors to the State institutions, can be strictly carried out.

CAPITOL BUILDING.

I feel it my duty to call the attention of the Legislature to the condition of the building now used as a State capitol. It has been for years inadequate for State purposes, and offices are now rented at the State's expense in different portions of the city for the superintendent of public instruction, the commissioner of railroads, the commissioner of agriculture, the superintendent of public printing, and the adjutant-general and the court of appeals. Apart from this, the constant increase in storage of valuable books, papers and records in the library and other portions of the building, has accumulated such weight as to jeopardize human life, while the danger from fire, always great, especially in the library, would involve an irreparable loss to the State of books, records, paintings, etc., which could never be replaced. To meet the pressing wants of the State's service it is necessary either to turn your faces from the memories, rich and rare, which cluster around the old edifice, and build a new and larger capitol with greater facilities for the purposes of the State, or to erect a suitable building elsewhere to contain the library, historical records, State offices, court of appeals, etc., etc. Of the two plans I would recommend the latter. In that case, the old capitol could be remodeled in the basement and library story, and ample room obtained for legislative purposes, committee-rooms, and a few State offices. In this connection, I call your attention to the report of the commissioners of the sinking fund in response to a resolution of the General Assembly in regard to the cost of a State building for the purpose indicated, known as H. D. No. 12, of the session of 1883-'84, as it contains much useful information on this subject. I would recommend that a committee of two from the Senate and three from the House be at once appointed to take this whole subject into consideration, including plan, location, and price of such a structure, and to report the result of their investigation as soon as possible, that this Legislature may act promptly in the matter. I have been informed that the library in the Capitol has caught fire already a number of times, and in view of its great value the State should lose as little time as possible in safely placing its valuable records in a fire-proof building.

There has already been set apart for the construction of this building Riddleberger bonds as follows:

Face value of Riddleberger bonds held by Board, $163,200, the market value of which, at 63c., is	$102,816 00
Also a bond of Tredegar Co., due March 16-19, 1885, for $5,955.55, interest for three years	7,037 55
On deposit Merchants National Bank, Richmond, Va.	22 25
Making a total of	$109,875 80

already available for this purpose.

The money with which these bonds were bought was realized from the sale of real estate owned by the Commonwealth, as set forth in acts 1883-4, chapter 353, section 1, and the proceeds of sale invested, as required by section 8 of the same act, approved March 10, 1884.

I advise that an appropriation be made for painting the outside of the capitol, governor's mansion, and out buildings. Their appearance and preservation alike demand it.

REGISTER OF LAND OFFICE.

I hope the Legislature will closely search the expense account of the government, and promptly reduce disbursements wherever it can be done without injury to the public service; and where such expenditures are unnecessary, abolish them; in this way the amount to be taken from the revenue account, will be smaller, and the surplus income greater.

As a beginning of this good work, I have the honor to recommend that the position of register of land office be abolished, and that all papers, books and records be turned over to the Second Auditor's office.

Second. That the police force for duty at the capitol and public grounds, be composed as now, of seven members, to be appointed by the governor, one of whom shall be known as chief-of-police and superintendent of public buildings. This officer should be held responsible for the strict performance of their duties, by the police, and shall, under the direction of the governor, have charge of the repairs to public buildings, and see that the public grounds are kept clean and in every respect in good condition.

The pay of the six policemen should be the same as they receive now—namely, sixty-five dollars per month, and the pay of the chief-of-police to be eighty-five dollars per month.

I have also to recommend that the convict labor now employed at the capitol and on public grounds be replaced by the work of men who have not committed offence against the State laws. This work is done now by seven convicts, some of whom are guarded by the capitol police, and others labor under a guard from the penitentiary.

The work done by these convicts can be much more satisfactorily performed by three or four good laborers, at, say, thirty dollars per month, to be selected and employed by the chief-of-police.

The official reports from the heads of the various departments of the government have all been rendered. They will be found faithful in detail and full in material, and to these reports you are respectfully referred.

And now to you, gentlemen of the Assembly, I commit the important subjects brought to your attention, with the confident hope that your enactments will exalt the civilization, promote the tranquility, and increase the happiness and prosperity of this great Commonwealth.

FITZHUGH LEE.

BLACKSBURG, VA., Nov. 18th, '87.

GOVERNOR FITZHUGH LEE, Richmond, Va.:

DEAR SIR—In reply to yours of the 15th, I would state, that this College now has 138 matriculates, with every prospect of a large increase. We have barrack room for only 84 men, and that by placing in some rooms three students. I have been forced to rent and furnish rooms in town for the remaining students, at a great expense to the College, as stoves have to be provided, coal furnished, &c. The State is pledged to furnish quarters for 200 students, and it is to carry out this pledge that quarters are rented outside. It is useless to state to you what a severe test of discipline and system it is having students scattered all over a small village. The building now used as a barrack was originally built for the Preston & Olin Institute. It was divided into large lecture rooms; these rooms were subdivided into smaller ones, of unequal sizes, all opening on a common hall, and totally unsuited for the purposes now used.

The floors are in such a condition that they cannot be scoured without drenching the rooms below. The building cannot be properly heated. It costs from $300 to $600 to keep this old building in repair for each year.

The outer walls of this old building are good, and it is proposed to change it into a machine shop, ten thousand dollars being asked for this purpose and to purchase an engine and machinery for iron working. The present machine shop is a small wooden building, and entirely too small for the purpose.

We need barracks for 300 men; an estimate of $60,000 is made for this purpose, supplying gas, water, and proper drainage.

We have received nothing from the State since 1878. The money derived from the land grant, and which can only be used for tuition, purchase of chemicals, &c., has been used to pay the running and contingent expenses of the College.

An annual appropriation is asked of $5,000 to supply the needs of the College, purchase of fuel, janitor's fees, and necessary expenses.

The faculty consists of a President and eight Professors, of these, quarters are furnished for only five, the others drawing commutation of quarters at the rate of $150 per year.

It is proposed to build quarters for the faculty out of any surplus that may arise after building quarters for students, and out of the contingent fund.

I enclose a report of the fund received by the College since its foundation from the State and other sources.

Respectfully,

L. L. LOMAX.

STATEMENT OF FUNDS appropriated for the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College by the State and County.

By the town of Blacksburg and the Preston and Olin Institute, $10,000
Montgomery county	20,000
Legislature of 1873-'4	15,000
" 1874-'5	15,000
" 1875-'6	15,000
" 1876	16,250
" 1877-'8	10,833

Total $102,083

VALUE OF REAL ESTATE, &C.

Campus, purchase price	$ 8,000
Farm, purchase price	22,000
Buildings cost	60,400
Chemical Laboratory	1,500
Machine shop and contents	7,500
Physical Laboratory	600
Agricultural implements and live stock	6,000
Library	2,000
Total	$108,360

The difference in value of real estate, &c., and the amount of money received, arises from the expenditure, contrary to law, of the land grant fund. This fund has also paid all the contingent expenses of the College. The funds from the county and State were used for the purchase of the real estate and for the buildings, whose value is given.

On motion of Mr. POLLARD, the message was passed by and ordered to be printed.

The following were presented and referred, under Rule 37 :

By Mr. ECHOLS: A bill in relation to the immediate commitment of insane persons to the asylums of this commonwealth upon their acquittal in any prosecution on the ground of insanity. Referred to the committee for courts of justice.

On motion of Mr. WEBB the House adjourned until to-morrow at twelve o'clock M.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1887.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hoge, of the Presbyterian church. The Journal was read by the clerk.

Mr. I. V. HERRING, delegate elect from the counties of Chesterfield and Powhatan and the city of Manchester, was sworn in by the clerk.

Mr. RYAN offered the following concurrent resolution:

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That in the printing of all bills hereafter introduced, which are intended as amendments to the now existing laws, the words intended as the amendments shall be printed in italics; and to enable the printer to carry out the provisions of this resolution, the patron of the bill will indicate the words intended as the amendment by underscoring them.

The House refused to refer the resolution to a committee. The resolution was agreed to.

Mr. RYAN moved to reconsider the vote, by which the resolution was agreed to; which motion was rejected.

Ordered, That Mr. RYAN carry the resolution to the Senate, and request their concurrence.

Mr. POLLARD offered the following concurrent resolution:

Whereas the Governor in his annual message has called the attention of the General Assembly to the fact that the capitol building is inadequate to furnish rooms for the necessary offices of the government, and that, by reason of the fact of storage of large quantities of books in the library and other parts of the building, such immense weight has been accumulated as to jeopardize life, and that there is a fund which has been set apart for the purpose of erecting a library building; and whereas the committees of the General Assembly are without adequate or convenient rooms in which to meet: therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That a committee consisting of two on the part of the Senate, and three on the part of the House of Delegates, be appointed to take the whole subject of the erection of a library building into consideration, including the plan, location and price of such a structure as would furnish the State with a safe, suitable and commodious building for library and other purposes.

The House refused to refer the resolution to a committee. The resolution was agreed to.

Ordered, That Mr. POLLARD carry the resolution to the Senate, and request their concurrence.

Mr. COLEMAN offered the following concurrent resolution :

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That the senators from Virginia be instructed, and our representatives in the Congress of the United States be requested to use their best efforts to secure the repeal, at an early day, of the entire internal revenue system of taxation, and failing in that, to secure, if possible, the repeal of so much of said system as imposes a tax upon tobacco in any of its forms, and upon spirits distilled from fruits.

The House refused to refer the resolution to a committee.

Mr. HAY moved to amend the resolution by striking out the words "of the entire internal revenue system of taxation," which was rejected.

The resolution was agreed to—yeas 90; nays 1.

On motion of Mr. WADDILL the vote was recorded as follows :

YEAS—Messrs. Speaker, Allensworth, D. W. Anderson, W. A. Anderson, Arnold, Ash, Baldwin, Barbour, Baskerville, Bristow, Goodman Brown, John A. NAYS—A. Moore, Jr.—1.

Mr. BUFORD moved to reconsider the vote by which the resolution was agreed to; which motion was rejected.

On motion of Mr. BUFORD,

Resolved, That the use of the hall of the House of Delegates for to-morrow evening be granted to the Hon. Sir John Hambleton, Hon. Halley Stuart, and the Hon. Wm. Randall Cremer, members of the British Parliament, for the presentation of their views on the subject of international arbitration.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the auditor of public accounts, in relation to applications for aid as a disabled soldier or marine, which have been approved. (Document No. 2.)

The following were presented and referred under rule 37:

By Mr. McCANDLISH: A bill to exempt from taxation twenty-five hundred dollars worth of property of persons laboring under extreme physical dismemberment. Referred to the committee on finance.

By Mr. BRISTOW: Petitions of citizens residing on Rappahannock river praying that the law regulating the measurement of oysters bought and sold in the shell be amended. Referred to the committee on the Chesapeake and its tributaries.

By Mr. BRISTOW: A bill to amend and re-enact section 15 of an act entitled an act for the preservation of oysters, and to obtain revenue therefrom for the privilege of taking them in the waters of the commonwealth, approved March 4th, 1884. Referred to the committee on the Chesapeake and its tributaries.

By Mr. ECHOLS: A bill for the protection and benefit of owners and keepers of stallions and bulls in the State of Virginia. Referred to the committee on propositions and grievances.

By Mr. STARKE: Petition of Richard D. James, contesting the right of P. W. SCOTT to a seat in the House of Delegates as a delegate from Goochland county. Referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

By Mr. PARR: A bill to authorize the school trustees of Patrick county, to use county school funds for district school purposes. Referred to the committee on schools and colleges.

On motion of Mr. HUFFMAN, the House adjourned until to-morrow at twelve o'clock M.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1887.

Prayer by Rev. W. A. Campbell, of the Presbyterian church.

On motion of Mr. CRISMOND, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

Mr. RYAN offered the following concurrent resolution:

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the two houses of the General Assembly will proceed on this day, at half past twelve o'clock P. M., to elect an auditor of public accounts, second auditor, treasurer, secretary of the commonwealth, railroad commissioner, superintendent of public printing, superintendent of the penitentiary, and commissioner of agriculture; and this shall be the order and continuing order until completed.

—Which was agreed to.

Mr. RYAN moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the resolution was agreed to; which motion was rejected.

Ordered, That Mr. RYAN carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate by Mr. Moore, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the resolution.

On motion of Mr. DABNEY,

Resolved, That the secretary of the commonwealth be requested to furnish each member of the House of Delegates, on application, with a copy of the Code of 1873 and with one copy of each of the published volumes of the Acts of Assembly since the date of said Code, to be returned to the secretary of the commonwealth at the end of the present session.

On motion of Mr. HAY,

Resolved, That when this House adjourns to-day, it adjourns to meet on Monday next, at twelve o'clock M.

Mr WADDILL offered the following resolution :

Whereas, the recent message of the President of the United States, under pretext of revenue reform, practically recommends free trade in this country, which would in effect break up our manufacturing industries, paralyze the business interests of the country generally, and pauperize the laboring classes ; and,

Whereas, the adoption of such a policy would be specially detrimental to the material interests of Virginia ; therefore,

Be it resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That our senators in Congress be directed, and our representatives be requested to oppose any and all measures looking to the reduction of the tariff duties of the country whereby the business and material interests of Virginia would be injuriously affected, and, especially, that they be requested to oppose all measures looking to the removal of the duty upon such raw materials as iron-ore, coal, lumber, sumac, wool and other products of Virginia.

The House referred the resolution to the committee on federal relations and resolutions—yeas 57 ; nays 36.

On motion of Mr. WADDILL the vote was recorded as follows :

YEAS—Messrs. Speaker, Allensworth, D. W. Anderson, W. A. Anderson, Arnold, Barbour, Carter, Catlett, Coleman, Counts, Crawford, Crismond, Curtis, Dabney, Dupuy, Echols, Edmondson, Edwards, Ewell, Figgatt, Flood, Gordon, Graves, J. S. RULES

For the government of the Senate and House of Delegates when convened in Joint Assembly for the election of a Senator in Congress:

1. At the hour fixed for the meeting of the Joint Assembly, the senators, accompanied by the PRESIDENT of the Senate and the clerk of the Senate, shall proceed to the hall of the House of Delegates, and shall be received by the delegates standing. The SPEAKER shall vacate his chair, which shall be taken by the PRESIDENT of the Senate. Appropriate seats shall be assigned to the senators by the sergeant-at-arms of the House.

2. The PRESIDENT of the Senate shall be the president of the Joint Assembly, in case it shall be necessary for him to vacate the chair, his place shall be taken by the SPEAKER of the House, or in case of his absence, by such members of the Joint Assembly as the PRESIDENT may designate.

3. The clerk of the House shall be the clerk of the Joint Assembly, and shall be assisted by the clerk of the Senate. He shall enter the proceedings of the Joint Assembly in the Journal of the House, and shall certify the same to the clerk of the Senate, who shall also enter them on the Journal of the Senate.

4. The sergeant-at-arms, doorkeepers and pages of the House shall act as such for the Joint Assembly.

5. The rules of the House of Delegates, so far as applicable shall be the rules of the Joint Assembly.

6. When the Joint Assembly first meets, as provided by the acts of Congress, the Journal of the Senate and House of Delegates for the preceding day shall be read. If, when the Journals shall be read, it shall appear that the same person shall have received a majority of the votes in each house for the senator, the result shall be declared by the PRESIDENT.

7. If no person shall have received a majority in each house, the Joint Assembly shall then proceed to vote viva voce for a senator, as provided in the act of Congress; and no motion for adjournment shall be in order on any day until at least one such vote shall have been taken.

8. In calling the roll of the Joint Assembly the names of the senators shall be called first in alphabetical order, and then the names of the delegates in like order, except that the name of the SPEAKER of the House shall be called last.

9. When the election shall be made as required, the Joint Assembly shall adjourn sine die, and the result shall be certified by the PRESIDENT and clerk of the Joint Assembly to the governor.

10. If no election shall be made, the Joint Assembly, when it adjourns, shall adjourn to meet at twelve o'clock M. on the succeeding day.

11. If when the Joint Assembly meets, it shall be ascertained that a majority of each house is not present, the Joint Assembly may take measures to secure attendance of absentees, or adjourn until the succeeding day, as a majority of them present may determine.

12. When the Joint Assembly adjourns, the senators, accompanied by the PRESIDENT of the Senate and clerk of the Senate, shall return to their chamber. The SPEAKER of the House shall resume the chair, and the business of the House shall be proceeded with in the same order as when it was interrupted by the entrance of the senators.

The House refused to refer the joint rules to a committee.

The joint rules were agreed to.

Mr. GORDON moved to reconsider the vote by which the joint rules were agreed to; which motion was rejected.

Ordered, That Mr. GORDON carry the joint rules to the Senate and request their concurrence.

On motion of Mr. HAY, the House adjourned until to-morrow at twelve o'clock M.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1887.

On motion of Mr. CRISMOND, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

Mr. MAYO, delegate-elect from the counties of Northumberland and Westmoreland, was sworn in by the clerk.

The following House bill, reported from the committee for courts of justice, was read a first time:

No. 1. House bill to amend and re-enact sections 4202, 4203 and 4204 of the act entitled an act to revise, arrange and consolidate into a Code the general statutes of the commonwealth, approved May 16th, 1887.

A message was received from the Senate by Mr. Heaton, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to a joint resolution returning the thanks of the General Assembly to the Hon. Rufus A. Ayers, attorney-general of the State, John Scott, attorney for the commonwealth of Fauquier county, and J. B. McCabe, commonwealth's attorney for the county of Loudoun, for the firm stand assumed by them for having the validity tested of the late order of the United States court of the Eastern district of Virginia, made by the Hon. Hugh L. Bond, judge of the circuit; in which they respectfully request the concurrence of the House.

The Senate joint resolution was read twice.

Mr. RYAN moved a suspension of the rule requiring its reference to a committee; which motion was rejected, not two-thirds of those present voting in the affirmative.

The Senate joint resolution was referred to the committee on federal relations and resolutions.

Mr. DAINGERFIELD presented a report of John A. Parker, agent for the State of Virginia, for the collection of the claim of Virginia vs. the United States for advancements made for the war of 1812. (House Document No. 3.)

The report was referred to the committee on finance.

The SPEAKER, by request, transferred Mr. DICKEY from the committee on privileges and elections to the committee on executive expenditures, and Mr. TREAT from the committee on executive expenditures to the committee on privileges and elections.

Mr. MARTIN requested that he be excused from service on the committees of the House to which he had been assigned; which request the House refused to grant.

Leave of absence was granted Messrs. CORBETT, one day, and HERBERT, two days.

Mr. WADDILL offered a resolution appointing a committee to investigate the causes and circumstances of the removal from office of Randolph Harrison, commissioner of agriculture.

The SPEAKER stated that in his opinion the resolution was out of order, because in his judgment it had no connection with the duties of the House, and did not propose any investigation which was within the province of the House to make, besides the resolution stated what was not a fact as to the removal of an officer, and therefore ruled it out of order.

Mr. WADDILL appealed from the decision of the chair, the question being, shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the House? was put and decided in the affirmative—yeas 53; nays 33.

On motion of Mr. WADDILL, the vote was recorded as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Allensworth, D. W. Anderson, Arnold, Baldwin, Barbour, Buford, Carter, Cartlett, Coleman, Counts, Crawford, Crismond, Curtis, Dabney, Dupuy, Echols, Edmondson, Edwards, Ewell, Figgatt, Flood, Gordon, Graves, J. S. The committee on officers and offices at the capitol, have according to order, had under consideration a resolution to them referred to inquire into the expediency of abolishing the office of register of the land office, and have come to the following resolution :

Resolved, That it is inexpedient to abolish the said office.

—Came up.

A communication from the Governor was read, as follows :

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
Richmond, Va., Dec. 17, 1887. }

To the Legislature :

In my recent message I recommended that the office of the register of land office be abolished, in order to save the State the expense of a useless office, and that the records and books be turned over to the second auditor's office.

I based such recommendations on the fact, that in the opinion of the second auditor (given at my request), no addition to the clerical force now in his office will be necessary, after the bulk of the funding has been completed.

The following figures are given :

PRESENT PLAN.

Salary of register of land office	-	-	-	$1,500
Seven policemen, at $65 per month, is per annum	-	-	-	5,460

ON THE PROPOSED PLAN.

Six policemen, at $65 per month, is per year	-	-	$4,680
One chief-of-police and superintendent of public buildings, at $85 per month, is per annum	-	-	1,020
Total,	-	-	$5,700

The expense account of the State would thus be ultimately diminished by $1,260 per annum.

FITZHUGH LEE.

Senate joint resolution as follows:

Resolved (the House of Delegates concurring), That the thanks of this General Assembly are extended to the Hon. Rufus A. Ayers, attorney-general of the State; John Scott, attorney for the commonwealth of Fauquier county, and J. B. McCabe, commonwealth's attorney for the county of Loudoun, for the firm stand assumed by them for having the validity tested of the late order of the United States court for the Eastern district of Virginia, made by the Hon. Hugh L. Bond, judge of the circuit, fining and imprisoning them for alleged contempt of court while engaged in the legitimate exercise of their official duties imposed by law for the enforcement and collection of the taxes due this commonwealth.

Resolved, That they are congratulated for the course adopted by them which, although having subjected them to temporary incarceration in jail, so far from being a subject of mortification and disgrace, was a position of honor and distinction, and they are further to be congratulated and held up to approval and endorsement in having brought about a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which finally settles the question of the power and authority of the Federal judiciary over the States of this Union in accordance with the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the land.

Resolved, That the governor of this commonwealth be requested to communicate the passage of the above resolutions to the State officials above named, and cause a copy to be transmitted to them with such remarks as he may deem pertinent.

—Came up.

Mr. WADDILL offered an amendment in the nature of a substitute as follows :

Whereas, The doctrines embodied in the recent decision of the Hon. H. L. Bond, United States circuit judge for this district, in imprisoning certain of our State officers, are exactly what the present majority party on this floor (under the then name of the funder party), advocated for years, and the said decision being the legitimate outcome and result of such doctrines; therefore, be it

1. Resolved, That the majority on the floor owe an apology to the people of Virginia for the injury done to them and the State for ever having advocated such pernicious doctrines, and such apology is here humbly made.

2. That while duly appreciating the gravity of the situation whereby a State official should be imprisoned by a Federal judge, we, nevertheless, feel it our duty to say to the gentlemen who have been unfortunately imprisoned, that they are, under the circumstances, but suffering from the folly of their friends, who for so many years inculcated such doctrines in the community.

The SPEAKER ruled the substitute offered by Mr. WADDILL out of order.

Mr. WADDILL appealed from the decision of the chair.

The question being shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the House, was put and decided in the affirmative—yeas 62; nays 18.

NAYS—Messrs. Ash, Baskerville, Bristow, Elam, Evans, Herring, Jarratt, Jones, McCandlish, Montague, Wm. L. Moore, Riner, Roane, Robinson, Scott, Treat, Waddill, Webb—18.

Mr. FIGGATT moved the pending question.

Mr. WADDILL moved to pass by the motion by Mr. FIGGATT.

The SPEAKER ruled the motion by Mr. WADDILL out of order, rule No. 65 requiring that the motion for the pending question shall be forthwith put to the House.

Mr. WADDILL appealed from the decision of the chair.

to empower treasurers to receive from tax-payers who tendered coupons for taxes for the year 1886, payment thereof in money, in which they respectfully request the concurrence of the House.

The joint resolution was read twice and placed on the calendar, the rule having been suspended, on motion of Mr. FIGGATT, requiring its reference to a committee.

A report from the committee on privileges and elections was presented as follows :

The committee on privileges and elections, to whom was referred the petition and papers in the contested election case of R. D. James against P. W. Scott, from the county of Goochland, respectfully report the following facts and conclusions :

First. It is an admitted fact that the sitting member, P. W. Scott, was not, at the time of the legislative election—to-wit, November the 8th, 1887,—a citizen of the United States, but was a subject of Great Britain.

Second. That since said election and before the convening of the General Assembly on December the 7th inst., he has been by an order of the United States district and for the Eastern district of Virginia duly naturalized and declared a citizen of the United States.

Third. That at the election held for members of the General Assembly for the county of Goochland on the 8th day of November last, said P. W. Scott received 898 votes and R. D. James received 745 votes. The notice of contest seems to have been properly given and the depositions regularly taken.

Upon these admitted facts the contestant, R. D. James, claims (1) that the contestee, P. W. Scott, is not entitled to a seat upon the floor of the House of Delegates, and (2) that he, the contestant, is entitled to such seat as a delegate from the county of Goochland.

These two claims will be disposed of in order.

The Constitution of Virginia defining the qualifications of a member of the House of Delegates declares—article V., section 5—“Any person may be elected a member of the House of Delegates who, at the time of election, is actually a resident within the county, city, town or election district, qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, according to this Constitution;” and article III., section 1 of the Constitution makes citizenship of the United States requisite to voting, from which it plainly appears that a person to be eligible to a seat in the House of Delegates must be entitled to vote at the time of his election. It is admitted that P. W. Scott was not entitled to vote on November the 8th, 1887. Such disqualification existing at the time of election disqualifies a person from occupying a seat, and such disability cannot be cured or removed after such election and before the term of office begins. But if this did not so plainly appear from the plain language of our Constitution, authorities are not lacking in support of our view. We cite Cushing on the Law of Legislative Proceedings, section 78, and Searcy vs. Grew, 15 California Reports, page 117.

We are therefore clearly of opinion that P. W. Scott is not entitled to a seat as a member of the House of Delegates.

It appears that Mr. R. D. James, the contestant, rests his claim to a seat solely upon the legal result of the ineligibility of P. W. Scott, who, although receiving a majority of the votes, is ineligible, and that the votes cast for him are void and should be considered nullities, and as though they never had been cast.

In support of this view of the case, the learned counsel for the contestant has referred to a large number of English authorities going to establish his contention, and to several American authorities tending to establish the same principle.

But your committee is of opinion that the principle applicable in a government like ours, based upon the theory that power emanates from the people, is totally at variance with the British government, that power originates with the monarch, and that the privilege allowed the people to select representatives is a concession rather than an inherent right, and think that little weight should be given to the English authorities bearing on this question. And your committee find an overwhelming weight of authorities, both in the American text-books and reported cases, sustaining the proposition that a majority, or at least a plurality, of votes cast at any election shall be required to elect a person to office by popular vote. Mr. McCrary, in his work on elections, Sec. 234, says: "An election with us is the deliberate choice of a majority or plurality of the electors. Any doctrine which opens the way for minority rule in any case, is anti-Republican and anti-American. The English rule, adhered to, would in many cases result in compelling very large majorities to submit to very small minorities, as an ineligible person may receive, and in many cases has received, a great majority of votes. It is enough in such case to hold the election void." The same doctrine is held by Mr. Brighety in a note to Commonwealth vs. Cluley (56 Penn. State Reports, 270), at page 150, in his Leading Cases on Elections. The same doctrine has been adopted and approved in both branches of Congress. See Smith vs. Brown, 2 Bartlett, 395, where an able report was submitted by Mr. Dawes, then chairman of the committee of elections of the House of Representatives; and also the case of Ransom vs. Abbott, Senate Election Cases 1789, 1885, page 338, where the report maintaining the same doctrine was adopted by a vote of 42 to 10.

Therefore, your committee, after full examination and consideration, have unanimously reached the conclusion that the contestant, R. D. James, is not entitled to a seat on the floor of the House of Delegates, and they recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the seat on the floor of the House of Delegates of the member from the county of Goochland be, and the same is, hereby declared vacant.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY R. POLLARD, Chairman.

Mr. STARKE moved that the report be passed by and ordered to be printed; which motion was rejected.

The report of the committee was agreed to—yeas 68; nays 2.

On motion of Mr. RYAN, the vote was recorded as follows:

The hour of 12 o'clock M. having arrived, which being the hour, according to an act of Congress entitled "an act to regulate the times and manner of holding elections for senators in Congress," for the meeting of the members of the two houses in Joint Assembly for the election of a senator in Congress, the Senate of Virginia entered the hall of the House of Delegates, preceded by the president of the Senate and the clerk of the Senate. Whereupon the president of the Senate, in accordance with a joint rule, assumed the chair and called the Joint Assembly to order.

Under the instructions of the PRESIDENT of the Joint Assembly, the clerk of the Joint Assembly read the rules for the government of the Senate and House of Delegates when convened in Joint Assembly for the election of a senator in Congress.

The Journal of the Senate of yesterday was read, from which it appeared that John S. Barbour had received 26 votes (being a majority of all the votes cast) for senator in the Congress of the United States from the State of Virginia, for the term of six years, commencing on March 4, 1889.

The Journal of the House of Delegates of yesterday was read, from which it appeared that John S. Barbour had received 61 votes (being a majority of all the votes cast) for senator in the Congress of the United States from the State of Virginia, for the term of six years, commencing on March 4, 1889.

The PRESIDENT of the Joint Assembly then declared that John S. Barbour, having received a majority of all the votes cast in each house, was duly elected a senator in the Congress of the United States, from the State of Virginia, for the term of six years, commencing on March 4, 1889.

On motion of Mr. Hurt, the Joint Assembly adjourned sine die.

The SPEAKER assumed the chair.

Mr. WEST moved to amend the bill by striking out "twenty-seventh" wherever it appears and insert in lieu thereof "first"; pending which,

On motion of Mr. FLOOD, the bill was recommitted to the committee for courts of justice.

Senate joint resolution as follows:

Resolved (the House of Delegates concurring), That any bondholder who may wish to fund his securities by or before the 31st day of December, 1887, shall be at liberty to list them with the second auditor for funding as of said last named date, provided satisfactory evidence shall be furnished the second auditor before the 1st day of February, 1888, that the said securities had been shipped for funding not later than the 31st day of December, 1887.

—Came up.

On motions severally made by Mr. POLLARD the Senate joint resolution was amended as follows :

Strike out "That any bondholder" and insert "That any bondholders representing not less than five million dollars of bonds."

Add as an independent section the following: "This resolution shall be in force from its passage."

The Senate joint resolution as amended was disagreed to.

Senate joint resolution as follows :

Resolved (the House of Delegates concurring), That the treasurers of the various counties and cities of the State be empowered to receive from tax-payers who tendered coupons for taxes for the year 1886 payment thereof in money, and said treasurers shall account therefor as required by law in relation to other taxes: Provided, that all costs which may have accrued in relation to said taxes shall also be paid.

—Came up.

On motion of Mr. HAY, the resolution was amended by adding as an independent section the following: "This resolution shall be in force from its passage."

On motion of Mr. BUFORD, the resolution was committed to the committee on finance.

The following House engrossed bills were read a third time and passed:

1. Resolved by the House of Delegates, That the superintendent of public buildings is hereby instructed to report what will be the cost of the removal of said elevator and the restoration of the vestibules and stairs as they formerly were ; and also where, inside or outside the edifice, if anywhere, the said elevator can be placed (and at what cost), without damage to the beauty, strength and the original design of said edifice.

The resolution was rejected.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the superintendent of public buildings, as follows :

RICHMOND, January 13, 1888.

TO HON. R. H. CARDWELL,

Speaker House of Delegates :

Sir,—In response to a resolution of your honorable body, directing an examination of the condition of the Washington monument, I respectfully beg leave to submit the following :

Upon careful personal inspection, accompanied by Messrs. Netherwood and Smith, both experts in stone work, I find the monument in fair condition and in no danger ; but some repairs should be done in the near future, such as pointing up the stone work, which will cost about $225. If a thorough cleaning of the monument is desired, it will cost about $350 additional, which I do not think needful.

Very respectfully,

J. A. WINGFIELD,

Register Land Office, &c.

Resolved, That the auditor of public accounts be directed to furnish this House with a detailed statement showing the amount of salary and mileage drawn by the respective circuit judges of this commonwealth for the years 1886 and 1887.

The resolution was agreed to.

The following report was presented:

On consideration of a joint resolution, with the accompanying amendment, both of which were referred to the joint library committee, the said committee make the following report:

The committee are of the opinion that the necessities of the State library, by reason of the books, maps and other library matter on hand and the continual increase of the same, require more ample accommodations.

The committee are also of the opinion that the present library accommodations are very insecure by reason of the danger from fire.

They therefore recommend the erection of a separate fire-proof library building, and ask for further instructions from the General Assembly on the subject.

Mr. DABNEY offered the following resolution:

Whereas it appears from the report of the auditor made pursuant to the act of May 23d, 1887, entitled an act to require proof of disability in order to obtain aid as a disabled soldier or marine; that there are only twenty counties from which applications for aid have been approved under said act.

And whereas it further appears from said report and from officially published lists of maimed and wounded soldiers, who have heretofore received State aid, that the number of applicants from some counties, whose claims have been approved, is out of all proportion to the number from other counties, population and other circumstances being considered.

And whereas it is proper that the State aid, contemplated in said act, should be equitably applied in all counties to all persons justly entitled thereto, and equally proper that no person in any county should have such aid unless entitled thereto under said act,

And whereas the facts, above recited, raise a strong presumption that there is either some defect in the act aforesaid or some fault in its administration and execution or both; therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of three members of the House be appointed, whose powers shall continue only during the present session of the General Assembly, and who shall receive no additional compensation for the duties hereby imposed upon them, who shall investigate the claims now on file in the auditor's office, under the act of May 23d, 1887, aforesaid, and who shall inquire into the causes of the disparity in the number of approved claims from the several counties from which claims have been made, and into the reasons why no claims have been made from so large a number of counties. And, if in prosecuting the inquiries aforesaid, said committee shall deem it necessary, they may visit any county or counties from which they have reason to think that improper claims have been allowed, and specially investigate the claims from such county or counties.

And said committee shall report to this House as soon as practicable.

—Which was agreed to.

Two days leave of absence was granted Mr. MONTAGUE, and Mr. CRAFT an indefinite leave.

Resolved, That the auditor of public accounts be instructed to report to this House the amounts due from the several treasurers of the counties and cities of the commonwealth on the revenues assessed in their several counties and corporations for the four years previous to the end of the last fiscal year, showing, separately, the years on which due, and stating what action, if any, in each case has been taken to collect the same.

The resolution was agreed to.

Mr. STARKE offered the following resolution:

Whereas, by the report of a special committee of the two Houses of the General Assembly of Virginia, who had been appointed to examine the State securities deposited in the basement offices of the capitol of Virginia, filed on the 22d day of March, 1887, it appears that large amounts of State bonds, &c., that had been paid by the State, amounting to the enormous sum of $1,096,399.47 remained uncanceled in one of the basement offices, all or nearly all of which, if abstracted, might have resulted in great loss to the State; and

Whereas many grave errors and omissions were discovered and reported by said committee; and

Whereas it also appears by said report that there have been various transactions which the books of officers do not explain; therefore,

Resolved, That the committee on finance of this House be instructed to inquire what legislation, if any, is necessary to protect the interest of the State against a recurrence of the evils and dangers aforesaid, and report by bill or otherwise.

The House refused to refer the resolution to a committee.

Whereas the frequency of elections in this State is a great evil, not only costly to the people in time and money, but in promoting all the heat, passion and strife so detrimental to good government and to the good feeling that should obtain among fellow-citizens; and

Whereas, if all our elections, State and Federal, were biennial and quadrennial, so that every other year would be without elections, giving the people a needed rest from political and party struggles and the animosities ensuing therefrom, a great public and private benefit, manifold in its blessings, would thereby be assured; and

Whereas both political parties in this State are committed by pledge and profession to the policy of a rest from elections every alternate year: therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates, That the committee for courts of justice be instructed, without delay, to prepare and report to this House such bills, resolutions and other measures as may be necessary to so amend our Constitution and laws as to give full effect to the policy indicated.

Resolved, That the said committee, in so far as their action shall not be in conflict with the Constitution, shall at once prepare and report a bill to this House conforming our elections, State, county and city, ward and district, as nearly as may be, to the policy above set forth.

The House refused to refer the resolution to a committee.

The resolution was agreed to.

Leave of absence was granted Messrs. JARRATT and MONTAGUE two days each.

The report of the committee on privileges and elections in the contested election case of J. E. Kilgro against G. W. Leggett, of the county of Princess Anne, was presented as follows:

To the House of Delegates of Virginia:

Your committee, to whom was referred the petition of James E. Kilgro, contesting the seat of George W. Leggett, the sitting member from the county of Princess Anne, beg leave to report that they have carefully considered the several grounds of contest stated in said petition.

All of these relate to alleged frauds and irregularities at the Courthouse precinct and Kempsville precinct. As far as the last named precinct is concerned the charges are not sustained by any evidence; but, in explanation of a failure to take evidence, the contestant's counsel stated before the committee that so much time was consumed in the taking of the depositions in reference to the irregularities at the Courthouse precinct, that the statutory limit expired before evidence could be taken in regard to Kempsville. Your committee deem this no sufficient excuse for a failure to take such testimony, as it was entirely legal for the contestant to have proceeded at different places at the same time to have taken evidence.

The charges in regard to the Courthouse precinct are as follows:

1st. That at the voting precinct of Princess Anne Courthouse, in the Seaboard district in said county, certain persons, whose names are set forth in said notice, and being 178 in number, were legally registered and qualified voters, lawfully entitled to cast their votes at said election at said voting precinct, and, being such, were so accepted, and cast their votes for your petitioner for said office on said 8th day of November; yet, notwithstanding said votes were so cast for me as aforesaid, by the official returns of said voting precinct your petitioner is credited with only 154 votes out of a total vote cast of 368; that had said votes of said persons been by the judges of election lawfully counted for your petitioner, the majority of said George W. Leggett over your petitioner at said voting precinct would have been only 12 instead of 60, with which said George W. Leggett is credited by said returns; and that out of the total vote of 368 only 190 were lawfully cast for said George W. Leggett, and all in excess thereof, counted for him, were illegally so counted.

2d. That at said voting precinct all of the judges of election (naming them) belonged to and openly affiliated with the Democratic party, of which said George W. Leggett was the candidate, and no one of them belonged to or affiliated with the Republican party, of which your petitioner was the candidate, although it was not only possible, but easily practicable, to appoint said judges of election of different political parties.

3d. That at said voting precinct a large number of illegal ballots, containing on their face only the name of George W. Leggett, and not designating the office to which he was intended to be chosen, were illegally cast and counted for said George W. Leggett, and that a further large number of the ballots cast at said precinct and counted for said George W. Leggett were so torn and mutilated as not to be in conformity with law.

To sustain the first charge a large number of persons voting at the Princess Anne Courthouse precinct are introduced as witnesses, to prove that they voted for or intended to vote for the contestant, James E. Kilgro, and in this way to falsify the returns of the judges of election, and thus to show that fraud was perpetrated by said judges in returning a larger number of votes for the contestee than he actually received. Of the 368 votes cast at the precinct, 187 are brought to the witness stand and say, substantially, that they voted, or intended to vote, for the contestant. Of these, 36 were white persons and 82 colored persons, who said that they could read and write; the remainder, 69 in number, all colored persons, could neither read nor write, and therefore could not speak positively as to whether they voted for the contestant or the contestee. Thus it will be seen that if all the persons examined who could read and write, and therefore capable of stating for whom they voted, were counted for the contestant, his vote at the precinct would have amounted to 118, whereas he is credited by the judges with having received 154 votes, or 36 votes more than the number who were able to swear positively that they voted for the contestant. This character of testimony is always to be accepted with the greatest caution, especially when given by illiterate and ignorant voters. People may be frequently found after an election is over who will state that they voted, or intended to vote, in a way different from that in which their ballots were actually cast. It is laid down by the authorities that the returns of the vote of a given precinct, made in due form, and signed by the proper officers, is the best evidence as to the state of the vote, and that before such a return can be set aside there must be clear proof that the proceedings in the conduct of the election, or in the return of the vote, are so tainted with fraud that the truth cannot be deduced from the returns. See McCrary on Elections, sections 436-8. In section 439, the same author says: "The ballots are the best evidence, when it is shown or conceded that they are the identical ballots, and all the ballots, deposited by legal voters; but when the question is whether fraudulent ballots have been deposited, or honest ballots abstracted, the ballots in the box are by no means the best evidence." In this case two packages, purporting to be the ballots cast in the late election at the two precincts above referred to were produced before the committee by the clerk of the county court of Princess Anne county, in obedience to an order of the committee, but these packages were not opened by the committee, for two reasons:

(1). Because there was no evidence tracing them from the custody of the judges of election to the clerk, thus excluding the idea of fraud; and (2). Because neither side, after the packages were produced, and actually before the committee asked for an inspection of them. Upon these state of facts, in the face of returns regular in all respects, and also, in the face of the evidence of the judges and clerks of election at the Princess Anne Courthouse precinct, your committee cannot presume fraud and the substitution of ballots, as charged by the contestant. They therefore conclude that the first charge in his petition is not sustained by the evidence.

In regard to the second ground, your committee is opinion, that though true, it does not justify the rejection of the precinct. While they think the failure of the two Democratic judges to appoint a Republican in place of the absent Republican judge is reprehensible, yet they have no right either to visit their misconduct upon the sitting member, or to disfranchise, practically, a whole community by refusing to count legal votes cast for the contestee at that precinct.

There is no proof to sustain the third charge put forth by the contestant, and of course it must fall.

We, therefore, recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

First. That the contestant, James E. Kilgro, is not entitled to a seat upon the floor of the House of Delegates.

Second. That George W. Leggett is entitled to the seat now occupied by him.

Respectfully reported,

HENRY R. POLLARD, Chairman.

On motion of Mr. MAYO, the report was passed by and ordered to be printed.

The report of the committee on privileges and elections in the case of A. M. McCLINTIC, of Bath, Alleghany and Highland was presented as follows:

The undersigned, members of the committee on privileges and elections, beg leave to submit the following report in the case of A. M. McClintic:

In this case your committee was directed to inquire into the eligibility of A. M. McClintic to a seat in this House as a member from the counties of Alleghany, Highland and Bath.

In the early part of the year 1879 A. M. McClintic lived with his wife and two bound children at Oak Hill, in the county of Bath, upon a farm which, it appears, he had purchased from his brother, but which he had not paid for. In March, 1879, McClintic resold or surrendered the said farm to his brother, but continued to reside upon it until March, 1880, as the tenant of his brother. On the 5th day of March, 1880, Charlotte A. McClintic, the wife of A. M. McClintic, rented or leased from her mother, Charlotte Thompson, a farm lying in the county of Botetourt; and the said Charlotte A. McClintic, together with the two bound children above-mentioned, at once left Oak Hill, in the county of Bath, and removed to said farm in the county of Botetourt. The said Charlotte, by inheritance and purchase, has become the owner of a considerable portion of the farm so leased, and has continuously resided upon the same since March, 1880, but occasionally has visited in the counties of Alleghany, Bath and Highland during that time. The relations between said McClintic and wife appear to have always been of the most pleasant character, and a separation has never been desired or for a moment thought of by them. According to the testimony of McClintic, he declared at the time of his wife's removal to Botetourt that his business was of such a character that he could not and would not go to Botetourt county to live, but that he would not object to his wife going. He appears to have voted, ever since the breaking up of his home at Oak Hill, at the voting precinct near Oak Hill, in Bath county. He testifies that he considers Oak Hill his home.

He is interested in the mercantile business at Mountain Grove, in Bath county; owns some unimproved land in Bath county; owns a store-house and carries on, on his own account, the mercantile business at Edray, in Pocahontas county, W. Va. (at which last-named place he keeps a furnished room and employs a cook); has a room rented at Oak Hill, in Bath county, from Harper McGloughlin, who now owns and resides on the Oak Hill farm, which room he has the right to occupy when at Oak Hill, but which McGloughlin uses at other times. He has business interests at Covington, Alleghany county, and Fudge & McClintic sell liquor in Botetourt county, which business he (McClintic) looks after. His life appears to be spent at the various places above named and with his wife in Botetourt, about as much at one place as another, and his time is spent in looking after his business at these various points and in trading in horses and cattle.

He testifies that his intention has been to retain his residence in Bath county, and a number of witnesses prove that they have heard him make declarations to that effect, while three witnesses—W. E. Smith, the barkeeper for Fudge & McClintic at Covington, Robert N. Skeen and R. H. Davis, a man who was formerly a conductor on the Richmond and Alleghany railroad—testify that they have heard him speak of Botetourt as his home—that is, when going toward Botetourt they have heard him say he was going home, and when returning they have heard him say he had been home. He left at the house at Oak Hill, in Bath county, when breaking up there, some articles of household furniture, which he allows Harper McGloughlin to use upon condition that he (McGloughlin) pay the taxes on the same.

It should be further stated that McClintic and wife have no children, and that since the removal of the wife to Botetourt the bound children have gone to Texas. He lists a horse and cow for taxation in Bath, and pays his capitation tax there. It is further in proof by McClintic and Miss Lacy, that, at the time his wife left Bath for Bote-tourt county, he said to her substantially: "You have nursed my sick mother, now she is dead, and your mother is sick and needs you. I can't object to your going, but I can't go with you, for my business interests are such I can't leave Bath county." Mrs. McClintic's mother has been dead about two years, and Mrs. McClintic still lives there.

The Constitution of Virginia, article 5, section 5, provides that, "any person may be elected a member of the House of Delegates who, at the time of election, is actually a resident within the county, city, town or election district, qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly according to this Constitution."

The report adopted by this House in the case of Reynolds vs. Bolling, interprets this constitutional requirement as follows: "The required illegibility is two-fold—first, a citizen entitled to vote; second, a residence actual at the time of election, not constructive. And it is manifest that the distinction between qualification of voters and qualification for members of the Legislature, was carefully made. A citizen may be a suffragan (having once acquired the privilege), though not actually, bodily, a resident; but he must be both an elector and living within the limits of his county at the time of his election, to be fitted for a representative of the people. That the framers of the Constitution intended the express meaning of this provision, is conclusively demonstrated by section 2, article 3, which reads: 'That all elections shall be by ballot, and persons entitled to vote shall be eligible to any office within the gift of the people, except as restricted in this Constitution.'" House Journal, 1883-'4, page 229. This interpretation appears most reasonable, for unless something more than to be a voter is required in the qualification of a member of this House, why is it said in the Constitution that a resident shall be entitled to vote, but of a member of the House of Delegates that he must be actually a resident within his county, &c.

"A man retains his domicile if he leaves it animo revertendi," and thus he may retain his residence for the purpose of voting, while actually, in point of fact, his dwelling place is outside of the county in which he is a voter, and of which he is constructively a resident by virtue of his intention to return, but actual residence as distinguished from this constructive residence, is requisite to render a man eligible to a seat in this House.

Cooley on Con. Lim., page 755, says: "The words 'inhabitant,' 'citizen' and 'resident,' as employed in different constitutions to define qualifications of electors, mean substantially the same thing, and one is an inhabitant, citizen or resident, where he has his domicile or home."

If A. M. McClintic has any domicile or home within either of the counties named, it is, according to his own evidence, at Oak Hill, the house of Harper McGloughlin, in the county of Bath.

Bouveir defines domicile as being, "That place where a man has his true, fixed and permanent home and principal establishment, and to which whenever he is absent he has the intention of returning." Law Dic., 555.

The wife of A. M. McClintic lives in the county of Botetourt, on land which she owns. There has been no separation between Mr. McClintic and his wife, and it is shown that the relations existing between them are of the most pleasant character. The only house that Mr. McClintic owns, and his principal individual business, is at Edray, in West Virginia, and at this last-named place he keeps a furnished room and employs a cook. He has an interest in a store at Mountain Grove, in Bath county, some distance from Oak Hill, the house of Harper McGloughlin, and in a different election district. He does not claim his home at this place. All the property that Mr. McClintic has at Harper McGloughlin's is some articles of household furniture which he and his wife left there when they broke up their home at that place in the year 1880. He has been at Harper McGloughlin's, upon his own evidence, once a month during the last seven years, and has no business interests whatever at that place. He has a room rented in McGloughlin's house, which he has the right to occupy when there, which he does not carry the key to, and which McGloughlin uses in his absence. In view of these facts, is the true, fixed and permanent home and principal establishment of A. M. McClintic at the house of McGloughlin? And although he may intend that such place shall be his home, has he been such an actual resident at this place as is contemplated by the Constitution? We think not.

In the case of Cessua vs. Myers, in the Congress of the United States, it is said: "The place where a man's property is, where his family is, the place to which he goes back from time whenever no temporary occasion calls him elsewhere, where the permanent and ordinary business of his life is conducted, that is to the ordinary man the place of his home." McCrary on Elections, 499. With the exceptions of the articles of furniture referred to, and on which McGloughlin pays the tax, Mr. McClintic has no property at McGloughlin's; he has a wife, but not there; he does not carry on any business there. When asked where he went to stay when he had spare time, McClintic answered; If my wife is in West Virginia I go to see her; if she happens to be in Botetourt I go there to see her. See record, page 64.

Tried by this test, we do not find one single evidence of the home of Mr. McClintic at the house of McGloughlin; and, what is more important in the just and proper settlement of this case, the proof utterly fails to show that he actually resides at this place; but, on the other hand, it shows that his life is a wandering one; that his business interests are chiefly beyond and without the district which he here represents, and as a consequence there is wanting that unity of thought and purpose and interest with that constituency which the framers of the Constitution contemplated when they embodied that requirement in the qualification of a member of the General Assembly, that he should be actually a resident within the county,

&c. The animus revertendi cannot apply in this case. While it may avail to entitle him to vote at the place of his alleged home, the fact of an intention to return precludes the idea of present actual residence.

We, therefore, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the seat of the member from the counties of Alleghany, Highland and Bath be declared vacant.

J. E. MOORE,
HENRY R. POLLARD.
ROBERT I. SIMPSON,
JOSEPH HOBSON,
J. F. RYAN.

Mr. TREAT, from the committee on privileges and elections, presented a minority report in the contested election case of J. E. Kilgroe against G. W. Leggett, of Princess Anne, as follows :

The undersigned, members of the committee on privileges and elections, being unable to agree with the conclusion arrived at by a majority of the committee, beg leave to submit the following report :

George W. Leggett was returned as the duly elected member of the House of Delegates from the county of Princess Anne by a majority of only two (2). To obtain this result a majority of 60 was given him at Princess Anne Courthouse. At that precinct only 154 votes were returned as given for his opponent, the contestant, James E. Kilgro; whereas Kilgro actually received, according to the evidence taken in this case, 188 votes, which is verified by the individual sworn testimony of the 188 voters themselves, and further corroborated by one J. T. Brown, who was the only ticket-holder at that precinct for the Republican party on the 8th day of November, from whom these witnesses testify they received their ticket. The testimony of J. T. Brown is positive that he issued no tickets that day except those which had the name of James E. Kilgro on them. Of the 188 witnesses examined, 36 were intelligent white citizens; the remaining 152 were colored, of whom 82, who could read and write, testified positively that they voted for James E. Kilgro. The remaining 69 colored witnesses, who could not read nor write, base their testimony on the fact that J. T. Brown was the only ticket-holder, and in many instances these tickets were reread by friends of the voters to satisfy them that they were voting the Republican ticket with the name of James E. Kilgro on it. This evidence is further supplemented by Daniel Harris, who kept a tally-sheet of the colored vote, and swears positive to at least 140 of the 152 colored voters having voted for James E. Kilgro. Coupled with this evidence, which stands uncontroverted, the evidence of the 69 uneducated voters is conclusive.

Had these votes been counted at this precinct as they were cast, James E. Kilgro would have received a majority of 8, which would have given him a majority of 66 from the county of Princess Anne.

But if the vote at that precinct were thrown out, as we think it should be, on account of the most glaring frauds practiced by the judges of election, which the evidence fully sustains, although it was not only possible, but easily practicable, to appoint a Republican judge, James E. Kilgro would be elected by a majority of 58. We shall confine ourselves mainly to this precinct, because the evidence taken to sustain the charges of fraud at Kempsville precinct was interrupted before completion by reason of the time having expired for the taking of depositions.

The fact that the law prohibits those other than the judges and clerks of election from being present at the time of opening the ballot-box and counting the ballots to ascertain whether they correspond with the number of names on the poll-books, compels us to rely exclusively upon the testimony of the judges and clerks, all of whom belonged to and affiliated with the Democratic party.

It is in the evidence undisputed that immediately representatives from each political party were admitted to the room to witness the canvassing of the votes ; that a piece of paper was picked up (Exhibit A., page 289) which shows that a computation had been made, and that the figures so used on the paper is but additional proof of the fraud. The evidence of A. E. Kellam (page 287), and further corroborated by that of E. V. Atwood (page 286), J. H. Caffee (page 283), and L. J. E. Kellam (page 280), is so concise as that to our minds it leaves no room to doubt the fraud.

Contestee, through the aid of counsel and one witness, attempts to explain this by the fact that the Republican ballot being of a different size from the Democratic ballots, that the calculation was made on that scale.

The evidence of Moses C. Shipp (page 270), a Democratic judge, on cross-examination :

Question.—Did you take any (ballots) out yourself, and how many ?

Answer.—I could not tell how many ; we were all taking out together one at a time.

This evidence not being refuted but makes the case more strongly confirmative that the calculation was not attained during the process of the verification of the poll-books, as all the judges were taking from the ballot-box at the same time.

But the testimony of Wm. L. Brown (page 264 and 265), one of the Democratic clerks of election, proves conclusively that the fraud was then consummated.

Upon being cross-examined twice, he at each time reiterated the statement, that all the ballots were opened before the representatives from the different political parties were admitted, while Moses C. Shipp further testifies that the ballots were not laid in piles.

As to Kempsville precinct, while the frauds are equally as glaring, the testimony of Miles Freeman (page 217, 218, 219), the duly appointed Republican judge of election for that precinct, is that he arrived at the voting place before sunrise and went into the room for the purpose of being sworn in as a judge. No votes having been cast at that time, and it being before or at sunrise, that he was told by one of the Democratic judges, Mr. Baxter, that he didn't need him and to "get out," and having sworn in another judge who was a Democrat, in defiance of the law, and against the request of the duly appointed Republican judge who was there in the time prescribed by law. We maintain that the evidence makes the demand in this case imperative ; that the charges of fraud having been sustained at the Courthouse precinct, and on account of the gross irregularities which existed at the Kempsville precinct, are such that the vote of both precincts should be thrown out, which would give James E. Kilgro a majority to a seat in this body from the county of Princess Anne.

The following resolutions are respectfully submitted :

Resolved, That Geo. W. Leggett is not entitled to a seat in this body from the county of Princess Anne.

Resolved, That James E. Kilgro is entitled to a seat in this body from the county of Princess Anne.

MORGAN TREAT,
J. B. WEBB,
RO. M. MAYO,
B. BASKERVILLE, JR.,
L. C. BRISTOW.

On motion of Mr. TREAT, the minority report was passed by and ordered to be printed.

A report from the committee on privileges and elections in the contested election case of D. R. Love against J. W. Overby, of the county of Lunenburg, as follows :

To the House of Delegates :

The committee on privileges and elections, to whom was referred the contested election case from the county of Lunenburg, in which D. R. Love is contestant for the seat now occupied in this body by J. W. Overby, respectfully report as follows :

At the general election, held November 8, 1887, for member of the House of Delegates for the county of Lunenburg, Mr. Overby, the sitting member, was the candidate of the Democratic party, and Mr. D. R. Love the candidate of the Republican party.

The county of Lunenburg had nine voting precincts, and the votes actually cast at them were as follows :

				Overby.	Love.
Courthouse,	-	-	-	67	125
Knight & Oliver's,	-	-	-	44	61
Brown's Store,	-	-	-	171	172
Pleasant Grove,	-	-	-	115	98
Rehobeth,	-	-	-	67	68
Plantersville,	-	-	-	80	23
Meherrin,	-	-	-	41	43
Haskins' Store,	-	-	-	122	111
Columbian Grove,	-	-	-	102	119

So that, upon the vote actually cast, Mr. Love, the contestant, was elected by 11 majority.

When the board of county canvassers assembled to canvass the returns from the various precincts, all the returns were found satisfactory to them except those from Columbian Grove precinct.

The returns from that precinct were informal in the following particulars: The oaths taken by the judges and clerks were signed, but not attested by any person, and the certificate of votes cast for the several candidates was not signed by any of the judges or clerks.

The county board of canvassers summoned the judges and clerks to appear before them and correct their returns. The judges and one of the clerks did appear before the board of canvassers, but for some reason satisfactory to themselves they would not sign the returns, and the board of canvassers then proceeded to canvass the returns from the other precincts, which footed up 707 votes for the sitting member, and 701 votes for Mr. Love, which was duly certified, and the certificate was issued to Mr. Overby.

Mr. Love contested, and we are clearly of the opinion, from the evidence in the cause, that he is entitled to have the poll at the Columbian Grove precinct counted in his favor. It is unnecessary to discuss the action of the judges and clerks at Columbian Grove precinct in first failing to make proper returns and then refusing to put their returns in proper shape. They were all duly sworn, but it is claimed by them that their action in failing to certify the returns in due form in the first instance was through inadvertence, and not from design. The reason assigned by them for refusing to correct their returns when called upon to do so was that some question had been raised after the election as to whether they were the lawful judges. It appears that on the morning of the election one or more of the regularly appointed judges at the precinct were not present at sunrise, and that the judges who acted were sworn in, and proceeded with the election before an hour after sunrise had elapsed. Of the three judges and two clerks who acted four were friends of Mr. Overby. There is not only no sufficient evidence that any fraud was practiced there, but the concurrent testimony of all parties is to the effect that the votes were honestly received, cast and counted at this precinct, and that, in truth and in fact, Mr. Love received at that precinct 119 votes and Mr. Overby 102. The men who give this statement are not partisans of Mr. Love. They are, without exception, his political opponents.

There was some testimony to the effect that persons other than the election officers were admitted into the voting place during the day, and that an outsider aided in the count of the ballots. Exactly at what stage of the count this was done was not clear, but it seems that it was done after the first count was had and two ballots had been drawn out to make the ballots tally with the polled list of voters. The ballots drawn out were both for Mr. Love; and afterwards, there being two ballots folded together, they were destroyed and a third ballot was drawn, it also being a loss to Mr. Love. But there was no serious attempt in any of the testimony taken to cast a doubt upon the truth of the vote as it was counted, and the witnesses who mentioned these irregularities refused, without exception, to say that they believed or had any reason to believe that any fraud or irregularity was practiced at the precinct.

The action of the judges in allowing any person other than themselves to handle or count the ballots cannot be too strongly condemned, and if there was evidence tending to prove that fraud was committed by such person, we should refuse to count the vote at the precinct. But in the absence of such evidence we do not feel authorized to reject the poll on that ground.

The other and more serious question, raised in the record, is as to the effect upon the election of the acting of judges not regularly appointed or authorized to act as such. While it is not claimed that these judges were such de jure, it is insisted that they were not mere usurpers, whose acts would be void, but judges de facto, whose acts must be respected as binding upon the public and upon individuals.

The decisions of the counts, with one voice, hold that the validity of the acts of officers of election, who are such de facto only, are binding and conclusive. McCrary on Elections, section 79, and cases there cited. But the decisions in Congress, previous to 1870, have been by no means uniform, and many cases may be found where the poll of an election precinct was rejected on the ground that the judges of election were not such de jure. Since that date, however (1870), the question has frequently arisen, and the House of Representatives has uniformly decided according to the rule laid down by the courts, even in cases where the application of the rule, seated or unseated, as the case might be, a political opponent. In the case of Eggleston vs. Strader (2 Bartlett, 897), decided without division in favor of a member of the minority, the unanimous report of the committee states the law on this subject, as follows: "But the contestant claims that Fiedelday was not an officer, or judge de facto, and his counsel has made an ingenious argument before the committee, on the ground that Fiedelday was an intruder or usurper, without color of right, basing his argument largely upon the view that there was no vacancy in the office of judge of elections, and that there is no such officer known in Ohio as temporary judge. But he seems for the time to lose sight of the distinction between an officer de facto and an officer de jure; and some of the cases he cites relate to the question as to an officer de jure and not de facto. It takes but little to constitute an officer de facto as affects the right of the public. The exercise of apparent authority under color of right, thus inviting public trust, and negating the idea of usurpation, is sufficient."

In the case before us there was no protest of any voter that the persons acting as judges were not authorized to act as such. Everybody, even the legally-appointed judges themselves, not only acquiesced, but fully recognized them as proper officers, and one of the legally appointed judges, who no doubt with that object in view, as the evidence shows, was an active worker at the polls for Mr. Overby. There is no claim that the acting judges were unfair in conducting the election, or in ascertaining the result. If there had been any protest to their acting made by even a few of the voters, or if there was evidence tending even to show unfairness to the sitting member, or acts of partisanship for the contestant, we would be slow to count the precinct for him. If the votes of citizens are freely and fairly given at the time and place prescribed by law, to judges universally recognized by them as competent officers of election, the intent and design of the election is accomplished. The will of the electors, thus expressed, is not to be defeated, but effectuated, by giving the office to the majority candidate.

We are, therefore, constrained to conclude on reason and authority that the vote at Columbian Grove precinct must be counted.

The sitting member, when notified of the contest, filed an answer, in which, besides resisting the contestant's claim to have the vote cast at Columbian Grove counted, he made counter charges as to Brown's Store precinct. He claimed that contestant or his friends at that precinct "fraudulently and with the intention to deceive the voters and to defraud me (him), handed a number of voters at least ten ballots, representing that they contained my (his) name when they contained yours (Love's), and were thus fraudulently induced to vote for you (Love)." As specification of this charge, he alleged that contestant had cut down the Republican tickets to the size of the Democratic tickets, and deceived at least ten voters. He also charged that contestant or his friends had deceived at least three of his (Overby's) friends into voting blank tickets, believing they were voting for him.

After the case had been argued upon the evidence contained in the printed record, the contestee, Mr. Overby filed an affidavit in which he stated substantially that he had been unable to examine four witnesses during the time allowed by law for the taking of testimony, by reason of the unnecessary consumption of time by Mr. Love's counsel in taking exceptions and arguing the same before the justice or notary taking the evidence; and also stated that by these four witnesses he might have shown, and could now show, at least six voters who, voted at the Brown's Store precinct, were deceived by Mr. Love and his friends, and induced to vote for Mr. Love by means of the cut or clipped tickets, whereas they intended to vote for Mr. Overby. While some of the committee contended that no additional testimony should be allowed, yet a majority were clearly of opinion that an opportunity, under the circumstances, ought to be allowed the contestant to take further testimony, and show fraud if such, in fact, existed. After the allowance of the most ample time and a delay of two weeks, during which a large mass of testimony was taken for the contestee as well as for the contestant, your committee resumed the consideration of the case, and, after a careful examination of the evidence adduced, are constrained to say that it does not establish the allegation of fraud. The judges of election say with one voice that they know of no fraud or deception practiced upon any voter, and that they do not believe that any was committed. Mr. J. T. Tisdale, the Democratic nominee for the Senate in the Twenty-eighth senatorial district, states that he was present at the Brown's Store precinct on the day of election, and says that he knows of nothing, and has heard of nothing, that induces him to believe that voters were deceived at the precinct by the use of the cut or clipped tickets, and that he fully concurs in what was said by W. L. Bridgforth, one of the judges of election, to the same effect. Mr. Bridgforth is shown by the evidence to be a man of intelligence and of the highest character. Not one of the voters alleged to have been deceived is introduced to sustain the charge except Julius Garland, and the evidence in regard to whether he was, in fact, deceived, though he says he was, is wholly unsatisfactory. Mr. Tisdale is evidently of opinion that Julius Garland was not himself deceived, but that he was seeking to deceive Mr. Overby, while he purposely voted for Mr. Love. Mr. Tisdale says that Garland had lived with him for a number of years and that he was "the most unmitigated liar he had ever seen."

It is proved that Mr. Love was seen on election day to trim some of his tickets down to the size of the Democratic tickets. This he had a right to do. It was proved that the Republican tickets were longer and wider than the Democratic tickets. Unless Mr. Love was fixing these tickets to deceive voters, a fact which is not necessarily presumed from the simple act of trimming them, and unless he actually did deceive voters with them, it is a matter of which Mr. Overby could not complain.

Fraud cannot be presumed, it must be clearly proved. In this case, after examining all of the testimony taken by the sitting member, and waiving all technicalities in his favor, and giving it all the effect it can possibly have, it utterly fails to establish the charge of fraud made in his answer.

We therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

1. That J. W. Overby, the sitting member, is not entitled to a seat in this body.
2. That D. R. Love is entitled to a seat in this body, as delegate from the county of Lunenburg.

Respectfully reported,

HENRY R. POLLARD, Chairman.

On motion of Mr. POLLARD, the report was passed by and ordered to be printed.

No. 90. House bill to amend and re-enact section 1 of an act entitled an act to prohibit the use of pound nets and purse nets in the waters of James and Chickahominy rivers below tide-water, approved May 16, 1887, was, on motion of Mr. STARKE, taken up from the table.

The bill was placed on the calendar.

Mr. DUPUY offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the superintendent of public printing shall furnish each member of the House of Delegates with a pad of letter paper and two packages of envelopes, with "House of Delegates" printed on each.

The House refused to refer the resolution to a committee.

The resolution was agreed to.

Mr. SAUNDERS moved to reconsider the vote by which the resolution was agreed to; which motion was agreed to—yeas 53; nays 26.

On motion of Mr. HAY, the vote was recorded as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Speaker, Allensworth, D. W. Anderson, W. A. Anderson, Barbour, Buford, Cattlett, Corbett, Counts, Craft, Crawford, Dabney, Daingerfield, Edmondson, Elam, Ewell, Gordon, Graves, J. S. The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the governor, as follows :

To the House of Delegates :

I have the honor to return, without my signature, House bill No. 42, being an "act to prevent fraud in the sale of lard."

The act prohibits the sale, by any person, of any article intended for use as lard, in any vessel bearing a label with the words "pure," "refined," "family" or either of them alone or in combination with other words, unless it is the "pure fat of the swine." When this is not the case, the vessel containing it must be marked on the top or outer side in letters not less than one-half an inch in length, "compound lard." Any person violating this act shall be punished by fine not exceeding fifty dollars for the first, or one hundred dollars for any subsequent offence.

My objections are :

That the act as framed, will, as a law, be inoperative, because no provision is made for such an inspection as will properly determine whether the lard received by the Virginia merchants and marked "refined" or "family" or "pure," is the "pure fat of the swine," or whether it should be marked "compound lard" before it is re-sold. It is clear, in order to carry out the conditions of this bill, it would require an innumerable number of inspectors, for an expensive chemical analysis would be necessary in each case, and even then it is most difficult to ascertain what is "the pure fat of the swine." I am informed that nearly four-fifths of all the lard put on the market is not the "pure fat of the swine," but is purposely mixed with other ingredients, in themselves pure and harmless; and which promote the taste, transportation and the preservation of the lard. It is well known that "the pure fat of the swine," without such compounding, will not keep in warm climates, but will melt, run out the vessels and be lost.

Cotton-seed oil is now one of the ingredients largely entering into the composition of lard. In the opinion of many, the more cotton-seed oil and less fat of the swine in the compounded article, the better the quality of the lard. Indeed, experiments are now in progress to ascertain whether lard cannot be made from cotton-seed oil alone, which, it is claimed, would be more palatable and less expensive than lard made from hog fat. I am informed that of the various brands of lard now offered for sale by our merchants, that the purchaser has his option of buying the "pure fat of the swine" or lard compounded with other substances, and that nearly four-fifths of the sales are of "compounded lard." But apart from these reasons the bill, should it become a law, would operate most unequally and oppressively upon Virginia merchants. I am informed that some ten million pounds of lard are received here per annum, about eight million of which is sold in North and South Carolina. It can be easily demonstrated that if these packages have to be broken open, inspected by chemists and re-marked before being sold again, that such restrictions placed upon our merchants would eliminate from this market the trade in that article. As a general thing, I believe that inspection laws are restrictions on trade, operate injuriously, and should be abolished. Indeed the Virginia State agricultural society so declared, after an exhaustive discussion, twenty-five years ago, and the State has been returning since to the safer ground, that the purchaser of most articles must depend upon his own judgment and that of the seller, and not on the certificate of an inspector.

The Legislature has just changed the compulsory inspection laws, so far as they refer to flour and fish; why should they follow that with such legislation as will compel an inspection of lard?

I return the bill, therefore, to the House for their reconsideration, for while it will undoubtedly promote and encourage, at some expense to the State, the science of chemistry, I regard it as an act to prevent our merchants from having that trade in this commodity which States enjoy who have no such restrictive laws, rather than an act to prevent fraud in its sale.

FITZHUGH LEE.

Mr. McCANDLISH moved to pass by the communication and have the same printed; which motion was rejected.

The question being, Shall the House after reconsideration agree to pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, was put and decided in the negative—yeas 26; nays 44.

The following report was presented :

To the House of Delegates :

Your committee for courts of justice, to which was referred the resolution in regard to the hire of convicts, in response to the enquiry, " Whether the State has the constitutional right to contract with the different works of internal improvement, receiving for the hire of her convicts bonds and not money," report that it is of opinion that the State has the right to receive bonds for the hire of her convicts, and that it is not in conflict with section 15 of article 10 of the Constitution for the State so to do, the committee being of opinion that the clause forbidding the State " to become a party to or interested in any work of internal improvement" refers solely to the States owning any stocks or bonds of any works of internal improvement as a subscriber or being a party to any such work, but the clause referred to does not in any way impair the right of the State to accept the obligations of any railroad or other work of internal improvement in payment of debts contracted by them and due to the State.

JAMES HAY, Chairman.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OFFICE,

RICHMOND, February 8, 1888.

HON. R. H. CARDWELL,

Speaker of the House of Delegates:

Sir,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the following resolution of the House of Delegates—viz.:

“Resolved, That the attorney-general be, and he is hereby, requested to inform this House what steps, if any, have been taken to ascertain whether the charter of the Richmond, Williamsburg and Central turnpike company, in Henrico county, has been forfeited pursuant to the act of the General Assembly of Virginia, approved March 3, 1884, and if no such steps have been taken why not?”

Proceedings were instituted in the circuit court of the city of Richmond by my predecessor on the 10th day of April, 1884, by petition for a writ of quo warranto. The petition set forth the facts relied upon by the commonwealth to sustain the claim of forfeiture. On the 10th day of June, 1884, the company filed its answer to the petition. No further steps were taken until October 20, 1886, when I submitted the petition and answer upon motion for writ of quo warranto, which was overruled and the petition dismissed.

Very respectfully,

R. A. AYERS, Attorney-General.

A minority report in the contested election case of Love against Overby was presented as follows:

The undersigned members of the committee on privileges and elections are constrained to withhold their approval of the report of the majority, for the following reasons:

First. The record in this case shows, and the fact is not denied by the contestant, that at Columbian Grove precinct three voters, without waiting for the regularly appointed judges of election, and within fifteen minutes of the time when by law the polls ought to have been opened, took charge of the polls as judges, administered the oaths to each other, appointed their clerks, and proceeded with the election. We are aware that in some States, and in some legislative bodies, it has been held that this is merely an irregularity which will not invalidate the election, and in this case it is argued that these three voters were de facto judges, and that so far as the public are concerned their acts possess as much force and effect as if they had been judges de jure. We cannot, however, approve of the reasoning which leads to this conclusion. These three persons took charge of the polls without a shadow of right, they had no color of title, but were mere usurpers, and as such their acts can have no binding force or effect. We submit that the policy of Virginia, as shown by the laws passed on this subject, requires that whenever it is possible elections shall be conducted by the regularly appointed judges, who are to be selected on account of their integrity, impartiality and fitness for the discharge of their important duties. Upon these judges depend the purity of our elections, and to them we must look, if the voice of the people as spoken at the polls is to be heard. So careful has the Legislature been upon this point that the appointment of these officers has been taken from the judges of the commonwealth, and placed in the hands of boards appointed by themselves, and yet it is gravely argued that any three voters, however ignorant or depraved, may, upon election morning, hasten to the voting precincts, take charge of the registration books and polls, conduct the election in the interest of the political party to which they belong, or in the interests of the friends they would serve, and that their acts and returns shall have the same force and effect as the acts and returns of the regularly appointed judges. And now we respectfully ask, if this practice is to be adopted, is not the law for the appointment of judges of election subject to repeal at every precinct in the State, and by any three voters who may combine for the purpose? Once let it be understood, by legislative decision, that election judges are to be appointed by themselves, and the registration books and polls at every voting place in the commonwealth will become a prize for which there will be a race every election morning between the representatives of the different political parties, and it may be that out of the eagerness thus produced they may spring those feelings, which will lend to strife for the possession of the polls, and the position which will enable unscrupulous men to convert the whole machinery of elections from its legitimate and proper object to the elevation of themselves and their friends, and so it will be put in the power of the most depraved voters to stifle the voice of the majority, to bid defiance to the will of the people, and in the name of purity and fairness to commit every outrage against which it is the purpose of the election laws to guard. This question goes beyond this case and becomes one of public policy, in which every good citizen is interested, and we cannot lend ourselves to a conclusion which must lead to the results which we have pictured. We have referred to no authority, because case law must always give place to the great principles which the Legislature of this State have more than once announced, and which has been sought to be enforced by carefully prepared and considered laws.

Second. It plainly appears from the evidence in this case that during the election at Columbian Grove, every one who desired to do so entered the room in which the polls were kept; and that after they were closed and while the ballots were being counted for the purpose of making them correspond with the poll-books; and before the said ballots were opened and the number of votes cast for each candidate was ascertained; the handling of the ballots being in a room without artificial light and carried on until it became so dark that the names on them could hardly be read ; that the difference between the tickets of J. W. Overby and D. R. Love could be detected by a man with both eyes knocked out, see answer to question 15, page 48 of record. They were handled and counted by one W. J. Sculthorpe, who was not a judge or clerk at the precinct ; who had been convicted in the county of Lunenburg of stealing a mule, and served out a part of his sentence in the penitentiary of this State, and would have remained the whole term but for the pardon extended to him by Governor Cameron ; that this man was the friend of the contestant in this case, and certainly had it in his power to have made the result at Columbian Grove precinct what he pleased. And we say, that in view of these facts, while mere irregularity in the conduct of an election which does not affect the result will not be permitted to invalidate it ; that McCrary upon Elections and Story on Constitutional Limitations, and, as far as we are informed, all other authorities upon the subject hold, without exception, that whenever the irregularities are of such a character as to make the result at any precinct uncertain, that the vote of that precinct ought to be thrown out. The result at Columbian Grove precinct can never be certainly known unless the same faith is placed in the action and integrity of a convicted mule thief, under no obligation as judge or clerk and having taken no oath, as should be placed in the sworn action of regularly constituted judges of election. We confess that we have not this faith ; that to us the result is uncertain, and we think the precinct which was rejected by the commissioners of election for the county of Lunenburg, should be rejected by this legislation ; and if this is done, the sitting member, Mr. J. W. Overby, will be entitled to his seat, having an undisputed majority of six votes.

Third. That B. H. May, in his deposition on page 70 of record, stated that he was one of the commissioners of election, and that he heard D. R. Love admit the morning after the election that he had trimmed the ballots containing his (D. R. Love) name to the size of the ballots containing the name of J. W. Overby ; that this was done at Brown's Store precinct. And W. L. Bridgforth, one of the judges at that precinct, in answer to question 14 on page 64, stated, that there were certainly nine of these trimmed ballots in the box and that one of them was voted by James Garland, see page 63 of record. Mr. Bridgforth also stated, in answer to question 8, page 62 : " I heard Mr. Love say he would pay fifty cents to know the man that was smart enough to trim these tickets."

Mr. Overby, in answer to the notice of contest in this case, served upon Mr. Love a paper containing the following charge : " That at Brown's Store precinct on the day of election, you being convinced that the voters wished to vote for me and would not vote the ballot containing your name, which was much larger in size than the ballot containing my name, many of the voters being unable to read and could only tell one ballot from another by the size, you did, with the intention deliberately to deceive the said voters and to practice a fraud upon me, cut the ballots with your name upon them to the size of those which contained my name, and that at least ten of the ballots so reduced in size were so voted and found in the ballot-box at Brown's Store precinct. And if the ten ballots so fraudulently reduced in size and voted at Brown's Store precinct had contained my name, as the persons voting believed they did, instead of yours, I would have received nineteen majority at said precinct instead of you receiving one majority. And I contend that ballots of a like kind, with the purpose aforesaid, were imposed upon the voters and some of them found in the ballot-boxes at Columbian Grove, the Court-house and Lochleven precincts."

It is not denied in the majority report that these charges, if sustained, would entitle J. W. Overby to his seat, although Columbian Grove precinct should be counted as claimed by the contestant, but it is declared that the proof does not sustain the charges. Let us see whether it does or not. The following facts are proved beyond dispute:

First. By the admission of Mr. Love that he did cut down his ballots to the size of the ballots of J. W. Overby at Brown's Store.

Second. That he thought this a smart trick, as he offered to give fifty cents to find out the man smart enough to do it. (Answer to question 8, page 62 of record.)

Third. At least nine of these trimmed ballots were found in the box at Brown's Store precinct and counted for Love, although in cutting them to the required size the entire heading of the ticket had to be cut away. (See record, page 62.)

There is no denial of this testimony, and absolutely no conflicting evidence in reference to these facts. Do they prove that Mr. Love trimmed his tickets with the intention of defrauding Mr. Overby? We answer this question in the affirmative. Mr. Love could have had no other object in view. His purpose must have been to secure votes which he otherwise could not have obtained, and he must have trimmed his ballots for the reason that by so doing he could deceive the ignorant supporters of Mr. Overby and induce them to vote for him, believing that they were voting for Mr. Overby. If this was not his purpose, then in the name of common sense why did he trim his tickets? Surely he can answer this question, and he is the only man who can answer it. The knowledge is peculiarly his own. The evidence in elucidation of the subject matter in dispute is within his power. A grave charge is made against him; one which not only threatens to determine all claim he may have for the office he has sought, but is of a character which an innocent man will deny—indignantly deny and repel. What does he do? For five days he attends the taking of the depositions. He has every opportunity to have his own evidence taken and every opportunity to deny the charges. The charge called for and demanded an answer, and yet he remained dumb in the presence of his accusers, and is dumb in the presence of this Legislature. He had it in his power to settle the whole question, but he shrank from the trying ordeal of an oath and the searching cross-examination of the contestee's counsel. Are we entitled to any presumptions against him because of his silence? We answer in the language of Judge Moncure in Chahoon's case, 20 Gratt., page 797: "The conduct of a party in omitting to produce that evidence in elucidation of the subject matter in dispute, which is within his power, and which rests peculiarly within his knowledge, frequently affords occasion for strong presumptions against him, since it raises a strong suspicion that such evidence, if adduced, would operate to his prejudice." See also the opinion of Judge Fauntleroy in the case of Goodman vs. Richmond and Danville railroad company, 81 Virginia Reports, pages 584-5.

The testimony of the contestee in this case proved so much that only this presumption, authorized by him, is required to make a perfect case; indeed, without this presumption, the impartial mind must reach the conclusion that the tickets were trimmed with the intention of deceiving the ignorant supporters of Mr. Overby; that this intention was carried into effect is proved by the presence of the trimmed tickets in the ballot-box at Brown's Store; and yet, Mr. Love's desire for his seat is based upon the principle that the will of the people, as expressed at the polls, must be obeyed. We answer him, "He that seeks equity must do equity." There is much testimony in the record which might be adduced in support of the views expressed in this paper, but we have contented ourselves with the extracts given, trusting that every member called upon to vote will examine and decide for himself. We think that Mr. Overby is elected by at least six votes, if Columbian Grove precinct is counted, and if that precinct is rejected, as we think it ought to be, then his majority will be increased to twenty-four. All of the above is based on the evidence taken prior to the assembling of the Legislature, but after the case had been heard and argued by counsel before the committee, further time was given both parties to take additional evidence, and it is to this evidence that we wish now briefly to refer. It must be noticed that one of the points made by the contestee when the case was first argued was, that the trimming of the tickets by Love at Brown's Store had been fully proved; that Love spoke of this as a smart trick; and that after the contestee had charged that the tickets had been made smaller for the purpose of deceiving Overby voters, and had been used with that result; that Love, who attended the taking of the depositions for five days, had not given his testimony, because he feared the cross-examination of Overby's counsel; and it was argued, that as this knowledge was peculiarly within Love's breast, and the evidence in his power, and in no other person's, that his failure to testify made the presumption of fraud against himself conclusive. We repeat, that this was one of the points (the failure of Love to testify) upon which the contestee relied, and which was strongly pressed in the argument. Mr. Love was represented by counsel, and must have been informed of the standing of his case, and the conclusions likely to be drawn for his silence.

Under these circumstances the opportunity was afforded both parties to take additional testimony; and W. E. Stith testifies, in the most emphatic way, that on the morning after the election he heard Mr. Love say that he trimmed his ballots to the size of Mr. Overby's, after conference with one of his political friends, Sam Bolling, and that he and Sam passed them, the trimmed tickets, on the darkies for Overby's tickets, and that by this means he (Love) had gotten the election. To the same effect also is the testimony of Jno. L. Roberts, Junius Bagley and Henry Hicks. This last witness says that he heard Love say, the morning after the election, "that on the day of election Jack (Mr. Overby) was getting ahead of him so fast he commenced studying what he must do; he came to the conclusion that he would trim some of his tickets, and Sam Bolling request of him to do it, and he goes into Reese's shop and takes one of Jack Overby's tickets and put it right on top of his, and cut his exactly the size of Jack Overby's, and then he got in with some of the boys to get them in, and by —, he got in ten, and he thought it was a damn smart trick, and I remarked to him at the time that it was a damned rascally trick to put anything on people that they did not want to do; he remarked back to me, that any thing in election and wars was honest."

Now we do not have to rely upon presumption, but out of the mouth of at least two witnesses we have the positive statement, not only of the trimming of the tickets, but that they were trimmed and used to deceive Overby's voters. And what does Mr. Love do when told by a colored man that he had been guilty of damned rascally trick? He does not explain that the tickets were used by men who wished to conceal for whom they voted, but he broadly justifies himself by the old and much-abused adage, that everything is fair and honest in elections and wars. He does not deny, but, in legal phraseology, he confesses and avoids, saying, in effect, "Yes, I did do a rascally thing, but, then, as it was about an election, it was all fair and honest." And now, while these additional depositions are being taken, Mr. Love is again present; the witnesses testifying against him are all under oath. He does not go on the stand, but contents himself with making a "note in the deposition," in which he denies all fraud, &c. This is excepted to by Mr. Overby's counsel, and he is told that if he wants to make the denial he should do so as a witness, and give Mr. Overby's counsel the right to cross-examine him; but he contents himself with a broad denial, and refuses to be sworn, and we cannot, therefore, give to his denial the weight which would attach if it was sworn to. Nor is it entitled to any weight under the circumstances, all of which called for the most positive and solemn testimony. Mr. Love's statements have been proved by five witnesses—B. H. May, J. L. Roberts, W. E. Stith, Junius Bagley and Henry Hicks; the intent to deceive and defraud the friends of Mr. Overby is distinctly proved by J. L. Roberts, W. E. Stith and Henry Hicks, and we are obliged to conclude that Mr. Love, at Brown's Store, deceived at least ten of Mr. Overby's friends into voting for him, believing that they voted for Overby, and this will give Mr. Overby a majority of nine, with all the precincts counted. We have taken no notice of the affidavits filed in reference to the voting of the trimmed tickets, because they were withdrawn by counsel for Mr. Love when Mr. Overby asked for time to reply to them; but we noticed that the affidavits of George Maddux, Dick Seay, Bob Bagley, William Chapman, Tom Scott and Henry Smith were made before the notary taking the depositions on the 26th of January, and while they were being taken, and not certified until the 29th of January, and thus the contestee was deprived of his right to cross-examine; and there could have been no reason why these parties could not have given their depositions in due form.

On the whole, the more we examine into the evidence and consider all the facts and circumstances surrounding the case, the more thorough becomes our conviction that J. W. Overby is entitled to his seat.

We note with pleasure that Mr. Overby has passed through the entire investigation with clean hands; that nothing has been found throwing the slightest discredit on him or his friends. And we believe that we but voice the will of the majority of the voters of Lunenburg when we recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

That J. W. Overby, the sitting member, is entitled to a seat in this body as delegate from the county of Lunenburg.

Respectfully reported,

W. P. DUPUY,

The following report from the Senate was presented :

To the Senate and House of Delegates :

The joint committee on public institutions of the Senate and asylums and prisons of the House of Delegates, to whom was referred the subject of investigating the cause of the fire at the penitentiary, in accordance with the subjoined resolutions, respectfully report that after a personal inspection of the ruins and the examination of several witnesses, referred the matter to a sub-committee and submit herewith their report, which has been adopted by the joint committee, and in accordance with the instructions of said committee, submit a bill for carrying out the provisions of this report.

WILLIAM LOVENSTEIN, Chairman
Committee on Public Institutions.

EDWARD ECHOLS, Chairman
Committee on Asylums and Prisons.

To the Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Delegates :

By a joint resolution passed by the Senate and House of Delegates on the 31st ultimo, the committee on asylums and prisons of the House of Delegates and the committee on public institutions of the Senate were instructed to investigate and report to the General Assembly the cause of the recent fire at the State penitentiary, the extent of the damage done by said fire, the loss to the State occasioned thereby, and make such recommendation as they may deem proper in order to repair the damage done. The undersigned, constituting the sub-committee, appointed by said joint committee to investigate and report upon the several inquiries embraced in said joint resolution, respectfully report :

First. As to the cause of the recent fire—

On the 3rd instant your committee visited the penitentiary, and after inspecting the burnt building, in order to get an idea of their location, examined, under oath, all parties connected with the penitentiary who could be supposed to know anything about the fire or its origin, and whilst various theories were entertained from the investigation made, and facts ascertained, your committee are unable to report what was the immediate cause of the fire. At first, it was the opinion of some that it was the act of an incendiary, but upon investigation it is the unanimous conclusion of your committee that such is not the case, and that the fire originated from carelessness by some one connected with the prison.

A stenographic record of the evidence taken is herewith filed and asked to be taken as a part of this report. Your committee deem it proper to state that as far as it has been able to ascertain from a searching investigation, no blame attaches to Mr. W. W. Moses, the superintendent. Everything was done by him that could possibly have been done under the circumstances; he turned in the alarm himself to the city fire department within a very few moments after the fire broke out, and but for the assistance rendered by the Richmond fire department the entire penitentiary would have been destroyed. In this connection your committee would state that the water supply at the penitentiary is inadequate and ought to be increased.

Second. As to the extent of the damage done by said fire and the loss to the State occasioned thereby—

The damage sustained was quite an extensive one; the whole of the building used and occupied by Joseph Davis, Esq., as a shoe manufactory, being destroyed, besides some damage to the adjoining buildings.

THE ESTIMATED LOSS TO THE STATE.

Destruction of building (estimated),	- - -	$25,000.00
Furniture, tools and fixtures, provisions, machinery and raw material in carpenter and blacksmith shops,		1,017.88
Total (estimated),	- - - - -	$26,017.88

In addition to the loss of property above mentioned, there are five hundred and sixty odd (560) convicts out of employment, these being the hands worked by the Davis shoe manufactory, estimated by the superintendent to be a loss to the State of about $3,000.00 per month. It costs the State about twenty-two (22) cents per day per capita to maintain these convicts.

Third. As to such recommendation as may be deemed proper in order to repair the damage done—

Your committee recommend that the building should be replaced in a more substantial form than the old one. It has been estimated that a three-story fire proof building can be erected on the site of the one recently destroyed, at a cost of $35,000.00.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD ECHOLS,
W. P. DUPUY,
H. L. CARTER,
THOS. H. BARNES,
I. C. DUANE.

Browne, Catlett, Coleman, Corbett, Crismond, Dabney, Dupuy, Edwards, Figgatt, Flood, Gordon, Hay, Herbert, Hobson, Huffman, Hunter, Johnson, Kincheloe, Magruder, Mayo, Montague, J. E. Moore, Morton, Mustain, Overby, Perkins, Phillips, Pilcher, Pollard, Ryan, Sebrell, Silver, Starke, Terrell, Treat, R. H. Tyler, Waddill, Webb, Wilkins and Williams—47.

Mr. ECHOLS stated that he would have voted in the negative, but was paired with Mr. EVANS.

Ordered, That Mr. FIGGATT carry the bill to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate by Mr. Lovenstein, who informed the House that the Senate had passed Senate bill entitled an act to authorize the board of directors of the penitentiary of Virginia to restore the burnt buildings of that institution and to make an appropriation for the same, No. 378; in which they respectfully request the concurrence of the House.

Special order,

No. 262. House bill to regulate commerce in the State of Virginia, came up.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment offered by Mr. POLLARD,

Mr. FRANKLIN offered the following as a substitute for the amendment offered by Mr. POLLARD:

During the session of the General Assembly, within five days before the meeting of the same, and within ten days after the adjournment thereof, the members and officials of said Assembly shall likewise be transported free on all the railroads in the State. It shall be unlawful for any one entitled to a pass under this act, to transfer or assign the same, and on conviction of so doing the offender shall be fined not less than $50.00 nor more than $500.00.—Which was rejected.

The amendment offered by Mr. POLLARD was rejected.

Mr. FIGGATT moved to reconsider the vote by which the amendment offered by Mr. POLLARD was rejected; which motion was rejected.

On motion of Mr. McCANDLISH, the House adjourned until Monday next at twelve o'clock M.

A report of the special committee appointed to investigate and report upon alleged abuses in the use of free passes by members of this House was presented as follows:

To the House of Delegates:

The committee appointed under a resolution of the House to inquire into and report upon alleged abuses in the use of free railroad passes by members of this House, respectfully report as follows:

Your committee only examined three witnesses—Messrs. E. PARR, R. H. SPENCER and JOHN M. DICKEY, members of this House—whose names had been connected with the alleged abuses in the use of free railroad passes, and as they were satisfied that all the material facts in these cases were disclosed by these witnesses, it was deemed unnecessary to take any further formal testimony. It is proper, however, to say in vindication of the character of this body that your committee made diligent inquiry among various members of the House as to the lending of free railroad passes by members of the body to others than those whose names were inserted in the passes, and they have been unable to find a single instance of the kind except the cases disclosed by the three members above-named, and those cases were confined alone to themselves. The testimony of the said three witnesses is filed herewith.

Inverting somewhat the order in which the testimony was given, it will be noted that Mr. R. H. SPENCER, the member from Buckingham county, stated that Delegate PARR asked him if he had a pass over a particular railroad; that he told him he had; that Mr. PARR said he wanted to go home, asked the loan of his ticket, and got it. This witness further stated that this was the only time he had ever loaned his pass out, and did not know of any other member lending out his pass.

Mr. JOHN M. DICKEY, the delegate from Grayson county, testified that Delegate PARR had come to him and asked him if he had a pass over a particular railroad; that he had told him he had; that PARR said he wanted to borrow it for a friend, as there was nothing wrong in it; that he (PARR) had just borrowed one from Mr. SPENCER, and it had frequently been done among the members, and that he let him have the pass. Witness knew of no other instance of lending a pass.

Mr. E. PARR, the member from Henry county, testified that we frequently apply for friends for passes—that he did not have time to send to Washington city for passes, and that he asked Messrs. DICKEY and SPENCER to lend him their passes, and they did so; that the passes had an endorsement on them in these words—to-wit: “If presented by any other person than the individual named therein, the conductor will take up this ticket and collect fare.” That the tickets were issued in the names of the members of the House; that he loaned them to persons who were not members of the House, but were constituents of his; that said persons travelled with him upon said passes to Washington city and back home as far as Danville; that said persons exhibited said tickets to the conductor as evidence of their right to travel upon them; that the conductor took the tickets away from them at Danville because they were not members of the Legislature. Witness further stated that he did not know of any other members lending out his pass, and added that if he did he would not tell, although in point of fact he had just openly exposed the names of the two friends from whom he had borrowed passes to loan out, and when pressed for his reason for this, he said that if he named a member, the delegate designated would be injured as he had been injured, if he was injured by it. Subsequently, witness testified that “it is my impression that I could” have gotten free tickets from Washington. When his special attention was called to what he had said the day before on the floor of the House, that "it was common for members to lend their passes out." Witness could only say that some nameless person had informed him that it was the custom of former Legislatures, but he had never heard of a member of this Legislature doing it.

With regard to the connection of Messers SPENCER and DICKEY with this transaction, it goes without saying that they permitted an improper use of their free passes; but this seems to have been the result of an amiable weakness rather than a premeditated device to do wrong. At all events they do not appear to have been actively moved by a device to obtain any advantage to themselves directly or through their own constituents, and were actuated only by a too willing readiness to oblige a friend in a matter in which a more serious consideration would probably have suggested a different course.

But the case of Mr. PARR is entirely different. His action was premeditated. He had considered it. Indeed, when he asked Mr. DICKEY for the loan of his pass, he reasoned the case with him and told him "there was nothing wrong in it," and that "it had frequently been done among the members." So that taken singly and by itself, the action of Mr. PARR, in borrowing and lending these free railroad passes, was a willful and deliberate violation of every principle of good conduct and propriety. But when considered in connection with his subsequent conduct, it becomes more glaringly flagrant. It will be remembered that his first utterance upon the floor of the House upon the occasion of the introduction of the resolution under which this investigation was had, was that "it was common for members to lend their passes out"—thus attempting to justify his own conduct by seeking to involve others in like conduct. This was true, or it was untrue. If true, it brought discredit upon the members of the House; if untrue, it was a gross slander. And Mr. PARR was compelled to admit under oath in his examination the very next day, that it was untrue, and that he had never known or heard of another instance of the kind in this House, except those in which he himself had been the prime mover.

Taken in detail or altogether, the conduct of Mr. PARR in connection with the borrowing and lending of these free passes, is reprehensible in the extreme; is without a single circumstance of mitigation, and is aggravated at its every successive stage by additional criminating involvements.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

L. D. STARKE, Chairman,
L. C. WATKINS,
G. C. HUFFMAN,
L. C. BRISTOW,
W. P. ROANE.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,

OFFICE OF THE AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS,

RICHMOND, February 18, 1888.

HON. R. H.-CARDWELL,

Speaker of the House of Delegates:

Sir,—A resolution of your honorable body, adopted this day, is as follows:

"Resolved, That the auditor of public accounts be instructed to report to this House whether the law enacted at the last extra session requiring a license of persons engaged in the business of selling liquors by sample and imposing a tax for such privilege has been enforced, and, if not, why not?"

In response I have the honor to report that as soon as possible after the passage of the act referred to I caused to be printed, in pamphlet form, the tax laws embracing that act, and sent a copy to every treasurer, commissioner of the revenue, commonwealth's attorney and clerk of a court in the State for their guidance. Since then no commissioner of the revenue has reported the issuing of a license to sell liquor by sample. Why none have been issued I am unable to say, but presume none have been applied for because of the decision of the supreme court of the United States relating to sample merchants, rendered in the case of Robbins vs. Shelby county taxing district. I am not aware, however, that anyone has sold liquor without a license.

Very respectfully,

MORTON MARYE,

Auditor of Public Accounts.

The following were presented and referred under Rule 37:

By Mr. SAUNDERS: A bill to relieve Levi Midkiff, surety of Tyler Midkiff. Referred to the committee on finance.

OFFICE OF REVISORS,

RICHMOND, February 22, 1888.

To the General Assembly of Virginia:

By act of 21st of May, 1887 (Acts Extra Session, 1887, p. 425, ch. 331, §§ 1, 2), the Code of Virginia, which, in the form of a bill, had passed both houses of the Assembly, and was approved by the governor on the 16th day of May, 1887, was directed to be published, together with the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the amendments thereto, and the Constitution of Virginia as amended, with a suitable index; the publication to be under the immediate superintendence of the revisors, who were also required to "prefix to each chapter a table, stating briefly the subject of each section, insert or omit such captions to sections, make such references and notes as may seem to them fit, prepare the index and examine the proof-sheets."

All of this work has been finished except the printing, which, we hope, will be completed during the next week, and the volumes at once turned over to the binders, to be bound and distributed as the act directs. The contracts with the binders, as we have been informed by the late superintendent of public printing, with whom the contracts were made, require the delivery of one thousand volumes per week, the whole number being eight thousand.

The 7th section of the act also provides that "the revisors of the Code shall, as soon as practicable after the publication of the Code hereinbefore provided for, prepare and deliver to the superintendent of public printing, for publication, in conformity with the requirements of the law in regard to public printing, such notes as they may deem useful in explanation of the changes made in the law by the Code. The notes shall be printed and bound in a volume as the Acts of the General Assembly are required by law to be printed and bound, and the said revisors shall superintend the publication thereof."

This work remains to be done. The "Notes" contemplated would be very useful, we think, as aids in the interpretation of the Code, but they are not indispensable. To be useful, however, the greatest care should be taken in their preparation—not less than was required in the revision itself. Otherwise, they might be misleading and injurious. To prepare this volume and superintend the publication would consume much time—not less, perhaps, than a year—it might take a longer time—and would require much labor and involve considerable expense to ourselves. None of these "Notes" have been prepared, and in their preparation a careful re-examination of every part of the Code would be necessary.

If this work is to be done, we deem it due to the General Assembly as well as to ourselves to say, before it is begun that we do not consider that any compensation has been made or provided for the work. The appropriation by the act of March 18, 1884 (Acts 1883-'4, pp. 702, 703, ch. 523), as we regard it, was for work which has since been done, the notes and references contemplates being such as will be found in the Code—the citations of adjudged cases and other references being much more numerous than in the Code of 1849, and the notes fully as many. The appropriation by the act of May 21, 1887 (Acts Extra Session, 1887, pp. 434-5, ch. 3397), was for preparing the index, superintending publication, and services of clerk; and it is declared in the act that the amounts specified therein "shall be in full, together with amounts heretofore appropriated, of all compensation for the revision and index, and superintending of printing." The preparation and publication of "Notes" required by the 7th section of the act of 21st May, 1887 (Acts Extra Session, 1887, p. 426, ch. 331), do not in our opinion constitute any part of the work above mentioned—to-wit: "The revision and index and superintending of printing." It is in addition thereto.

The only appropriations for the benefit of the revisors were made by the two acts before referred to, together they amount to $12,000, that is, $4,000 to each. We have been engaged in this work about three and a half years—withdrawn mostly from all other business, and subjected to great loss. As to the loss of practice, it cannot be computed, and may be laid out of view. But the actual necessary expenses incurred may in a measure be estimated. Our board in Richmond during four winters, and the fall and spring months, averaging fully six months each year, cost us $50 per month, making $300 per year—$1,200 for the whole time. Deduct this from $4,000, and it leaves $2,800, which for three and a half years would be at the rate of $800 per year. During the summer months we met in the country and continued our work, paying board. Making a reasonable deduction for this, and none for other actual necessary expenses; we will have received considerably less than $800 per year. In short, what we will have received will go to indemnify us in part for losses sustained, not to compensate us for services not rendered.

In view of these facts, if the General Assembly is not disposed to provide compensation for the additional work remaining to be done, for which we think no compensation has heretofore been made or provided, we respectfully ask that this work be dispensed with, so far as we are concerned.

Very respectfully,

E. C. BURKS,
W. R. STAPLES,
JOHN W. RIELY.

The motion by Mr. POLLARD was rejected.

A report of the committee on privileges and elections in the election case of A. M. McCLINTIC, of the counties of Alleghany, Highland and Bath, is as follows:

The undersigned members of the committee on privileges and elections respectfully submit the following report, involving the eligibility of A. M. McClintic to a seat in this House from the counties of Alleghany, Bath and Highland.

We concur in the report heretofore filed by five (5) members of this committee as to the qualifications requisite to eligibility for membership of this body, viz.: Actual residence and right to vote at the time of election.

We entirely dissent, however, from the proposition substantially maintained, that "actually a resident," in the Constitution, means continual bodily presence, or such presence at short intervals.

It is respectfully submitted, that said report confounds actual with constructive residence, as we believe will appear from the following relation of proved facts, and citation of authorities, applicable thereto:

The evidence shows that A. M. McClintic was born and raised at Oak Hill, in Bath county, the place he now claims as his residence.

He was married in 1872, and lived with his wife at Oak Hill until 1880, when she moved to Botetourt county to nurse her aged and invalid mother.

At the time of her removal it was distinctly stated by McClintic that while he could not object to her going, in as much as she had nursed his own sick mother until her death, yet he could not go with her, on account of business interests in Bath county.

Shortly before leaving Bath county, a sale of property was made; McClintic, however, reserved a lot of household and kitchen furniture and farming implements.

Since parting with his ownership of Oak Hill, in 1879, he has continually rented a room there, which he occupies when there, and sends his employees there when occasion requires it, who occupy the said room.

He is a merchant and cattle dealer, and spends most of his time at different places of business, being at Oak Hill as often as anywhere else, it being about the centre of his business operations. Letcher, the post-office nearest Oak Hill, is his post office address. (See Miss Lacy's evidence, page 23). He has always voted at the election precinct in which Oak Hill is located; pays his "capitation" and "personal property tax" there; serves on juries; and in fact exercises all the rights of citizenship in Bath county, and nowhere else.

He swears that Oak Hill is now and always has been his actual residence, and that he has no intention of removing therefrom. In fact he has done every thing consistent with the business interest of himself and wife to make Oak Hill his actual place of residence.

'Tis true that his wife lives at present in Botetourt county; there is no child by the marriage; no estrangement between them; the separation is of necessity, and not of choice. She went to Botetourt to nurse her mother, after her mother's death she remains there to settle up and take care of the estate.

The residence of the husband fixes that of the wife, and not the wife the husband's.

All the authorities agree that no definition can be given of residence that will apply to all cases, but that each case must depend upon its own facts and circumstances.

There are three classes of residences: 1st, by birth, "Domicilium originis;" 2nd, by choice, the place of residence voluntarily acquired by a party, "Proprio Marte;" 3rd, constructive residence, or residence by operation of law. Bouvier's Law Dict., page 499; Story on Conflict of Laws, page 57. Constructive residence is a result of the law, without regard to the will or intent of the person, e. g., the residence of a wife by reason of her marriage, the residence of the husband being by construction of law her residence, the residence of children born in foreign lands while their parents reside in another country, the residence of the parents being the residence of the children. Bouvier's Law Dict., page 499; Story's Conflict of Law, page 57. Constructive residence arises by operation of law for the preservation of social, individual and political rights, which can be secured in no other way.

We can recall no instance of the preservation of a political right by construction of law, unless it be in the case of a voter's removal, without the intention of returning, from one county to another, and his residence in his new home commencing within three months of election.

It is reasonable that he should retain his former residence constructively for the preservation of his rights, it being the principal of the law that a man is never without a residence, and that he retains the old until he acquires the new residence.

We believe the inferences which must necessarily be drawn from the propositions laid down in the report heretofore filed, viz.: that McClintic has no actual residence anywhere, and that continual bodily presence, or such presence at very short intervals, is necessary to constitute actual residence, are erroneous. Wharton on Conflict of Laws, section 33, says: "However artificial may be the idea of domicile, it is a necessity of civilized life." McCrary on Elections, page 498, says: "A man must have a domicile somewhere." Cooley on Constitutional Limitations, page 600 (side), says: "Every person, at all times, must be considered as having a 'domicile' somewhere." Wharton on Conflict Laws, section 55, says: "Mere absence by itself can never divest 'domicile,' no matter how long such absence may continue. The absentee, whether he wander from place to place for pleasure or on business, may continue this absence for years, but until a new domicile is acquired the old remains. In such case the burden of proof is on the party who impugns the established residence.

Supreme court of the United States, in Mitchell vs. United States, 21st Wall, page 252, uses language to same effect which our own court of appeals, in Pilson's trustee vs. Bushong, 29 Grattan, page 239, and Lindsay vs. Murphy, 76 Virginia Reports, page 428, quotes approvingly, and lays down the same principle.

McCrary on Elections, page 500, quoting from the language of Chief Justice Shaw, in Lyman vs. Fiske (5th Peck, 234), speaking of the intention, as bearing on residence, says: "The act and the intent must concur, and the intent may be inferred from declarations and conduct. It is often a question of great difficulty, depending on minute and complicated circumstances, leaving the question in so much doubt that a slight circumstance may turn the balance; in such a case the mere declaration of the party, made in good faith, of his election, to make the one place rather than the other as his home, would be sufficient to turn the scale.

The requirements of civilized society locate every citizen; more specially must this be so in a government like ours, which is "of the people, by the people, and for the people." 'Tis true, McClintic spends but little of his time at Oak Hill, if actual residence means continual bodily presence, or a very large proportion of one's time is to be spent at a place to acquire and retain it, McClintic is not an actual resident, but we submit that actual residence is domicile; that where it is must be determined by surrounding circumstances, intention and the acts of the individual. The law assigns every citizen an actual residence somewhere. When a person has an actual residence it continues until another is acquired, and when a change of residence is alleged the burden of proving the change rests on the party making the allegation.

With this view of the case, we recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That A. M. Clintic is eligible to occupy the seat as a member of this House from the district of Bath, Alleghany and Highland counties.

—Which was agreed to.

The following report was presented :

To the House of Delegates :

Your committee to whom was referred the following resolution :

“ That the committee for courts of justice be instructed to enquire and report to this House as soon as practicable whether in their opinion the law passed at the last extra session imposing a license tax on persons selling liquors by sample is constitutional.”

—Make the following report :

That after carefully and fully examining the question referred to them for their opinion, they are constrained to report that in their judgment the law referred to is unconstitutional. The authority upon which the opinion of the committee is mainly based is the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the case of Robbins vs. Shelby Taxing District, 170 U. S. Rep., p. 489. While the court declares in that decision that it is an established principle that a State can legitimately, by virtue of its police power, pass laws “to regulate or restrict the sale of articles deemed injurious to the health or morals of the community”; yet the court also declares that “a State, in making such internal regulations, cannot impose taxes upon persons passing through the State or coming into it merely for a temporary purpose, especially if connected with inter-State or foreign commerce, nor can it impose such taxes upon property imported into the State from abroad or from another State, and not yet become a part of the common mass of property therein, and no discrimination can be made by any such regulations adversely to the persons or property of other States, and no regulations can be made directly affecting inter-State commerce.”

The committee is clearly of opinion that the law under consideration is repugnant to this decision of the supreme court, and is therefore unconstitutional.

JAMES HAY, Chairman.

February 25, 1888.

Mr. MAGRUDER offered the following resolution :

The SPEAKER laid before the House a letter from General F. H. Smith, as follows :

RICHMOND, VA., February 29, 1888.

HON. R. H. CARDWELL,

Speaker of the House of Delegates :

My Dear Sir,—I have duly received a copy of the resolution of the House of Delegates directing me to return 100 copies of the report of the board of visitors of the Virginia military institute which had been sent to me by the public printer.

I would respectfully state that I have never had in my possession a single copy of this report which had been printed for the use of the General Assembly.

It has been always customary when the annual reports of the board of visitors were printed to request the public printer to print a limited number of extra copies for the use of the institution, for which the printer was duly paid by the treasurer of the institute.

This year I requested the public printer to have 100 extra copies of the annual report of the board of visitors printed for the use of the institution.

The public printer kindly complied with my request, and in due time forwarded to me the 100 copies I had ordered, for which the printer was duly paid by the treasurer of the institute.

The copies thus sent to me were, in part, laid on the table of the joint committee of the General Assembly lately visiting the institute; some were sent to the president of the board of visitors, others given to the faculty.

I have directed my adjutant to forward to me without delay such undistributed copies as he may have, and they will be immediately sent to the House of Delegates.

Upon reference to the public printer this morning, he states that the 500 copies which he is directed by law to print for the use of the General Assembly, are still undistributed and in the hands of the binder. He thinks the resolution to which I am responding was introduced through some misapprehension, inasmuch as he has never sent away any copies of the report printed for the use of the General Assembly.

I have the honor to be Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

FRANCIS H. SMITH,

Superintendent Virginia Military Institute.

A message was received from the Senate by Mr. Staples, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to a joint resolution directing county and city treasurers not to sell lands for delinquent taxes, &c.; in which they respectfully request the concurrence of the House.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the governor, as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

RICHMOND, VA., March 3, 1888.

To the House of Delegates:

I herewith return, without my signature, House bill 192, entitled an act for the protection of farmers against spurious and worthless fertilizers.

A careful examination of this bill convinces me that the farmers will get no more protection than they are getting now, while injustice will be done the manufacturers because it will be impossible for them to comply with its provisions.

Section 1st requires the analysis made by the department of agriculture, over the signature of the commissioner of agriculture, to be stamped on every sack, bag, box or other package. This stamp or printed label must show the component parts of such manure or fertilizer; the percentage by weight which it contains of the following constituents—viz.: of phosphoric acid, soluble in pure cold water; of phosphoric acid, insoluble in pure cold water; of available ammonia and potash, and the commercial value of said ingredients.

The analysis herein required ignores the reverted phosphoric acid and available phosphoric acid, because it requires only the soluble and insoluble phosphoric acid to be given; and the farmer would thus have no idea how much available phosphoric acid is present. The bill also demands that the commercial value of the ingredients of the fertilizer should be given, but does not direct how such value be ascertained. If the value of these ingredients was stated at so much per pound or ton, it would afford no information to the farmer, unless the quantity of each ingredient was also stated, and in such a statement of value no allowance would be made for labor and skill in manufacturing.

The commercial value of materials used for fertilizers is subject to much fluctuation; the material which is the usual source of potash, for instance, has advanced from $7 in November to $12 in February; ammoniates and phosphate rock and other materials have changed values proportionately, too. No commercial value can be fixed to-day which would be even approximately correct a few months afterwards.

The proposed law carries with it the penalty of fine and imprisonment for falsely and fraudulently using an analysis made by the department, for the correctness of which the manufacturer is not responsible; but which he is required to print on his sacks, and thus made to guarantee.

The farmer has all the protection under the existing act, approved March 29, 1887, as he would have under the provisions of this bill; while the latter, if it became a law, would discriminate against Virginia manufacturers and dealers.

These are some of the reasons which induce me to return this bill for the consideration of the House.

FITZHUGH LEE.

The question being, Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the governor, was put and decided in the negative—yeas 3: nays 64.

P. W. MAGRUDER,
Committee on part of House.

"A."

They recommend that the provisions of the bill and amendments thereto, as set forth in sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 be stricken out, and the following inserted in lieu thereof:

2. To pay the interest on the public debt, funded under the act approved February 14th, 1882, entitled an act to ascertain and declare Virginia's equitable share of the debt and so forth, a sum sufficient for that purpose is hereby appropriated.

3. So much of the public revenue as may be received into the treasury after the 30th day of September, 1885, and the surplus of all other appropriations made prior to that date, unexpended within the two fiscal years hereinbefore provided for, and all other moneys not otherwise appropriated by law, shall constitute a general fund to defray such expenses authorized by law as are not herein particularly provided for.

4. It shall be the duty of the commissioners of the sinking fund to meet on the 1st Monday in April, 1886, and on the 1st Monday in every month thereafter, up to and including the month of April, 1888, and to determine at each of such meetings what sum, if any, can be spared from the treasury, after making ample allowance for all the expenses of the government, and of the public schools, and for the payment of interest on the three per centum bonds issued under the act of February 14th, 1882, and for all other appropriations. If it be determined by said commissioners that there is a surplus in the treasury, after making due allowance as aforesaid, they shall forthwith certify to the treasurer of the commonwealth what sum, not exceeding fifty thousand dollars in any month, they may determine to invest, as herein provided; and the treasurer shall, on or before the 20th day of the same month, place the sum so certified to the credit of said commissioners. The said commissioners shall, immediately after their meeting, advertise once a week, for two weeks, in one or more newspapers published in the city of Richmond, that they will receive offers for the sale of such amount of the said three per centum bonds, issued under the act of February 14th, 1882. All such offers shall be in writing, and shall be sealed, and shall be opened by the said commissioners, or a majority of them, at noon on the 20th day of the month, in the presence of the governor of the commonwealth, or in event of his absence, in the presence of the secretary of the commonwealth. If the 20th day of the month falls on Sunday or on a legal holiday, the said offers shall be opened on the next day which is not a legal holiday. The bonds which are offered at the lowest prices shall be purchased by the commissioners to the extent that the fund to their credit as aforesaid will enable them to purchase; and said commissioners shall have authority to reject any and all bids made. All bonds purchased under this act shall be so listed on the minutes of the board as to show the number and denomination of each, with the date of purchase and the price paid, and after being so listed, shall be delivered to the treasurer, who shall label and file the same in his office. No bond shall be purchased unless all unmatured coupons shall be attached thereto. All interest now due on the three per centum bonds heretofore purchased by said commissioners under the previous act, and all interest hereafter accruing thereon, as well as all interest that may accrue on bonds purchased under this act, shall also be used by said commissioners in carrying out the provisions of this act, in addition to the amounts to be drawn from the treasury as hereinbefore authorized. For all bonds so purchased, as well as expenses incurred under this act, the said commissioners shall, by special order entered on their minutes, authorize the second auditor to issue his warrants upon the treasurer. The said commissioners shall keep an accurate journal of their proceedings, and proper books of account, and shall make a full report of their transactions to each session of the General Assembly.

NOTE No. 2.—One of the criminal cases has been on the docket for a number of years; the party is a fugitive from justice, and has been since 1871. The other case—the party, under the statute, demanded to be tried in this court; the case will be disposed of at the October term, 1887.

NOTE No. 3.—Actions at law dismissed at Rules 1. Suits in equity dismissed at Rules 2.

NOTE No. 4.—In number twenty-four commenced is included one case pending on September 1, 1886, and twenty-three cases brought since September 1, 1886. In twenty-one cases decided, is one case pending at last report and twenty of the cases commenced since September 1, 1886; and there is also included in number twenty-one decided, all confession of judgments. The case reported as removed to other courts, is a case which was taken up to the Court of Appeals from the circuit court upon a writ of error—equity. In interlocutory decrees are included all orders. There were two cases dismissed at rules of the number commenced, but they are not included in the number three of final decrees. The one case removed to other courts is a chancery case taken from the court below to the Supreme Court of Appeals.

FROM THE

IN RELATION TO AID FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS OR MARINES.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
OFFICE OF THE AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS,
RICHMOND, December 8th, 1887.

HON. R. H. CARDWELL,
Speaker of the House of Delegates:

Sir,—I am required by the act of May 23d, 1887, entitled “an act to require proof of disability in order to obtain aid as a disabled soldier or marine,” to report to the General Assembly, at the next general session after their applications are filed, a list of those whose claims for aid under that act have been approved. In obedience to this requirement I have the honor to hand you herewith a list of such claimants, who number one hundred and eighteen. In addition to these there remain unpaid fifty-one claimants who filed applications under act of February 25th, 1884, before July 1st, 1887, the date on which the act of May 23d, 1887, went into effect.

Very respectfully,

MORTON MARYE,
Auditor of Public Accounts.

REPORT OF JOHN A. PARKER,

AGENT FOR THE

STATE OF VIRGINIA,

FOR THE COLLECTION OF THE CLAIM OF VIRGINIA vs. THE UNITED STATES, FOR ADVANCEMENTS MADE FOR THE WAR 1812.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Delegates of the State of Virginia:

The undersigned asks leave to report that his previous reports, giving a history of the case, and his connection with it, may be found in "House and Senate Reports," and especially in "Doc. 77 of the Senate in 1860," to all of which he asks leave to refer. The last paper, and the only one which can be found, is filed in the office of the auditor of Virginia. Suffice it to say, that he first discovered that this large, just and sacred debt, due to Virginia, and reported the same to Governor Wise, and subsequently to the Legislature, all which appears in said Doc. No. 77, session of 1859-60; that from that time to the present, now 28 years, he has devoted his time, and expended at least $8,000 of his own private means, to the prosecution of said claim; that the State has never expended one dollar.

THE LATE CONGRESS.

Early in December, 1885, the bill for a settlement was presented to the House of Representatives by the Hon. J. R. Tucker, and referred to the "committee on claims." On said committee was soon after placed the Hon. C. Trigg, of Virginia, and he was made a sub-committee to examine into and report the same to a full committee. Mr. Trigg, with great energy and industry, made himself fully acquainted with the whole subject and its merits, and promptly reported to the full committee, which unanimously directed him to report the bill to the House, and this was done, and it was placed on the calendar in March, 1886. It not having been called up, from March, 1886, to 27th January, 1887, it then came up, and only some fifteen members of the House indicated any opposition to its passage, and these not on its merits. Only five minutes' time were required to pass it. But unfortunately the time of the committee was exhausted, and it went "over" as unfinished business until the 31st January, when it again came up, and just at the moment it was about to pass, the question or point was made that there was "no quorum," which proved to be the fact, and again it went over.

THE SENATE.

In January Gen. Mahone was placed in charge of the bill, and on the 6th he promptly introduced it and had it referred to the committee of the Senate, and frequently in person went before said committee for the purpose of explanation, and obviating any and all objections, if any, and in February was so fortunate as to get a unanimous report in its favor; but, not only this, a "caucus" was held, and for the purpose of deciding what bills should pass, it was determined that our bill should be one. This is the first and only instance known to me of such action having taken place on a private bill, and indicates the interest felt in its passage.

On the night of the 2nd March the Senate met for the purpose of carrying out the action of the "caucus," and would unquestionably have done so but for the want of time. In the meantime Mr. Carlisle, the Speaker, had positively promised, as soon as the bill passed the Senate (as everyone confidently expected it would do), to give the floor to Mr. Trigg, to call it up and pass it. That the passage was not even one of doubt, will be seen, first, by an extract from a letter of the Hon. J. Goode, dated,

"WASHINGTON, 22 Feb'y, 1887.

My Dear Sir,—If we can get a vote I am confident of a favorable result in both houses. Day before yesterday I saw the Speaker, and explained to him the situation. He promised positively to recognize Mr. Trigg, for the purpose of calling up and passing the bill as soon as it passes the Senate.

Yours, very truly,

[Signed.] JOHN GOODE."

On 21st February, Gen. Mahone, in reply to a letter from me "asking his candid opinion," replied:

"I have just time to say it will pass."

MAHONE."

Although for the present the bill has to "lay over" until the next session, I am confident it can and will be passed, if I can give it that personal attention which is indispensable. But already about $1,500,000 has been saved to the State; both committees have fully recognized the claim as a debt due from the United States to the State; and to that amount Virginia has an offset against the bonds and interest held by the United States, and after such offset a large amount will still be due to Virginia.

I respectfully ask that papers marked "A," "B," "C" and "D," may be printed with this report, and made a part of it.

They will show:

1st. That I faithfully discharged the duties assigned me.

2d. That I have not had the least aid for years before the death of Mr. Thomas Green, and up to the present time, from any person except those employed by me; that all responsibility and all expenses have rested on me.

3d. That in view of the fact that I have devoted twenty-nine years of my time, and not less than $8,000 of money, I respectfully, but most earnestly ask that the small sum of only two hundred and fifty dollars may be advanced me, to enable me further to prosecute said claim, to be deducted from my commission on final settlement. This to me is of vital importance, as I have exhausted my private resources, and have been compelled to borrow money for my expenses.

I cannot think the Legislature will, under the circumstances, and looking to the future, deny to me this just and reasonable request.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN A. PARKER.

Tappahannock, Essex County, 23d March, 1887.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7, '83.

COL. JOHN A. PARKER,

My Dear Sir,—When I came to Congress in 1871, I found you the active, pressing and intelligent agent of the State of Virginia, on account war 1812. You so continued to my personal knowledge until two years ago, when I retired from Congress.

In all my public experience I never knew one who was more faithful to a trust than you in this case. That we did not succeed surely was no fault of yours. Many other claims, equally as just, have been neglected by Congress for a greater number of years than you had charge of this bill, notably the "French spoliation bill." By your active aid we had the House so organized and instructed that it certainly would have passed the House in the thirty-sixth Congress if it could have been reached on the calendar. No man could have done more, for none stood higher intellectually and socially than yourself, and none could have commanded more sympathy and respect than yourself. It was fate, not fault, that failed you.

Truly yours,

JOHN T. HARRIS.

"C."

Col. J. A. Parker, Essex County, Va.:

My Dear Sir,—In reply to your letter, received an hour or so ago, I have to say, that I am perfectly familiar with every movement you have made to pass the Virginia claims, for the last ten or twelve years, and I know that at no time have you had the least assistance from Mr. B. P. Green, the nominal agent of Virginia. I know that you have repeatedly invited him to attend the conferences called by you. I have personally attended all such conferences, and I know Mr. Green has never attended on any occasion, or sent any excuse for not doing so.

It is said Mr. Green holds an office under the United States; if so, he incurs a penalty for acting as agent for any claims against the United States.

Very hastily and truly,

[Signed,]

P. PENDLETON.

"D."

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3d, 1887.

My Dear Parker,—It was a painful thing to me, my parting with you this morning after so many years spent together in our efforts to have justice done by Congress to our old "mother State." I should not do justice to you, or to myself, if I failed to say that in all my life (and it has been one, as you know, of no small experience), I have never known so faithful, energetic and active an agent as you have been, and under the most discouraging circumstances. Operating, as I have been with you for some dozen years or more, I have seen and known more of you than any one man, and I know also that you have had but little aid, and often none at all, from your own delegation; and I still further know, that often, when bills have been ready to be put on their passage, and but little, if indeed any opposition to them, and could easily have been passed, not a man of them came to your aid. Your extensive acquaintance in and out of Congress, your popularity, experience and tact alone, has kept the claims alive. When nearly all others ceased to hope, you still persevered, and have already saved to the State one and a half-million of dollars, and fully recognized by committees of the Senate and House, at the present Congress, and by unanimous reports to each; and should your long and eventful life be prolonged, a much larger amount, I confidently believe, will be placed in the treasury of our old State. Justice cannot be much longer delayed, wholly by the neglect of Congress.

My best wishes and cordial friendship will ever be yours.

Col. John A. Parker.

PHIL. PENDLETON.

P. S.—You have expended many thousand dollars, the State not one. You are entitled to and no doubt will receive the thanks of every tax-payer in the State.

I shall write you again perhaps to-morrow.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PENITENTIARY.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
VIRGINIA PENITENTIARY,
RICHMOND, VA., January, 1888. }

HON. R. H. CARDWELL,

Speaker of the House of Delegates:

Sir,—In response to a resolution offered by Mr. H. L. Carter, delegate from the city of Richmond, and agreed to on the 16th instant, asking information in regard to the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company, &c., is herewith respectfully submitted, viz:

First.—What have been the disbursements by the State to the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company and its predecessor companies, in cash, on account of convicts on their work?

Answer.—The amount paid the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company to date is twenty-one thousand four hundred and seventy-six dollars and twenty-three cents ($21,476.23); the amount paid its predecessor company (the Bristol Coal and Iron Narrow-Gauge railroad company, was paid by the auditor of public accounts, and I respectfully refer you to him for the information asked for on that point.

Second.—All other costs to the State for said convicts?

Answer.—The amounts paid the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company and the Bristol Coal and Iron Narrow-Gauge railroad company, covers all expense to the State for said convicts.

Third.—What sums in cash have been received by the State from said company?

Answer.—Nothing, that I am aware of.

Fourth.—What amount has been received by the State in securities at par, and also the present market value of the same?

Answer.—From what information I have obtained, the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company have deposited with the treasurer of the commonwealth twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) of its first mortgaged 6 per cent. bonds, which are held by the commonwealth as collateral; as to their par and present market value I know nothing, and would respectfully refer you to the treasurer of the commonwealth for further information on that point.

Fifth.—A copy of the contract under which said convicts are held?

Answer.—A copy of the contract is herewith enclosed, marked No. 1.

Sixth.—What amount is now due the State from said company?

Answer.—This is embraced in my first answer.

Seventh.—Are there any applications for convicts now on file on terms that are more favorable to the State?

Answer.—Applications on file with the governor, under the act approved March 6th, 1886, "known as the Van Doran bill;" the Farmville and Powhatan railroad company applies for not less than one hundred nor more than two hundred convicts; the Abingdon coal and iron company applies for two hundred and fifty convicts; the Roanoke and Southern railroad company applies for two hundred and fifty (250) convicts; the Great Southern railroad company applies for ——— number of convicts.

Capt. J. C. Davis, contractor on the Clinch river division of the Norfolk and Western railroad company, agrees to pay eighty cents (80c.) per day for each convict under the 6th section of the bill, "known as the Van Doran bill," approved March 6th, 1886. This last applicant, in my opinion, is the only one which is more favorable to the interest of the State than the contract with the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company.

Respectfully,

W. W. MOSES, Sup't.

THE CONTRACT.

This contract, made and entered into this 17th day of November, 1885, between William E. Cameron, governor of the State of Virginia, of the first part, and the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company, of the second part, witnesseth:

1st. That in pursuance of the provisions of acts of the General Assembly of Virginia, entitled an act to incorporate the Bristol Coal and Iron Narrow-Gauge railroad company, and to transfer to it certain franchises, rights, privileges and properties of the Virginia and Kentucky railroad company, approved March 27, 1876, as amended by an act entitled an act to amend and re-enact the 3rd, 5th, 7th, 9th, 10th and 11th sections of an act entitled an act to incorporate the Bristol Coal and Iron Narrow-Gauge railroad company, and to transfer to it certain franchises, rights, privileges and properties of the Virginia and Kentucky railroad company, approved March 27, 1876, approved March 21, 1877, and an act entitled an act to amend and re-enact the 1st section of an act entitled an act to provide for the working of penitentiary convicts on the Danville and New River railroad, approved March 27, 1876, and to repeal the 2d section of the said act, and to furnish penitentiary convicts to any company which may construct a railroad in the counties of Henry and Patrick, or either of them; to the Washington, Cincinnati and St. Louis Narrow-Gauge railroad, Staunton and Parkersburg turnpike, the Upper Appomattox company, and the Bristol Coal and Iron Narrow-Gauge railroad company, approved February 28th, 1878. And whereas, the General Assembly of Virginia passed an act entitled an act to change the name of the Bristol Coal and Iron Narrow-Gauge railroad company to South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company, and confer certain privileges thereon, approved January 26, 1882. The governor of Virginia will furnish the said South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company, free of hire, so many convicts as are not actually employed in the workshops of the penitentiary at manufacturing or mechanical labor, to be used and employed for the purposes set forth in said act, in such numbers and at such times as the president of said South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company may call for the same, until the said railroad shall be completed.

2nd. The president of the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company may, from time to time, make requisition on the superintendent of the penitentiary for convicts, under the provisions of this contract, and the superintendent shall furnish the same, so far as it shall be within his power, and the said superintendent shall also furnish, upon the requisition of the president of said company, any and all convicts which are now employed upon any public works, at the expiration of the leases or contract under which they, the said convicts, are employed, and deliver the same to the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company at the nearest convenient point for the transportation to the terminus of the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad.

3rd. The transportation of said convicts shall be furnished and paid for from the place of delivering by the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company.

4th. Rules and regulations for the general conduct, guarding, maintenance, clothing, and medical attendance of the convicts, to be furnished under this contract, shall be from time to time prescribed by the superintendent of the penitentiary, with the approval of the governor. True and detailed statements of the expenses of maintaining, guarding and clothing said convicts, and of their medical attendance, shall be, on or before the 14th day of each month, certified by the president of the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company to the governor, through the superintendent of the penitentiary, who shall endorse his approval of the same, and the amount thus expended and approved shall be paid by the auditor of public accounts to the president of the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company upon the requisition of the governor. But the cost to the State of such maintenance, guarding, clothing and medical attendance shall not exceed the cost of maintenance, guarding, clothing, medical attendance per day per capita of convicts in the penitentiary, as shown in the last preceding report of the superintendent, and all excess over this amount shall be paid by the South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company.

5th. The convicts employed under this contract shall be returned whenever the work of said company is completed, and the expense of transporting them from the works on said railroad shall be paid by the said South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company.

6th. The convicts, while in service of said company, shall not be required to work on Sunday, and the rules, regulations, and discipline for convicts in the penitentiary, so far as practicable, shall be observed and enforced by and upon them while in such service. For all convicts received by the said company the president of the same shall deliver to the superintendent of the penitentiary his written receipt, giving the names and other concurrent description of the convicts furnished; and in case of the escape of any convict, all expenses incurred in his recapture shall be borne by said company. For each escaped convict not recaptured, the said company shall pay fifty dollars as liquidated damages. The said company bind themselves not to take, or permit to be taken, any of said convicts beyond the limits of the State of Virginia.

7th. It is further agreed that the said South Atlantic and Ohio railroad company, through its president, shall execute a proper bond, in the penal sum of eight thousand dollars, conditioned upon the faithful performance of this contract on its part. This contract shall be in force from and after the date thereof.

FROM THE

GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA

TRANSMITTING THE

REPORT OF THE SECOND AUDITOR ON THE CONDITION OF THE "MILLER FUND."

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA.

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

RICHMOND, VA., January 31, 1888.

To the Legislature:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the report of the Second Auditor on the condition of the "Miller Fund."

Very respectfully,

FITZHUGH LEE.

THE MILLER FUND.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
SECOND AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, January 1, 1888.

His Excellency FITZHUGH LEE,
Governor of Virginia:

SIR:

Under the provisions of the will of Samuel Miller, deceased, for the establishment and perpetual support of a school on the manual labor principle, on a tract of land in the county of Albemarle, and the act of Assembly of February 24, 1874, entitled "An act to give effect to a compromise of the litigation in respect to the construction and effect of the will of Samuel Miller, deceased, and to establish the Manual Labor School, provided for in the twenty-fifth clause of said will," it is made the duty of the Second Auditor to open and keep a separate account of the fund given in trust for the above purpose, to be denominated the Miller Fund, and, annually, on the 31st of December, to make and render a true and accurate account of the fund, showing distinctly and in detail the receipts and disbursements on account of the same during the year immediately preceding, a copy of which account, verified by the oath of the Second Auditor, is required to be delivered to the Governor, to be by him laid before the Legislature, and another copy thereof, verified in like manner, to be published for one month in two newspapers—one printed in the town of Charlottesville, and the other in the city of Richmond.

COMMUNICATION

FROM THE

GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA

IN RELATION TO THE

DESTRUCTION OF A PORTION OF THE PENITENTIARY BY FIRE, AND INCLOSING OPINION OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL
AS TO LEGAL CONSTRUCTION OF THE CON-TRACT WITH JOS. DAVIS SHOE COMPANY, &c.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, VA., February 2, 1888.

To the Legislature:

I have the honor to transmit herewith a communication from the board of directors of the Virginia penitentiary, in reference to the recent loss of that portion of the building occupied by Mr. Joseph Davis for shoe shops, under a contract with the State.

For your information it may be proper to add, that the existing contract between the State of Virginia and Mr. Davis was made by and with the advice and consent of the Hon. Wm. E. Cameron, then governor of the State, on the 28th day of July, 1885, or about five months before I entered upon the discharge of the duties of this office.

A former contract, by this agreement, was extended for a period of five years after the expiration of its term, namely, from and after the 1st day of May, 1887, and was thus continued until the 1st day of May, 1892.

In April, 1886, in response to my request, the attorney-general gave me his written opinion, that this contract had been legally executed, pursuant to authority conferred by the acts of the General Assembly of Virginia, and was obligatory upon the State.

In reconsidering the terms of the contract on the part of the State with Mr. Davis, since the destruction of the building assigned to him for his shops, I have thought proper to ask the attorney-general for his opinion as to the present obligation of the State under its contract with Mr. Davis to provide another building in which his former work could be renewed. I submit herewith his response to that request.

FITZHUGH LEE.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
OFFICE BOARD OF DIRECTORS VIRGINIA PENITENTIARY,
RICHMOND, VA., January 31, 1888.

To his Excellency, GOVERNOR FITZHUGH LEE:

Dear Sir,—It is our duty to inform you that between five and six o'clock this morning a large building of this institution, known as the "shoe shop," and occupied by the "Davis Shoe Co.," lessee, was destroyed by fire. The loss to the State we have not yet been able to ascertain with accuracy, but it will not exceed $20,000. The Davis Shoe Co., through their representative here, Mr. George, ask that the building be replaced at once, in order that they may resume work with as little loss of time as possible, in accordance with the contract entered into between them and Governor Cameron, and which expires in May, 1892. Every month of interruption of this contract entails a heavy loss to the State.

As to the origin of the fire, our investigation so far made does not afford sufficient information to enable us to make a trustworthy report, but we mean to pursue the enquiry with all diligence, unless the Legislature thinks that it would be better for one of its committees to undertake this duty.

JOHN R. COOKE,
W. D. CHESTERMAN,
F. W. CHAMBERLAYNE.
W. W. MOSES,
Superintendent.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, February 2, 1888.

His Excellency, FITZHUGH LEE, ESQ.,
Governor of Virginia:

Sir,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your request for my opinion in writing as to whether there is any legal obligation resting upon the State under the terms of the contracts made with the superintendent of the penitentiary by Joseph Davis, dated, respectively, the 7th day of April, 1880, and the 28th day of July, 1885, to re-build the shoe shops recently destroyed by fire at the penitentiary

The contract of July 28th, 1885, is a renewal of the contract of April 7th, 1880, and refers to and adopts the terms of that contract, with some additional provisions and conditions.

The terms of the contract of the 7th of April, 1880, so far as they are material to this enquiry, are as follows :

"And the said party of the first part is also to furnish to the party of the second part, free of rent, whatever buildings may be required for the contemplated manufacture, except that it is understood that he is not bound to have any new buildings erected for this purpose, and also understood and agreed that if the buildings at any time in use by the said party of the second part should be destroyed by fire or other causes, said party of the second part shall not be bound to pay for the labor of any of the said convicts who may be thus thrown out of employment, until new or suitable buildings shall be placed at his disposal."

The contract of the 28th day of July, 1885, has this additional provision in regard to the buildings, viz.:

"Said Davis agrees to hire and employ, at the same rate, one hundred and fifty (150) additional male convicts, making five hundred (500) in all, whenever the party of the first part will provide suitable and ample building or rooms for working them, and as many female convicts additional, also at the same rate he is now paying for them, as the party of the first part will furnish and provide proper working rooms for."

The contract of July, 1885, further recites, that

"All convicts furnished and employed hereunder are to be furnished and employed upon the terms and provisions of said Davis contract of April 7th, 1880, except so far as herein modified."

The contracts contain many other provisions and conditions not material to be considered in this connection.

After giving the fullest consideration possible in the limited time I have had within which to examine the contracts, I am of the opinion that there is no legal obligation resting upon the State to rebuild the shoe shops occupied by Davis under the contracts recited. An express provision of the first contract exempted the State from any obligation to erect new buildings, and to provide for the contingency which might arise from a destruction of the buildings by fire or other cause. It was agreed that in such event Davis should not be bound to pay for the labor of any of the convicts who might be thus thrown out of employment until new or suitable buildings should be placed at his disposal.

I am of opinion, therefore, that it is optional with the State whether or not she will rebuild the shops, and in the meantime Davis is exempted from any obligation to pay hire for any convicts thrown out of employment on account of the destruction of the shops by fire.

Very respectfully,

R. A. AYERS,
Attorney-General.

A COMMUNICATION

FROM THE

GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA

TRANSMITTING

A LIST OF PARDONS, &C.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, VA., March 1, 1888.

To the Legislature:

In accordance with the mandate of the Constitution, I have the honor to transmit a list of persons pardoned, reprieved, or whose punishment has been commuted during the last two years, with the reasons for remitting, commuting, or granting the same.

FITZHUGH LEE.

PARDONS.

1. Soney Wines, Warrenton, Va., convicted December, 1885, of carrying concealed weapons, and sentenced to jail in default of payment of a fine of $20; pardoned January 6, 1886, upon recommendation of the mayor upon the ground that the weapon was not intended to be carried concealed.

2. Allen Smith, Wythe county, convicted December, 1885, of felony, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary; pardoned February 1, 1886, on account of the extreme age of the prisoner and unreliable proof of his guilt.

3. J. W. Conway, Richmond, convicted April 7th of theft, and sentenced to ninety days in jail; pardoned upon recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney, who, having known the prisoner to have always borne a good character, and was influenced to commit the act while under the influence of liquor.

4. Joseph Graves, Richmond, convicted in 1876 of unlawful gaming, and sentenced to jail for six months and fined one hundred dollars; pardoned upon the ground of absence from the trial, and since then has been an exile from the state, and conditionally that the fine be paid.

5. John W. Tucker, convicted April 6, 1886, of unlawful wounding, and sentenced to three months in jail and fined two hundred dollars; pardoned April 14, 1886, on recommendation of jury and evidence convincing that the act was no criminal intent, and the dependency of a large family.

6. C. P. Averett, convicted February, 1886, of disturbing a congregation assembled in public worship, and sentenced to thirty days in jail; pardoned March 4, 1886, on account of very ill health.

7. John C. Smith, convicted January, 1886, of felony, and sentenced to six months in jail; pardoned March 4, 1886, upon certificate of surgeon of jail and president of the board of health that the prisoner was suffering from consumption, and longer confinement would imperil his health.

8. George C. Milliner, convicted December 5th of assault and battery, and sentenced to six months in jail; pardoned March 9, 1886, upon recommendation of jury, clerk of court, sheriff, and citizens.

9. C. B. Stratton, Richmond, convicted September, 1886, of a misdemeanor, and sentenced to jail for four months; pardoned October 13th upon the recommendation of commonwealth's attorney and other prominent citizens.

10. Robert Porter, convicted of burning jail in December, 1885, and sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary; pardoned March 11, 1886, satisfactory evidence being produced that the boy, through ignorance of the crime, set fire to the jail during severe cold weather.

11. T. L. Jones, convicted September, 1884, of forgery, and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years; pardoned March 15, 1886, upon the recommendation of the judge, jury, commonwealth's attorney, clerk of the court, and his physician certifying the unsound condition of the prisoner's mind.

12. Simon Levine, convicted December, 1882, of horse stealing, and sentenced to the penitentiary for nine years; pardoned March 17, 1886, upon the recommendation of the judge, commonwealth's attorney, and the man from whom the horse was stolen; also upon the ground that the prisoner was quite young and under the influence of strong drink.

13. Sidney B. Made, convicted in 1881 of rape, and sentenced to the penitentiary for fifteen years; pardoned March 22, 1886. Highly recommended by the surgeon of the penitentiary; the prisoner suffering with acute "phthisis pulmonalis," rendering his recovery hopeless, and from the superintendent of the penitentiary that his conduct has been very good as a prisoner.

14. James W. Wiley, convicted of horse stealing, and sentenced to the penitentiary for twelve years; pardoned April 17, 1886, upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the state prison and the superintendent.

15. James B. Staples, convicted February, 1886, of bigamy, and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years; pardoned April 20, 1886, upon the recommendation of the judge, jury, attorney for the commonwealth, clerk of the county court, and others, with satisfactory evidence that the prisoner was not in his right mind, and other mitigating circumstances that were worthy of clemency.

16, 17, 18, and 19. William Howard, Edward Wilson, Frank Lanford, and Charles Miller, all convicted February 28, 1886, of unlawful oyster dredging, and sentenced to the county jail for two months and fifteen days; pardoned April 23, 1886, their release being highly recommended by all the officers of the county court of Mathews, where they were convicted. The prisoners were only seamen, and ignorant of the laws of Virginia prohibiting oyster dredging.

20. James Lang, convicted December 5, 1886, of assault and battery, and sentenced to the jail for six months; pardoned April 28, 1886, upon the recommendation of judge, jury, commonwealth's attorney, and others, that the applicant was worthy of clemency.

21. Allen Johnson, sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for rape; pardoned April 29, 1886, upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that the life of the prisoner would be endangered by longer confinement; the superintendent concurring.

22. William Corbin, convicted March 4, 1886, of petit larceny, and sentenced to six months in jail; pardoned April 14, 1886, at the request of the attorney for the commonwealth that the prisoner is of weak mind, and has always borne a good character.

23. Lucy Brockenborough, sentenced to twelve months in the city jail for unlawful shooting; pardoned May 5, 1886, upon the written statement of the commonwealth's attorney that the facts in the case were not presented at the trial, and the term of four months, in his opinion, being sufficient punishment for the offence.

24. J. J. Watts, convicted October, 1884, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for horse stealing; pardoned May 6, 1886, by request of judge, jury, commonwealth's attorney, sheriff, clerk of court, and others, that the prisoner was of unsound mind, and was not morally responsible for the crime committed.

25. Margaret Morris, convicted February, 1886, of perjury, and sentenced to twelve months in jail; pardoned July 28, 1886, upon recommendation of judge, jury, and commonwealth's attorney, having, in their opinion, served a sufficient term for the expiation of the crime.

26. J. Wade Taber, convicted December, 1885, of voluntary manslaughter, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned July 6, 1886, upon recommendation of commonwealth's attorney, judge, jury, member of House of Delegates, and all the county officers, it being established that the accused bore no malice to the deceased, and, therefore, it is believed the shooting was accidental.

27. William Preston, convicted May, 1886, of petit larceny, and sentenced to six months in jail; pardoned July 7, 1886, owing to the youth of the prisoner, connected with strong extenuating circumstances, presented by the judge and commonwealth's attorney.

28. Joe Burks, Pittsylvania county, convicted September, 1885, of voluntary manslaughter, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned July 10, 1886. His petition was signed by the wife of the deceased, exonerating Burks of the crime, by the mayor of Danville, who heard all the evidence in the preliminary trial; by the commonwealth's attorney, in his opinion if the wife of the deceased had attended the trial, Burks would not have been convicted; also by the jury and others.

29. John Henry Morris, Greene county, convicted April, 1886, of voluntary manslaughter, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary; pardoned July 20, 1886, on the recommendation of ex-Governor Kemper, and a large number of other reputable persons. Fountain Morris, the deceased, threatened to kill the father of J. H. Morris, pointing a loaded gun at him, when his son fired at deceased with a small pistol, fracturing his thigh, and from neglect he died.

30. John Preston, Washington county, convicted March, 1884, of house-breaking and burglary, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary; pardoned July 24, 1886, upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary, who finds, after careful examination, that the prisoner is suffering from "phthisis pulmonalis," complicated with bronchitis, and longer confinement would result in speedy death.

31. Josephine Smith, Norfolk, convicted November, 1884, of assault, and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years; pardoned July 24, 1886, upon the certificate of the surgeon of the penitentiary that longer confinement would result in death, and by an immediate pardon the prisoner could stand transportation home.

32. Parker Turner, Westmoreland county, convicted September, 1884, of attempted rape, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary; pardoned July 24, 1886, upon surgeon's certificate and recommendation that the health of the prisoner was such that longer confinement would very seriously endanger his life.

33. James Hurley, Augusta county, convicted June, 1886, of assault and battery, and sentenced to six months in county jail; pardoned September 14, 1886, upon recommendation of the judge and commonwealth's attorney that it was a case eminently proper for the exercise of executive clemency.

34. David Breeden, Page county, convicted May and July, 1886, of unlawful shooting, and sentenced to four months in jail and fined $125; pardoned August 27, 1886, upon recommendation of nineteen out of twenty-four jurors trying him upon the charges at the May and July terms of the court, and the application of the prosecuting attorney, judge, sheriff, jailor, and a large number of citizens.

35. Phillip Braxton, Essex county, convicted July, 1886, of forgery, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned on the recommendation of judge, attorney for the commonwealth, the parties against whom the offence was committed, and others.

36, 37, and 38. Enoch Johnson, Spotsylvania county; Charles Scott, Washington county; Isaac McCoy, Princes Anne county; pardoned October 15, 1887, upon certificate of surgeon of penitentiary that they "are hopelessly diseased, and will live but a short time under longer confinement."

39. John R. Sturges, Accomac county, convicted January, 1886, of voluntary manslaughter, and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years; pardoned September 24, 1886, under satisfactory reasons to the governor that the man killed himself, and not shot by accused, and that potential evidence exists that was not brought before the court. The ball found in the body of deceased fit exactly the pistol found with the body, in the number of grooves and otherwise, and did not come from the pistol of accused. The pistol of the deceased and ball found in his body was not produced before the court. Also, see affidavits to the effect that the deceased's brother-in-law, widow, and other relatives had offered to sign a petition for the pardon of accused on the payment of a certain specified sum of money.

40. Solomon Tucker, Petersburg, convicted November, 1885, of larceny, and sentenced to jail for twelve months; pardoned on the certificate of jail physician that he was "languishing with consumption, and in his present condition apprehended his speedy dissolution"; with a personal appeal from the city sergeant and ex-mayor, who sentenced him.

41. James McDonald, Campbell county, convicted January, 1886, of bigamy, and sentenced to four years and seven months in the penitentiary; pardoned October 27, 1886, upon recommendation of judge, jurors, commonwealth's attorney, and a large number of the most prominent citizens of the county.

42. John Hilton, Montgomery county, convicted September, 1886, of car robbery, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary; pardoned November 5, 1886, upon the personal appeal from the commonwealth's attorney that there were strong mitigating circumstances, the evidence upon which he was convicted was given by notoriously bad characters.

43. Charles Shaffer, Albemarle county, convicted February, 1883, of grand larceny, and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years.

44. George F. Grant, Pittsylvania county, convicted April, 1884, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to the penitentiary for eighteen years.

45. Scofield Webster, Albemarle county, convicted January, 1881, of rape, and sentenced to the penitentiary for fifteen years.

46. Henry Scott, Pulaski county, convicted September, 1884, of house-breaking, and sentenced to the penitentiary for six years.

47. Charles Boyd, Smyth county, convicted May, 1884, of house-breaking, and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years.

48. Susan Hairston, Henry county, convicted April, 1880, of house-breaking, and sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years.

The six above-named convicts were all pardoned November 5, 1886, upon the certificate of the surgeon of the penitentiary, and sustained by consulting physicians that all of them are hopelessly diseased, and longer confinement would result in an early death, whereas, if released, in all probability their lives would be prolonged.

49. William Henderson, Wythe county, convicted August, 1885, of robbery, and sentenced to eight years to the penitentiary; pardoned November 13, 1886, upon the recommendation of commonwealth's attorney, being convinced of prisoner's innocence from facts developed since the conviction.

50. Louis Scott, Richmond, Va., convicted February, 1886, of house-burning, and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years; pardoned November 20, 1886, upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that the prisoner was hopelessly diseased with epilepsy, from which death might be produced at any time.

51. A. F. Hendricks, Hanover county, convicted November, 1886, of involuntary manslaughter, and sentenced to the penitentiary for twelve months; pardoned November 6, 1886, upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the regular judge, all the jury, mother of the man who was killed, and other citizens, including the county representative.

52. Henry Ball, Lancaster county, convicted August, 1886, of felony, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned upon recommendation of judge, jury, and commonwealth's attorney, owing to strong mitigating circumstances.

53, 54, and 55. Willis Dabney, Oliver Thomas, Alexander McDonnough, Richmond city, convicted November, 1886, of illegal registration, and sentenced to twelve months in jail; pardoned December 21, 1886, upon the recommendation of judge and commonwealth's attorney.

56. David Krance, Franklin county, convicted October, 1886, of forgery, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned January 12, 1887, upon recommendation of judge, jury, and a large number of prominent citizens. The jury testifying that technically, they believe him guilty, but that a shorter term of imprisonment would meet the ends of justice.

57. Isaiah Hawkins, Botetourt county, convicted March, 1886, of felonious assault, and sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary; pardoned January 15, 1887, upon recommendation of commonwealth's attorney, Mr. Glasgow, and others, on account of very extenuating facts in the case subsequently produced.

58, 59, 60, and 61. David Williams, Petersburg; Doctor Love, Lunenburg county; Jordan Berry, Norfolk; Elzy Middlebrook, Augusta county.

The above-named convicts were pardoned January 17, 1887, upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary, with his certificate that they are all hopelessly diseased, and longer confinement would precipitate their approaching end.

62. Obediah Thompson, Carroll county; pardoned on the recommendation of the delegate to the House from that county, county clerk, treasurer, &c.

63. Lucy Smith, Middlesex county, convicted of attempt to murder, and sentenced to six months in jail; pardoned December 1, 1886, upon the recommendation of judge, jury, and all the county officers.

64. J. L. Bidwell, Danville, convicted October, 1886, of felonious shooting, and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years; pardoned February 1, 1887, upon the recommendation of judge, jury, and a large number of citizens, and other officers of the city.

65. Henry C. Miller, convicted March, 1881, of manslaughter, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary; pardoned February 17, 1887, upon recommendation of judge, jury commonwealth's attorney, sheriff, and prominent citizens, believing that the punishment to be excessive.

66, 67, 68, 69, and 70. George Fentress, Robert Johnston, Anthony Oliver, William H. Porter, and Walker Wilson.

The above-named convicts were pardoned February 23, 1887, on the statement and certificate of the surgeon that they were hopelessly diseased, and says: I respectfully ask that you give these names your earliest attention, as some of them will be too feeble to bear transportation a few days hence. Sallie Medley has died since I had her record written.

71. Albert Lyles, convicted October, 1885, of forgery, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned February 12, 1887, upon recommendation of judge, jury, and commonwealth's attorney that there were strong mitigating circumstances in the case, and the prisoner having served fifteen months of the time, they think it sufficient punishment for the crime.

72. David Johnson, Chesterfield county, convicted December, 1886, of petit larceny, and sentenced to six months in jail; pardoned February 17, 1887, on the recommendation of the jail physician that longer confinement would greatly endanger his health; indeed, irreparably, and was strongly recommended by the judge, commonwealth's attorney, and a large number of the jury.

73. Ned Jackson, Nottoway county, convicted January, 1887, of larceny, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary; pardoned March 7th, owing to very strong mitigating circumstances which were attested by the commonwealth's attorney and all the jury.

74. John Bradley, convicted March 11, 1887, of petit larceny, and sentenced to thirty days in jail; pardoned March 28, 1887, upon the recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney.

75 and 76. J. C. Wighting and Elsie Snead; pardoned March 1, 1887, upon recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that they were hopelessly diseased, and that longer confinement would result in their prison death.

77. Garland Jackson, convicted October, 1883, of larceny, and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years; pardoned March, 1887, having served the term prescribed by law, and, in attempting to make his escape, acting under advice of others, had an additional year imposed upon him. His release was recommended by the commonwealth's attorney, judge, and many others.

78. Thomas Nelmes, James City, convicted August, 1883, of burglary, and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary; pardoned March 21st upon recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney, because, since his conviction, he has entertained grave doubts as to his sanity, and he thinks the defence justifiable in the argument of kleptomania, superinduced by epilepsy.

79. Lincoln Woodfolk, Rockingham county, sentenced July, 1886, to two years in the penitentiary for house-breaking; pardoned upon recommendation of the judge, jury, and commonwealth's attorney, owing to mitigating circumstances, and the court desired to have him as a witness in the case of one who was a party to the crime in the charges preferred against him.

80, 81, 82, 83, and 84. Governor Lee yesterday (March 29th), pardoned the following convicts upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary, Dr. J. C. Watson, that they were hopelessly diseased, and could live at best but a short time: Charles Oaks, of Pittsylvania, entered for attempted rape, five years; William Smith, of Gloucester, rape, ten years; Addison Clements, of Franklin county, house-breaking and arson, eight years; Beverley Howard, of Fauquier, arson, five years; Thomas Starkey, of Franklin county, burglary, four years.

85. William R. Smith, Richmond, convicted of felony, and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years; pardoned April 2, 1887, upon recommendation of a commission of doctors specially appointed, together with the surgeon of the penitentiary. All recommended his pardon.

86. William Hobson, Richmond, convicted March, 1887, of house-breaking, and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years; pardoned May 7, 1887, upon recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney, because he plead guilty through ignorance, and it was afterwards discovered that no crime was committed.

87. Marion Pomeroy, Warren county, convicted 1884 of rape, and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of eighteen years; pardoned May 5, 1887, upon the recommendation of Mr. H. H. Downing (House of Delegates), who prosecuted him, and who certifies that if subsequent facts and reliable information had been produced at the trial, the term of sentence would not have been more than he has now served.

88. Annie Wilson, Norfolk county, convicted November, 1886, of assault and battery, and sentenced to jail for twelve months; pardoned May 6, 1887, upon recommendation of the attorney for the commonwealth, judge, county treasurer, and others, owing to mitigating circumstances, and the surgeon of the jail certifying that she was in very bad health.

89. Anderson Wilson, convicted October, 1878, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to the penitentiary for eighteen years; pardoned April 29, 1887, upon the recommendation of the circuit judge, who tried him, county treasurer, deputy sheriff, and others.

90. J. M. Hoover, Highland county, convicted July, 1885, of forgery, and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary; pardoned May 21, 1887, under evidence of strong palliating circumstances, and the personal recommendation of the senator and representative from that district and county.

91. William Bever, Louisa county, convicted January, 1880, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary; pardoned May 21, 1887, upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that his health was such as to justify his removal from prison.

92. James Porter, convicted January, 1887, of petit larceny, upon two indictments, for ten months in jail; pardoned May 21, 1887, upon recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney and others; all of whom earnestly solicit executive clemency.

93. John Mauk, Warren county, convicted April, 1883, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary; pardoned May 24, 1887, upon recommendation of senator (member of House of Delegates) and officers of the county court.

94. J. B. Garnett, Caroline county, convicted in 1886 of forgery, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary; pardoned May 24, 1887, upon recommendation of member of House of Delegates, sheriff of the county, and a large number of citizens.

95. Lou Booker, Buckingham county, convicted February, 1887, of petit larceny, and sentenced to five months in the penitentiary; pardoned May 27, 1887, upon recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney, judge, county treasurer, sheriff, and others, owing to strong mitigating circumstances.

96. Benjamin F. Turman, Floyd county, convicted in 1885, of felony, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, and one year additional for attempting to escape; pardoned June 4, 1887, upon the recommendation of the judge, commonwealth's attorney, clerk of the court, and others.

97. W. K. Whitlaw, Lynchburg, convicted July 8, 1887, of forgery, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned July 8, 1887, of forgery and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years; pardoned July 14, 1887, upon the recommendation of most of the jury and some of the best citizens of the county.

98. Samuel W. Mulligan, Albemarle county, convicted March, 1885, of house-burning, and sentenced to the penitentiary for eight years; pardoned July 15, 1887, upon recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary, who certified that the convict is hopelessly ill, and cannot live more than ten days, even though he be pardoned.

99. D. E. Rosenbaum, Bedford county, convicted for selling liquors without a license, and sentenced to twelve months in jail and fined $125 and costs; pardoned August 4th (except fine and costs) upon the solicitations of the jury, commonwealth's attorney, judge, and county officers, and many citizens.

100. John Hampton, Pittsylvania county, convicted March 25, 1882, of forgery, and sentenced to state prison for ten years; pardoned August 9, 1887, upon certificate of the surgeon of the penitentiary that "he is passed all hope of recovery, and cannot live much longer under prison confinement."

101. Lemuel Quarles, Warwick county, was received at the penitentiary April 11, 1886, to serve seven years' imprisonment for highway robbery; pardoned August 9, 1887, upon the surgeon's certificate that he is hopelessly diseased, and will, in all probability, live but a short time.

102. William Clements, Pittsylvania county, convicted June, 1887, of larceny, and sentenced to ninety days in jail; pardoned August 12, 1887, upon the recommendation of the jail physician and the attorney for the commonwealth, the magistrate who tried him, and others, that he is of unsound mind, and longer confinement would so impair his health as to render recovery doubtful.

103. Edward Jeffries, Cumberland county, convicted of felony, and sentenced to sixty days in jail; pardoned August 12, 1887, upon the recommendation of all of the jury and the commonwealth's attorney.

104. William Briggs, Culpeper county, convicted December, 1886, of manslaughter, and sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary; pardoned August 15, 1887. The surgeon of the penitentiary certifying that he is suffering from consumption, and is confined to the hospital all the time, and will soon die unless released.

105. William Booker, Prince Edward county, convicted June, 1886, of rape, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary; pardoned August 12, 1887, by request of the judge, jury, prosecuting attorney, and others, upon the ground that the prisoner was not guilty of the crime charged by the statement of the woman in their presence.

106. Isaac Lee Blankenship, Montgomery county, convicted December, 1886, of assault with intent to kill, and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years; pardoned August 18, 1887, owing to strong mitigating circumstances and very urgent appeals from citizens for clemency, believing the sentence too severe for the offence; also certificate from the surgeon of the penitentiary that his health is being seriously impaired by confinement. The petition was also recommended by the prosecuting attorney.

107 and 108. Julia Lawrence, Nelson county, convicted February, 1886, of arson, and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years; William Day, Pittsylvania county, convicted April, 1885, of grand larceny, and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years; pardoned August 26, 1887, on the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that both are hopelessly ill of consumption, rapidly declining, and in a few weeks will be too feeble to bear transportation.

109. May Collin, Greene county, convicted April, 1887, of assault, and sentenced to six months in jail and fined $30; pardoned September 5, 1887, upon the certificate of the jail physician that "symptoms of typhoid fever are rapidly developing," and recommends that he be released at once and sent home, where he may have proper and necessary attention, or fatal consequences would, in all probability, follow. The petition was signed by all the officers of the court.

110. Shadrack Carter, Augusta county, convicted March, 1886, of house-breaking, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary; pardoned upon recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that the prisoner is hopelessly ill.

111. Wesley Williams, Elizabeth City county, convicted March 3, 1887, of larceny, and sentenced to six months in jail; pardoned September 10th upon recommendation of the judge, jury, attorney for the commonwealth, and many prominent citizens, because of an invalid wife and very dependent family.

112. Charles R. Shackelford, Albemarle county, convicted March, 1885, of grand larceny, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary; pardoned September 29, 1887, upon recommendation of the judge, jury, attorney for the commonwealth, and prominent citizens, on account of his youth, and as he was only an accessory to the crime, the principal having been pardoned upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary on account of ill health.

113. Walter Williams, Manchester, convicted April, 1886, of seduction, and sentenced to the penitentiary for six years; pardoned October 4, 1887, on a statement of the woman made to the governor that others had had criminal intimacy with her before, and, therefore, it was no case of seduction; also, on the certificate of the chief of police that she told him, just after the trial, that he was not guilty, and a letter found in her possession from her cousin, showing previous intimacy with her—which letter she admitted to the governor to have received from him, and had been carnally intimate with him.

114. Rufus Martin, Washington county, convicted January, 1887, of forgery, and sentenced to two years to the penitentiary; pardoned October 5, 1887, upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that his health was such as to admit of no longer confinement.

115 and 116. Elijah Davis and James Godsey, convicted April, 1886, of felony, and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years; pardoned October 11, 1887, on the recommendation of the judge, owing to palliating circumstances, and endorsed by the commonwealth's attorney, jury, and most of the municipal officers, as well as a petition from a large number of prominent and influential citizens.

117. Amos Joyner, Southampton county, convicted in 1876 of arson, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary; pardoned October 17, 1887, upon the certificate from the commonwealth's attorney that subsequent to his conviction facts have come to the attention of officers of the county and citizens of some very mitigating facts, viz: that Joyner was convicted on very questionable testimony—that of a negro detective whose remuneration depended upon a conviction of some one.

118. Jack Jarland, Buckingham county, convicted July, 1887, of perjury, and sentenced to twelve months in jail; pardoned October 18, 1887, owing to mitigating facts as presented in a petition endorsed by the judge, jury, attorney for the commonwealth, clerk of circuit court, and others.

119. Tyler Hancock, Franklin county, convicted August 16, 1886, of house-breaking, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; pardoned November, 1887, on recommendation of county judge, attorney for the commonwealth, and the man whose house was broken open, and because of previous good character, and that he has already been in jail and penitentiary eighteen months.

120. John A. Fields, Russell county, convicted November 19, 1887, of unlawful cutting, and sentenced to the penitentiary for twelve months; pardoned November 19, 1887, on petition of the entire jury, judge, commonwealth's attorney, and every other officer of the court.

121. Roland Reed, Frederick county, convicted in 1886 of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary.

122. Ambrose Lyle, Smythe county, convicted in 1887 of house-breaking, and sentenced to the penitentiary.

Both pardoned November 30, 1887, upon the certificate of the surgeon of the penitentiary that these subjects were hopelessly ill of scrofulous and pulmonary diseases.

123. Alexander Craft, Pittsylvania county, convicted October, 1885, of forgery, and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years; pardoned December 5, 1887, on the recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that the subject was hopelessly insane from continued epileptic attacks.

124. Sarah Robinson, Fauquier county, convicted August, 1872, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary.

125. Dodson Jeffries, Halifax county, convicted March, 1887, of rape, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

Both pardoned upon recommendation of the surgeon of the penitentiary that they were hopelessly diseased, and longer confinement would but hasten their approaching death.

126. Thomas Lewis, Portsmouth, convicted 18th of November, 1887, of petit larceny, and sentenced to jail for three months by the mayor; pardoned November 26, 1887, upon recommendation of the mayor, jail physician, commonwealth's attorney, and others, especially on physician's certificate as to the bad condition of the boy's health.

127. Zachary Taylor Heal, Lynchburg, convicted March, 1876, of grand larceny, and sentenced to the penitentiary for six years; escaped May, 1878, and since then has been leading a quiet and respectable life in New Mexico; pardoned December 23, 1887, upon application of prominent persons there, including the United States district attorney. This state has made no effort to have him returned to serve the balance of his term, and was, therefore, considered but right by the executive that the man should be restored to that feeling of freedom which his present upright and useful life seems to entitle him to.

128. William F. Lindsay, Campbell, convicted October, 1886, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years; pardoned December 31, 1887, upon recommendation of the circuit judge, who tried the case, commonwealth's attorney, many prominent lawyers, state senator, some of the jury, and citizens.

129. John D. Pitts, Norfolk county, convicted October 14, 1885, of manslaughter, and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years; commuted December 29, 1887, to two years and six months. Pitts was in jail one year and four months and twenty-seven days pending his trial. The exercise of executive clemency was under very urgent consideration for twelve months, and it was only after obtaining all the facts in the case, and with a thorough conviction that from the evidence and circumstances there were mitigating facts which did not appear in the criminal trial, and the petition was highly endorsed by lawyers, prominent citizens, &c.

130. John H. Fisher, Accomac county, convicted March, 1886, of ———, and sentenced to the penitentiary for ———; pardoned April 2, 1887, upon recommendation of the county judge on the ground that additional evidence has been discovered since, mitigating the circumstances in his case, which, known at the time, would have resulted in his acquittal, and on the petition of the jury and prominent citizens.

131. Fannie Blackburn, Alexandria, convicted April, 1887, of felony, and sentenced to one year in jail; pardoned June 29, 1887, on the petition of the judge and jail physician, and others, that the woman was in bad health, and the case one worthy of executive clemency.

132. William Jenkins, Wythe county, convicted August, 1885, of robbery, and sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary; pardoned upon the recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney, he being convinced of prisoner's innocence from facts developed since the conviction.

133. George H. Farmer, Caroline county, convicted in 1885 of house breaking and larceny, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary; pardoned February 24, 1887, on petition of eleven of the jurors, Judge Moncure, who was then attorney for the commonwealth, and many citizens.

134. John Stephen, Henry county, convicted June, 1879, of rape, and sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary; pardoned upon recommendation of the judge, jury, commonwealth's attorney, and the delegate from the county.

135. Thomas Brown, Staunton, convicted April, 1886, of felonious assault, and sentenced to the penitentiary for one year, and five years additional for second conviction; pardoned at the expiration of one year on the recommendation of the attorney for the commonwealth, jury, judge, &c.

136. Able Williams, Warwick county, convicted of murder December 4, 1867, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life; commuted to twenty-one years upon the recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney at the time (Colonel Tabb) because he was an accomplice in the crime, and has been a good prisoner during twenty years of his incarceration. The principal to the crime was hung.

137. J. S. McDonald, Richmond, convicted April, 1887, of felony, and sentenced to jail for thirty days; pardoned June 1, 1887, on the recommendation of Judge Richardson, who sentenced him, and others.

COMMUTATIONS.

1. Thornton Meredith, Richmond, convicted January, 1886, of perjury, and sentenced to one year in the city jail; commuted to six months in jail upon the recommendation of the attorney for the commonwealth and jury for the previous good charter of the prisoner and ignorance of the responsibility of an oath.

2 and 3. William Harrison and Arthur Harrison, Henrico county, convicted January, 1885, of house-breaking, and sentenced to five years in state prison; commuted to eighteen months in jail on account of their youth, and recommendation of the judge, commonwealth's attorney, and others, believing that the ends of justice would thereby be accomplished.

4. Albert S. Harvey, Richmond, convicted November, 1885, of forgery, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary; commuted to six months in jail February 17, 1886; recommended by the judge, jury, commonwealth's attorney, and others, connected with the case, on account of the extreme youth of the prisoner.

5. Mary Cooke, Gloucester county, convicted March 3, 1885, of bigamy, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary; commuted February 23, 1886, to one year in the penitentiary, satisfactory proof being presented that her guilt was only technical, and highly recommended by the judge, jury, and commonwealth's attorney.

6. Tennessee Fugate, Lee county, convicted July, 1881, of rape, and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the state prison; commuted February 24, 1886, to five years, from satisfactory evidence that the person upon whom the crime was alleged to have been committed, was of very doubtful chaste character, and on the ground that the commutation would be full expiation for the crime.

7. H. Stewart Whitehurst, Norfolk, convicted February 5, 1886, for keeping a keno table, and sentenced to two months in jail and fined one hundred dollars; commuted February 26, 1886, to one month in jail and fine of one hundred dollars, because the prisoner could not obtain all the evidence which would mitigate the charge, and upon the recommendation of the jury and others.

8. Henry Matthews, Hanover county, convicted April, 1883, of rape, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary; commuted to three years in view of the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case. The commutation was recommended by the judge, jury, and commonwealth's attorney—the sentence of the jury being the lowest term allowed by law.

9. Julia Guy, convicted January, 1881, of burglary, and sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary; commuted to seven years. She having plead guilty, was sentenced to nine years, and her accomplice was sentenced to seven years, who was the worst of the two.

10 and 11. Nathaniel Long and George B. Finney, convicted December 5, 1885, of assault and battery, and sentenced to six months in jail; commuted to three months in jail March 9, 1886; recommended by the party upon whom the assault was made and numerous other citizens.

13. Chester Hughes, convicted April, 1875, of murder, and sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary; commuted to twelve years and six months March 5, 1886. He having served more than half of the sentenced with good conduct, and upon the certificate of prominent citizens that the killing was more accidental than intentional, while under the influence of strong drink.

14. Lewis Quarles, convicted October, 1885, of unlawful shooting, and sentenced to twelve months in jail; commuted May 6, 1886, to eight months in jail, upon the request of the judge, commonwealth's attorney, and others, that the term he had served was full expiation of the crime.

15. James Brown, convicted March, 1886, of malicious assault, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary; commuted to three months May 1, 1886, upon strong mitigating circumstances and good recommendations.

16. J. L. Root, convicted May 1, 1886, of assault and battery, and sentenced to twenty days in jail; commuted May 13, 1886, to five days in jail, upon testimony that the assault was committed in the protection of his family from insults.

17. Jefferson Brokenbrough, convicted October, 1871, of arson, and sentenced to be hung, afterwards commuted to imprisonment for life by Governor Walker; commuted May 18, 1886, to seventeen years in the penitentiary upon the testimony of the commonwealth's attorney and reliable citizens that the prisoner was convicted on questionable testimony, as subsequent facts proved.

18 and 19. Rose Semmes and Mary Semmes, convicted of larceny, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; commuted to six months in the county jail May 19, 1886, satisfactory evidence being given that they were convicted upon illegal testimony.

20. John Wakefield, convicted May 3, 1886, of larceny, and sentenced to six months in jail; commuted to one month in jail, upon a very strong paper from the mayor and others that the prisoner having prior to the offence borne a good character, and was discharged from the army as insane.

21. Walter Sumpter, convicted December, 1882, of robbery, and sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary ; June 1, 1886, commuted to four years by request of the attorney for the commonwealth and certificate of the surgeon of the penitentiary that the prisoner is in very bad health, and longer confinement would imperil his life.

22. Grant English, convicted January 15, 1886, of petit larceny, and sentenced to six months in jail ; commuted June 19, 1886, to five months, upon recommendation of the clerk of the county court, sheriff, and others ; also a letter from the jail physician that confinement was very seriously impairing the health of the prisoner, and if not released at once would permanently effect his health, and, in all probability, hasten his death.

No. 23. L. R. Newman, convicted April 21, 1886, of perjury, and sentenced to one year in jail ; commuted July 7, 1886, to seven months in jail upon recommendation of the attorney for the commonwealth, owing to the dependency of his family, also, believing that the perjury was committed in a confusion of mind, which goes far to negative all unlawful intent.

No. 24. Robert Campbell, Middlesex county, convicted May, 1885, of rape, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary ; commuted July 8, 1886, to fifteen months in the penitentiary upon the ground that the evidence did not sustain the charge of rape, only attempt to commit rape ; certified to by the judge, jury, commonwealth attorney and all the county officers.

No. 25. John Harman, convicted July, 1886, of felonious assault, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary ; commuted July 23, 1886, to six months in the penitentiary because of insufficiency of evidence to show felonious intent, on the contrary, evidence tending to show self-defence.

No. 26. Hugh Sykes, Petersburg, convicted July, 1878, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary ; commuted July 24, 1886, to nine years in the penitentiary upon the request of the commonwealth's attorney, a long list of prominent citizens, and the certificate of the surgeon of the penitentiary that the prisoner is suffering from a constitutional disease from which he can never recover, and longer confinement would but tend to hasten his death.

No. 27. Horace Bennett, Warren county, convicted December, 1881, of horse-stealing, and sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary ; commuted July 24, 1886, to five years in the penitentiary upon recommendation of the judge, commonwealth's attorney, and surgeon of the penitentiary that the health of the prisoner is bad, and longer confinement would impair it to that extent that recovery would be highly improbable.

No. 28. Al. Cole, Amherst county, convicted June, 1886, of assault, and sentenced to three years in state prison ; commuted to six months in the county jail July 29, 1886, upon the recommendation of judge, jury, commonwealth's attorney, and many reputable citizens, the evidence being insufficient to justify the severity of the verdict.

No. 29. Arthur Ferguson, Richmond city, convicted, 1886, of felonious assault, and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary ; commuted August 2, 1886, to jail to serve balance of term as recommended by the judge, commonwealth's attorney, and others that commutation would answer the demands of justice.

30. J. T. Jackson, Page county, convicted July, 1886, of illicitly selling liquor, and sentenced to jail for six months and fined $100; commuted October 5th to two months in jail and fine of $100 as recommended by the judge, commonwealth's attorney, sheriff, and other prominent citizens of the county.

32. George Edmondson, Lee county, convicted August, 1881, of rape, and sentenced to the penitentiary for eleven years; commuted October 9, 1886, to six years in the penitentiary, by request of the judge, commonwealth's attorney, and others, setting forth the fact of excessive punishment, he being particeps criminis with two others, whose term of sentence was ten years, and both of whom have since been pardoned.

33. Frank Jackson, Greene county, convicted April, 1885, of horse-stealing, and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years; commuted to one year and six months, upon request of the judge, jury, and others, on account of mitigating circumstances.

34. C. S. Cooper, Richmond city, convicted March, 1885, of forgery, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; commuted October 28, 1886, to one year and ten months in the penitentiary, upon recommendation of the commonwealth's attorney and the surgeon of the state prison, who certifies that he has been a very efficient hospital steward, and that his health is now giving away. The petition was endorsed by the jury who convicted him.

35. H. Barton Smith, Danville, convicted of malicious shooting, and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary; commuted to six years and five months on petition of the woman who was shot, on account of her absence at the time of the trial as a witness, and recommended by the judge and commonwealth's attorney.

36. Joseph R. Sands, convicted March 11, 1886, of perjury, and sentenced to twelve months in jail; commuted to four months upon recommendation of the jury. Had the law allowed it, under the circumstances, they would not have sentenced him for a longer period than sixty days, and the certificate of the jail physician that the prisoner's health is giving away from confinement.

37. Washington Williams, Amelia county, convicted October, 1874, of attempted rape, and sentenced to seventeen years in the penitentiary; commuted to thirteen years and six months, upon recommendation of ten of the jury, member of the House of Delegates and senator, and upon satisfactory evidence that the boy (a mere youth) made no attempt at rape—was only guilty of indecent exposure of person.

38. James Turner, Roanoke county, convicted July, 1885, of house-breaking and larceny, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; commuted to one year, upon the solicitation of the judge, jury, and commonwealth's attorney, as he would be an important witness in a murder case.

39. Susan Oglesby, Charles City county, convicted of petit larceny, and sentenced to three months in jail; commuted August 16, 1886, to two months in jail, upon recommendation of the judge, sheriff, and jailor, the woman having given birth in jail, and longer confinement under the circumstances would endanger the life of both mother and child.

40. James Holmes, Nelson county, convicted in 1873 of rape, and sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary; commuted September 22, 1886, to twelve years in the penitentiary, on the ground that the affidavit showed that he was under the age of thirteen at the time the offence was committed, and, therefore, could not be convicted of rape without indubitable proof that he had reached the age of puberty; recommended by the judge, jury, and mother of the girl upon whom the offence was committed.

41. Robert English, Franklin county, convicted March, 1879, of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary; commuted October 29, 1886, to eight years in the penitentiary; executive clemency strongly urged by the judge, jury, commonwealth's attorney, and others owing to strong mitigating circumstances.

42. James Batton, Princes Anne county, convicted June, 1875, of murder, and sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary; commuted to twelve years in the penitentiary upon recommendation of entire jury that are living, all the officers of the court, wife of party killed, and because the brother of the prisoner was pardoned about three years ago, who was convicted upon the same charge; the petition was also signed by many prominent citizens, including the member of the legislature, who was the surgeon in the post mortem and was thoroughly informed as to the circumstances.

43. Ernest B. Nesslage, Richmond city, convicted October 6, 1886, of involuntary manslaughter, and sentenced to ninety days in jail and fined $100; commuted to forty-five days in jail and fine of $100 upon recommendation of reputable citizens that his conduct has always been good heretofore; and other mitigating circumstances.

44. John Jackson, Richmond, convicted July 21, 1886, of petit larceny, and sentenced to six months in the city jail, and was subsequently assaulting a woman through the jail door with a stone, and sentenced to jail for this second offence for three months and fined $10 and costs; commuted November 18, 1886, to four months in jail and fine of $10 and costs upon the recommendation of the police justice who convicted him and the surgeon of the jail, who certifies that the prisoner is suffering with incipient consumption; the petition was presented by the woman whom the prisoner assaulted and urged his pardon.

45. Alexander Farmer, Richmond, convicted September 29, 1886, of assault and battery, and sentenced to three months in jail; commuted to two months in jail November 20, 1886, by request of the officers of the court and prominent citizens because of the suffering condition of his wife and child who are wholly dependent on him.

46. John W. Sprouse, Albemarle county, convicted August, 1885, of Forgery, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; commuted November 26, 1886, to one year in the penitentiary upon recommendation of the judge, jury and many prominent citizens on account of mitigating circumstances, and the fact that he had served nearly twelve months in jail pending his trial.

47. George Ford, Montgomery county, convicted June, 1886, of receiving stolen goods, and sentenced to six months in jail; commuted to five months upon the recommendation of the judge, attorney for the commonwealth, sergeant, jailer, and others.
